CHETWYND COUNCIL APPROVES RE-ZONING OF FORMER HIGH COUNTRY INN SITE

On Monday June 22nd, an Open House took place at 3 pm at the Cottonwood Hall at the Rec Center hosted by West Moberly First Nations with the assistance of Cascade Realty. The public was invited to preview the proposed plans and designs for the new commercial and residential building planned for the former site of the High Country Inn on adjacent lot next to the IGA and .

A public hearing for the community was held immediately after the open house to consider rezoning the lot for the proposed multi-million dollar building. The presentation was done by Andrew Baigent, an engineer from Urban Systems.

During the public hearing, members from the community voiced their concerns and said that they were worried that the new building were increase taxes in the future for commercial land. Another concern raised was the feeling that the time period of 3 weeks allotted by the District to bring the proposal forward was insufficient for local business owners wanting to purchase the property. Former Mayor Charlie Lasser also noted that many present commercial buildings in the district are currently vacant. Despite these concerns, the third reading to permit both commercial and comprehensive zoning at the proposed West Moberly property was approved.

Following this Public Hearing was a Special Council Meeting that saw several delegations. The Let'er Rip Music Festival requested the use of the ball diamonds for overflow campers. Council agreed and also approved a $1,000 grant for the Chetwynd Community Theatre Group. Council also announced that they will take part in the Chetwynd Fire Truck pull against the Chetwynd Fire Department. In conclusion to a very long three hours, the Mayor and Council wished the retiring Director of Finance a fond farewell. This was Bill Caldwell's last council meeting after 15 years. Bill said "I've enjoyed my time here, and it is great to see the community continuing to improve in the right direction." Courtesy of Peace FM
