Mr. Stephen D. Stamboulieh
Stamboulieh Law, PLLC
P.O. Box 4008
Madison, MS 39130

Dear Mr. Stamboulieh:

This is the third release of records in response to your May 7, 2016, Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) request to the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms and Explosives (ATF) on behalf of your client Mr. Len Savage, which is now part of an ongoing litigation.

In response to the FOIA request, we have processed 161 pages of potentially responsive material. Of the 161 pages, 10 pages are being released to you in full and 141 pages in part. We are withholding 10 pages in full as non-responsive to the request made by your client. Individual redactions identify the exemption pursuant to which the redacted material has been withheld, and each page indicates whether it is being released in full ("RIF") or released in part ("RIP"). Pages withheld in their entirety are denoted by a deletion sheet identifying the reason for the withholding.

Please note that certain information contained in the enclosed release has been withheld pursuant to 5 U.S.C. § 552(b)(6) and 5 U.S.C. § 552(b)(3) in conjunction with Public Law 112-55, 125 Stat. 552.

Sincerely,

Stephanie M. Boucher

I am still waiting on confirmation from staff at the Palazzo. Let's plan on 7:30am on Wednesday at Dal Toro restaurant. Coffe, juice, water, etc. will be available.

The year is coming to a close and 2011 is right around the corner. That can only mean that SHOT Show is upon us! Given the unprecedented success of last year's meeting between the management of ATF and NFATCA, I would like to extend to you and your senior staff a formal invitation for this coming January:

Wednesday, January 19, 2011
7:30am ~ 8:30am
Dal Toro Ristorante
(Palazzo Resort/Casino)

In keeping with ATF's concerns regarding industry influence at public events, breakfast will be available a la carte for individual purchase by attendees, should they choose to do so.

We are planning to have ten NFATCA attendees and have set the room for up to fourteen ATF attendees. Please advise as to who will be available for this meeting.

Sincerely,

Thank you for already getting the ball rolling with regard to Mr. Melson. If you need additional information, please let me know. We have set out several slots for presentations by ATF and would ask for your assistance in securing presenters.

1) Firearms Technology Branch
A theme continues to come up frequently and our Board believes there is a lot of merit in having FTB present a "Top 10" things that the manufacturing community does that really messes up our day. I know that the content would be informative and enlightening! I could just imagine [redacted] and [redacted] doing a "good cop, bad cop" routine!
2) TTB
This is always an area of concern for manufacturers because so many of us continue to mess up. We are looking for an executive presentation that can be brought home to the process folks as a road map.
3) NFA Branch
I understand that the new branch Chief will not be "installed" until after the conference. Still, we want to include NFA Branch. Being sensitive to management concerns, I would ask you to find out if NFA would like to avail themselves of the opportunity to speak to the group? What can the manufacturing community do for them? What information do they feel must be delivered?

The rest of the content will be provided by us. I should have the actual names of the presenters in short order.

Thank you for already getting the ball rolling with regard to Mr. Melson. If you need additional information, please let me know. We have set out several slots for presentations by ATF and would ask for your assistance in securing presenters.

1) Firearms Technology Branch
A theme continues to come up frequently and our Board believes there is a lot of merit in having FTB present a "Top 10" things that the manufacturing community does that really messes up our day. I know that the content would be informative and enlightening! I could just imagine (b)(6) and (b)(6) doing a "good cop, bad cop" routine!
2) TTB
This is always an area of concern for manufacturers because so many of us continue to mess up. We are looking for an executive presentation that can be brought home to the process folks as a road map.
3) NFA Branch
I understand that the new branch Chief will not be "installed" until after the conference. Still, we want to include NFA Branch. Being sensitive to management concerns, I would ask you to find out if NFA would like to avail themselves of the opportunity to speak to the group? What can the manufacturing community do for them? What information do they feel must be delivered?

The rest of the content will be provided by us. I should have the actual names of the presenters in short order.

I need some updates from your end. Who will the ATF speakers be for the various agenda topics and what are their audio visual requirements (laptop projector, flip charts, etc.). Please assume that all of the speakers will be mic'd and that a sound recording will be made of all of the presentations.

Will I be able to have advance copies of the presentations so that I can create a presentation compendium for attendees?

At SHOT you mentioned that the hotel, etc. had already been booked for the August Firearms Industry Import, Export, Manufacturing gig. Still have heard nothing and I was under the impression that this was still an industry driven event. I really need to know what is going on. Several properties were interested in bidding for this event and having ATF assume planning responsibilities without notice puts us in a bit of an awkward position.

Just a heads up... You may want to delete [redacted] enable email address from your records. Mail is bouncing to that and I know it is likely shuttered. The one referenced in the cc line of this email should be perfect...

The only push back I am receiving is the idea of using the 8.5 x 14 paper size. I know that there is a lot of information that you are going to cram onto the form! That said, there are an awful lot of printers being used by the public that this could cause an issue for. Just be aware.

Excellent... These are really big deals and I, for one, applaud ATF's efforts to modernize. It still astounds me that folks regularly bounce checks to you guys!

Any progress on the CLEO elimination? Of course, I shudder to think what that is going to do to the backlog of pending applications...

Have been speaking with (b)(6) and trying to create situation where the schedules of the ATF staff and NFATCA Board converge without issue AND get you a productive agenda. Quite frankly, (b)(6) and I have not met with success. Given the pressurized schedule and difficulty in providing you with a roster of actionable topics, we think it would be best to not waste the ATF staff members' time with an unproductive meeting.

In the interest of fostering a dialogue that is both productive and meaningful, lets try to set up some time away from SHOT. Our Board feels that this would be a much better use of all of our time and lead to a more constructive engagement. I'm sure that you will not mind the extra hour of sleep during the Las Vegas madness!

Gary,
The current Form 5 (5320.5) on the ATF website dated May 2014 has preparation instructions for legal entities (trusts, LLC's, etc.) that include the Responsible Persons requirements of 41F. This includes submitting fingerprints, photos and a 5320.23 for each RP. Is it correct to assume that this requirement does not kick in until July 13?

FWIW, the form on eForms is dated November 2004!

Subject: Guidance

(b)(6)
I promise that this will have nothing to do with eForms!!! I thought I would solicit your guidance on an SBR issue...

The AR15 platform continues to enjoy unprecedented enthusiasm because of it nearly limitless potential for customization and personalization. As you know, the gun can be assembled in an infinite variety of calibers, barrel lengths and on. There are 10's of 1,000's (maybe a lot more) receivers out there marked with a caliber designation of "Multi". This is because, quite realistically, an AR receiver can and does accept multiple calibers and it is not uncommon for an AR owner to have a receiver marked "Multi" with uppers in 2, 3, 4 and more different calibers for use in those receivers. Multi makes sense. The problem is when one of these receiver owners wants to make a Form 1 SBR out of one of those receivers. NFA Branch will no longer accept the multiple caliber designation so the builder has to pick one. Now the caliber on the NFA form doesn't match what is actually engraved on the receiver. Ostensibly, NFA Branch would like to receive written notification of all of the calibers that could potentially be used after the actual form with the single caliber designation has been approved. That strikes me as a lot of unnecessary paperwork and confusion when actually using the caliber term "Multi" winds up being more accurate and less paperwork intensive. Be that as it may...

What guidance would you give to people who want to Form 1 SBR a receiver that has the "Multi" caliber already engraved on it?

I'd like to contemplate building a graphic model of NFA Form applications and how 41F has affected the submission rate.

I'd like to know the total number of Form 1 & 4 submissions by week for 7/1/15 - 12/31/15 (pre 41F announce).
I'd like to know the total number of Form 1 & 4 submissions by week for 1/1/16 - 7/13/16 (post 41F announce).

And then a count on the 6 months after the rule goes into effect.

Possible?

What is current weekly volume? I suspect that we are at peak.

So I should consider your most generous correction of the items that I brought to your attention as a one-time tip of the hat, as opposed to an ongoing process, correct? I do appreciate that you cannot get buried with these types of requests.

There are a LOT of coding errors that I have seen on [redacted] and lots of other folks' inventories. The entries absolutely do not match what is on the approved Form 3's (or 2's, etc.). If I understand your guidance correctly, you recommend:

1. Identify the error
2. Confirm that the inventory listing does not match the approved Form in hand
3. Notify NFA Branch of the error in writing (or email?)
4. Await confirmation of correction
5. Process eForm application

The only other options absent the process enumerated above are to file a paper form application (horrendous wait) or file an eForm with the known errors and attempt to correct after the fact.

Yes... I do believe it was at Knob Creek that the number was rolled out. Is there any way to query the NFRTR with this specific request? To broaden it just a bit, I'd like to publish counts:

- Registered MG's on the books, with a fully transferable sub-type
- Suppressors
- SBR's
- SBS's
- DD's
- AOW's

Is it even possible to pull this information? It would seem that this is a pretty straightforward database query.

Lots of folks toss out a number between 182,000 and 185,000 for the number of fully transferable machine guns on the NFRTR. For the purposes of accuracy, would it be possible to get a specific number? I have no interest in knowing who own what or even how the guns are distributed by state. Just the actual number at a point in time.

I have been presented with a particularly complex set of circumstances regarding what should be a pre-May dealer sample machine gun. I'm pretty sure that you are the only person that can unravel the mess and help get things sorted out. Let me know and I will be happy to give you the details. You'll need a cup of coffee...

Hope you and your family had a good Thanksgiving. We had the perfect weather for a wonderful holiday.
I have been working with [redacted] for quite some time. They are one of the leading manufacturers of the [redacted]. They have been very successful and have asked for help on a variety of questions and issues over the past year. They want to be the model of compliance in the manufacturing industry.
One of the first things they did last year was to request a copy of their registry inventory to determine the accuracy of their own inventory system. I worked with Ed Saavedra to get a copy of their inventory in January, according to the NFRTR. Once they received the copy a comprehensive reconciliation was performed on that list. All corrections were made and they scheduled a trip to Martinsburg where they met with [redacted] to reconcile all of the corrections. The [redacted] compliance officer sat with [redacted] and corrected all of the 125+ errors live that day. Everyone left that meeting with smiles and the joy of knowing we had corrected the errors and had helped with the registry.
[redacted] had an inspection in July of this year. What the IOI showed up with, was a copy of the registry that was in worse shape than the one we had corrected earlier in the year. The inspection went well but the labor required to go back through all of the registry errors was incredible. At the conclusion of the inspection the compliance manger at [redacted] asked the IOI if it was possible to correct these errors again. He in turn contacted [redacted] and a promise of another copy of the corrected registry was promised.
That copy was received at [redacted] during the week of November 14th. Upon examination the compliance officer has discovered that the newest version of the registry has even more issues than the one they received in January.
[redacted] is very sensitive to not making anyone mad at ATF about this situation but it is my feeling that this is not a scenario you want yourself. At this moment, the compliance officer is preparing a comprehensive comparative analysis to help with this process and to get their portion of the registry corrected.
Having done this before on two separate occasions I would think that this would need some special attention to correct what the client is actually trying to help reconcile. We all know that the most important issue at hand is to make certain that everyone does whatever is necessary to improve the accuracy of the NFRTR. I find it curious that three separate copies of the NFRTR on three separate occasions continues to present major challenges in accuracy.
What can we do to help improve this situation?
All my best.

I spoke to [redacted] about this and I forgot to mention to you that the guns never leave the control of the manufacturer. When they leave the manufacturing facility they are simply taken to the packing facility where they pack, shrink wrap and prepare before they go to the freight forwarder.

If a manufacturer, manufacturers in one location, their, licensed premise but needs to package and ship from another location (less than ¼ mile away), would that location need a separate license?
On another subject the discrepancies and the supporting documentation are ready at [redacted] on the continued struggle with the NFRTR. I would like to set up a meeting in [redacted] with you to look over these issues. Is that possible after the new year?

We are pulling the plug on the Manufacturers Conference for this year. We are short on content and the ability to pay for an event that will cost nearly 35K. We had commitments on funding which we have lost and the ability to pay is beyond our means at this point. Unfortunately we had financial commitments and attendance commitments that are not keeping up their end of the bargain. I want to thank you for all of your help but I go back to my conversations with Audrey earlier this year who kindly told me "You don't have sufficient time to put this together". She was correct! We have the financial commitments for next year but the ones we had for 2010 have vaporized.
Please make certain that you keep in mind that we plan on making this happen in 2011 with the Importers Conference in cooperation with F.A.I.R. and yourself. Let's do this right next year and start the planning as soon as possible.
We are reaching out to all of the attendees to make appropriate arrangements but I wanted to get to you immediately.
As a final note I want to assure everyone that the NFATCA is alive and well but this 800 pound gorilla is one that we are smart enough to know, when to say "WHEN", and back off.
Lesson learned.
Thanks for your understanding and cooperation

Re: Invitation to be the Key Note Speaker

Dear Director Melson:

The National Firearms Act Trade and Collectors Association ("NFATCA") Board of Directors wishes extend to you an invitation to be our "Key Note" speaker at the launch of the Manufacturers Conference at 1pm on Tuesday August 3, 2010 at the Gaylord Convention Center. At the conclusion of the Importers Conference on Tuesday morning we will break for lunch and return to the tables to launch the second half of the Importers / Manufacturers Conference that week. We would be grateful for your fulfilling the opportunity to launch this effort.

We are very excited at the effort of combining these two conferences and working as a team with ATF on this initiative. As a suggestion, it might be helpful for the audience to understand the comprehensive efforts that are underway in having the industry and ATF work together. As you will remember from our work at the SHOT Show there are over a dozen items that we are working on together in 2010. Many of those issues have already been successfully resolved.

We look forward to seeing you and once again enjoying your support in 2010.

Respectfully,

(b)(6)

Just a heads up... You may want to delete (b)(6) enable email address from your records. Mail is bouncing to that and I know it is likely shuttered. The one referenced in the cc line of this email should be perfect...

The only push back I am receiving is the idea of using the 8.5 x 14 paper size. I know that there is a lot of information that you are going to cram onto the form! That said, there are an awful lot of printers being used by the public that this could cause an issue for. Just be aware.

Re: Invitation to Attend Fall 2010 Meetings at Knob Creek October 7th and 8th
Invitation to attend the Small Arms Review Industry meeting on December 3rd

Dear Teresa:

On behalf of the Board of Directors of the National Firearms Act Trade and Collectors Association, I would like to invite you, [redacted] (b)(6) [redacted], and any other interested ATF staff to attend the NFATCA Board meeting scheduled to occur prior to the Knob Creek Machine Gun Shoot near Louisville, Kentucky. The Board of Directors will meet on the evening of Wednesday October 6th and Thursday October 7th. We would like to have ATF personnel in attendance at both of these events. The Knob Creek Range actually opens to the public on Friday the 8th for the entire weekend. The NFATCA traditionally hosts a Barbecue on Thursday evening and we invite guest speakers from ATF to speak informally to the NFA trade community at that time. Hopefully by the time we attend this event we will have many new issues that ATF can announce to the industry.

We find that this has been an excellent opportunity for ATF to meet members of the NFA community and to address issues of concern, as well as well as celebrating our collaborative efforts. ATF has always had an extremely strong showing for the Thursday evening event.

It will be a real treat to have you personally join the festivities if at all possible. We guarantee a wonderful time and an opportunity that all of us enjoy in getting closer to the community.

As we finalize details of this event, we will provide them to you.

In addition to the Knob Creek event, this fall we will be hosting our annual dealers meeting at the Small Arms Review show in Phoenix, Arizona on Saturday morning December 3rd at 7:00 a.m. At that event I would invite yourself, and Arthur Herbert to address the crowd on specific issues that the industry and ATF are facing in 2010 and the following year. At this event you have traditionally brought along representatives from both the NFA and the FTB Branches to support the meeting. This event has been one of our best events and has been a tremendous success. Once again we would look forward to your attendance at this event.

As we move closer to each event we will forward you copies of the specific schedules and locations for your attendance. Thanks for your consideration and if you have any questions please do not hesitate to call me at (b)(6).

Cordially,

(b)(6)

President

Hey, [redacted] or [redacted] if I remember correctly, you said you were having a board meeting and were going to discuss a meeting at SHOT.

Did I remember correctly and, if so, are we still on a 'go' for a meeting? Do you prefer the 730 AM Wednesday time or is there a Thursday afternoon slot that may work (the available meeting time is shrinking)?

I believe I noted that we will have a conference room available (only holds 14 – 16 people) if needed (and depending on the time of the meeting).

thanks

Let's go ahead and schedule a breakfast meeting. We have to get our relationship with ATF back on track. So many changes in leadership and existing leadership style have affected our progress. At this point I would have to wonder who from ATF would show up for a breakfast meeting and what their objectives will be. We both have a responsibility to get this relationship back on mission.
We can determine the agenda but I wondering with a new administration what and who would be steering the ship and what the mission with the industry will be. This is a critical issue that we both need to discuss. There is nearly no input from the industry on most issues that we see in the form of letters that are issued every week. It makes me wonder what happened over the last two years.
As far as the NFATCA is concerned, the outcome on SHOT 2011 was nearly catastrophic. If we can begin to work together as we were three years ago I am all for it. If not then we have to take a different approach in terms of how we work together.

Hey, [redacted] or [redacted] if I remember correctly, you said you were having a board meeting and were going to discuss a meeting at SHOT.

Did I remember correctly and, if so, are we still on a 'go' for a meeting? Do you prefer the 730 AM Wednesday time or is there a Thursday afternoon slot that may work (the available meeting time is shrinking)?

I believe I noted that we will have a conference room available (only holds 14 – 16 people) if needed (and depending on the time of the meeting).

thanks

And you will want the Wednesday morning (730?) time slot?

Let's go ahead and schedule a breakfast meeting. We have to get our relationship with ATF back on track. So many changes in leadership and existing leadership style have affected our progress. At this point I would have to wonder who from ATF would show up for a breakfast meeting and what their objectives will be. We both have a responsibility to get this relationship back on mission.

We can determine the agenda but I wondering with a new administration what and who would be steering the ship and what the mission with the industry will be. This is a critical issue that we both need to discuss. There is nearly no input from the industry on most issues that we see in the form of letters that are issued every week. It makes me wonder what happened over the last two years.

As far as the NFATCA is concerned, the outcome on SHOT 2011 was nearly catastrophic. If we can begin to work together as we were three years ago I am all for it. If not then we have to take a different approach in terms of how we work together.

Added to my list of things to bring up at our board call. Thank you, sir!
