

FreakMe

FREAKME is a new, independent pilot about the world's oldest profession and the world's newest technology.

Winner of the Hoboken International Film Festival for Best TV Pilot, FreakMe takes a look at life in the back office of a new technology company that helps people intimately connect...sometimes even without money exchanging hands. With the app constantly crashing, can the new IT guy save this company from going over while earning enough to finally move out from his meth-head roommate's apartment?

It's just like your mundane office...but with hookers.
