However, as a standard procedure Bromcom typically allows for payments to be made annually in advance during the contract term. Please note that should there be a termination by Customer before the end of the term or an irreparable breach of the contract by Customer at any time during the term, the remaining sum in the remaining contract term or terms becomes payable immediately.
- 3.11 During the term of each contract, and when invoices are sent out describing the annual charges, prices are subject to adjustment according to changes in the Office for National Statistics Retail Price Index (RPI).

Bromcom cannot be responsible for deterioration in the performance of Bromcom or Other Software arising from such transfer.

4.5 If Customer transfers ownership or otherwise disposes of Bromcom or Other Equipment onto which the Bromcom or Other Software is loaded the Customer shall at the time of transfer or disposal, ensure that Bromcom or Other Software has been deleted from the Bromcom or Other Equipment.

4.6 Customer may in certain circumstances be relocated to another location. Bromcom shall permit Customer to permanently change the licence location accordingly, by written notice in advance of the change to Bromcom.

4.7 The licence to use granted under this section 4 is extended so as to allow use of Software and documentation by staff of Customer at their homes with authorisation of a senior manager of Customer, in so far as it is necessary to fulfil their roles, provided any equipment on which Software resides is owned or under the control of the person concerned and that should Software be loaded onto such equipment, that Software is deleted therefrom before disposal of equipment and/or disks used by the person, and provided that all other restrictions of use set out herein shall apply to the person's home as it would to the Customer Site. The Customer shall ensure that only Authorised Users use the Software. Authorised Users means those users who are employed or otherwise engaged by the Customer and who are specifically chosen, instructed and formally authorised by the Customer to use the Bromcom Software. The Customer shall ensure that the Authorised Users use the SaaS and the documentation in accordance with the terms and conditions of this Agreement and shall be responsible for any Authorised User's breach of this Agreement. In relation to the Authorised Users, the Customer undertakes that: [a] it will manage the creation and maintenance on user accounts and access rights for all Authorised Users for its service account on the SaaS; [b] it will ensure that only appropriate user accounts are created and those accounts are only accessed by users to fulfil their roles in so far as it is necessary for the purpose of managing the Customer's establishment; [c] it will not allow or suffer any user account to be used by more than one individual Authorised User unless it has been reassigned in its entirety to another individual Authorised User, in which case the prior Authorised User shall no longer have any right to access or use the SaaS and/or documentation; [d] each Authorised User shall keep a secure password for his use of the SaaS and that each Authorised User shall keep his password confidential; [e] if a person ceases to be an employee of the Customer, then that person must return documentation and cease access or use of the SaaS on or before termination of employment.

4.9 Installation of Software on Site.

4.10 Unless installation is being provided by Bromcom under this Agreement, Bromcom shall have no liability or responsibility whatsoever for the success of installation by Customer, of Bromcom Software or Other Software. Where installation is a service to be provided on Site by Bromcom, Bromcom shall deliver Software or Other Software to Site and load same onto the Bromcom Equipment or Other Equipment on a date to be agreed with Customer. Where installation is delayed through no fault of Bromcom for any reason, Customer shall pay Bromcom's reasonable costs at Bromcom's then current rates if Bromcom have to repeat and/or extend the installation visit as a result. In the unlikely event that installation is unsuccessful through the fault of Software any increase in installation costs to Bromcom resulting therefrom shall be borne by Bromcom. Alternatively, the installation service may be provided remotely.

4.11 Installation for SaaS means the creation of an account by Bromcom on the SaaS infrastructure for the Customer. Once the account is created, Bromcom will inform the Customer and provide an administration user account and details of the Web Site Address.

4.12 Customer Responsibilities when using the Software.

4.13 It is Customer's responsibility to ensure that Other Equipment is suitable for the Bromcom Software on which it is to reside and for ensuring that Other Equipment and any relevant cabling and connections are fully operational and in working order and that memory and disk capacity are sufficient to allow successful operation of the Bromcom Software.

4.14 Subject always to Bromcom conforming to safety and security requirements of Customer, Customer shall afford to Bromcom personnel reasonable access to Customer Site at all reasonable times for any purpose under this Agreement.

4.15 Customer understands and accepts that it may be necessary for Customer to supply information to Bromcom and to give Bromcom personnel access to Customer's staff, data, Equipment etc., in order to enable Bromcom to perform its obligations hereunder. Customer will use all reasonable endeavours to meet the reasonable requirements of Bromcom in this respect as any failure in this regard may result in delays and/or costs which shall be for Customer's account.

4.16 Bromcom Software Warranties.

4.17 Bromcom supplies "Off the Shelf" also known as "Commercial Off the Shelf" software that is configurable and does NOT supply "custom written", "bespoke" or "specially written" software" unless specifically otherwise agreed in writing.

4.18 Bromcom warrants that the latest version of Software which it delivers to Customer shall operate generally in accordance with the software description and/or the software upgrade notification and with any Software manuals, which may form part of documentation supplied with such Software. Whilst no software from any supplier can be said to be error free, Bromcom's obligation under this warranty shall be to use reasonable endeavours to correct any faults that are found and reported in accordance with its Software annual maintenance procedures and routines.

4.19 Software annual maintenance

4.20 Bromcom provides the Software annual maintenance service as a compulsory part of the licensing of the Software. The payment of a Software annual maintenance fee by Customers includes Software annual maintenance (including but not limited to the fixing of bugs, the provision of necessary software updates as a result of statutory changes imposed by the Department for Education (in England), the review and rearrangement of software modules, etc.), the Software licence fee, a hosting fee for SaaS Software, the Customer Care service and the Help Desk service. These services, the details of which are set out in Bromcom literature as published from time to time, are provided by Bromcom either directly or by sub-contractor or other third party which has a written agreement with Bromcom to do so.

4.21 For invoicing purposes, the first period of Software annual maintenance covers the period from the effective date of the Agreement for such period of one year after the effective date. Year one of the Software year starts from the date on which the Customer school/college is provided with the SaaS or cloud account or from the Installation Date for on Site installed Software, unless otherwise specified in writing.

4.22 From time to time for invoicing purposes the first Software annual maintenance year may be extended or shortened as necessary to arrive at an end date of 31st March for year one, in case Customer wished to coincide payments with the financial year for maintained schools. The cost of any extended or shortened first period of Software annual maintenance will be calculated in pro-rata proportion to the annually invoiced fee.

4.23 Thereafter Software annual maintenance invoicing shall continue from year to year automatically running from the anniversary of the end of Year One, during the Initial Term and Follow Up Term(s).

4.24 Software annual maintenance is charged at the rates issued by Bromcom from time to time based on the Bromcom quotations issued to Customers. Software annual maintenance invoices are issued annually in advance, unless a contract is terminated in accordance with Clause 2.9. Any request by the Customer to change the number of active Software modules and/or any other Products listed on the Software annual maintenance invoice, must be made in writing at least 90 days before the end of the annual maintenance period. This is because inter alia maintenance invoices are calculated in advance and issued before the Software annual maintenance year end. Any changes requested after the 90 days will be subject to an administration charge. Any proposed amendment that effectively amounts to the termination of this Agreement is subject to Clause 2.9.

4.25 Software Copying.

4.26 Customers using Software installed on Site may make such copies of Software and documentation as is reasonably necessary for operational security and use. Such copies and the media on which they are stored shall be the property of Bromcom and/or its licensors and Customer shall ensure all media on which copies are stored bear the same proprietary notices as are affixed to the media on which Software was supplied to Customer. The provisions herein shall apply to all such copies as it applies to the original Software and documentation. Customer shall keep a record of the number and whereabouts of all copies of Software and shall permit Bromcom or its representatives to inspect such record at all reasonable times.

4.27 Software as a Service and Remotely Hosted Software

4.28 For Customers using SaaS Software that is remotely hosted by Bromcom or its sub-contractor(s) (also known as cloud hosting or remote hosting), the Web Site Address and password details for the Customer to access the Software is provided by Bromcom. All of the Customer's Software programs and data are made available on a secure hardware infrastructure that is situated remotely from the Customer. Any costs associated with accessing the hosted service including but not limited to the Customer's broadband connection, are the responsibility of the Customer.

4.29 The terms on which any of Bromcom's sub-contractor(s) host the Bromcom Software are broadly similar. The terms on which the sub-contractors host the Software apply to the use by the Customer of the hosted service as the hosting service is purchased by Bromcom for use by Customers. The current (November 2016) Bromcom hosting sub-contractor supplier is Reference - UKF. The UKF terms are summarised below and apply to the Customer. In the case of hosting provided by other Bromcom hosting suppliers please apply to the Company Secretary at Bromcom for the specific terms of these suppliers although they should be broadly similar.

4.30 The remotely hosted network infrastructure (see definition here) will be available for the most part nearly 100% of the time. Exceptions to the up-time availability are [1] scheduled maintenance, and [2] unplanned network failure.

4.31 Scheduled maintenance. Bromcom Customer Care will notify Customers, usually by email, of scheduled maintenance events which will include events scheduled by the hosting sub-contractor and by Bromcom.

4.32 Unplanned network failure. Service level agreement (SLA) credits, in the form of credits only, based on the Bromcom account with its cloud hosting sub-contractor [UKF] may be available in any month in the case of this type [2] of SLA failure by the hosting sub-contractor. The maximum value of service credits in any one month that might be available to all Bromcom customers is equal to Bromcom's monthly subscription charge by the hosting sub-contractor to Bromcom. Credit available to an individual Bromcom Customer in any one month in the case of this type [2] of failure is up to a maximum value equal to the daily service rate, i.e. 1/365 of the annual hosting sub-contractor charge to Bromcom, divided between all Bromcom hosted Customers, for one or more outage of service.

4.33 Any SLA credit due to a Customer for a type [2] failure shall be allocated to the end of the Customer's Initial Term or Follow Up Term as applicable. The amount of any credit shall be calculated and allocated in the form of extra or additional time as an extension to the Initial Term or Follow Up Term.

4.34 One hundred percent remotely hosted network infrastructure availability means that all UKF infrastructure including routers, switches and cabling are working. The remotely hosted network infrastructure is defined as the portion of the network extending from the outbound port of the Bromcom cabinet switch at the third party hosting supplier (UKF) to the outbound port on the UKF border router. For the avoidance of doubt services or Software running on Bromcom owned servers within UKF are not counted as part of the network.

- 4.35 To ensure that for the most part the network is available nearly 100% of the time the Bromcom hosting sub-contractor employs a number of systems. In every regional Point of Presence (POP) each circuit is connected to a different and up to date router to ensure continuous unaffected service, even in the event of a total loss of a router and/or circuit. In addition, each POP has a redundant Uninterruptible Power Supply (UPS) system, so should either UPS fail (or be taken out of service for maintenance) connectivity will not be affected.
- 4.36 The third party hosting sub-contractor (UKF) operates on the main hub between Manchester and London to maximise performance and reliability. The network also benefits from extensive duplication of connectivity. This provision ensures that the network stays connected because an uninterrupted route will be available.
- 4.37 On the remotely hosted network infrastructure Bromcom will be responsible for firewall management and will install, configure and maintain a hardware firewall on the said remotely hosted network infrastructure. On the remotely hosted network infrastructure Bromcom will be responsible for backup management and will perform a daily backup of the remotely hosted network infrastructure systems and all specified Customer data held on the remotely hosted network infrastructure system. On the remotely hosted network infrastructure Bromcom will be responsible for anti-virus software management and will install, configure and maintain anti-virus software, which will update at least daily.
- 4.38 The processing of Customer personal data or metadata is limited to that necessary to deliver or improve the SaaS and is not processed for any other purpose and not passed on to others without the written consent of the Customer.

5. TRAINING, CONSULTANCY, & GO-LIVE DAYS

5.0 Training

5.1 Training, if ordered, is as set out in the Order Acknowledgment. Bromcom provides training for school/academy/end-user Customers and train-the trainer training for central support teams for a specified time period. The training time periods may be taken on Bromcom scheduled courses at any time within either the period specified on the Order Acknowledgement or else within 6 months, if no period is specified, subject to the course(s) not being full. The period of 6 months is reckoned from the effective date of this Agreement. Training may be provided using one or more of the following methods; a remote session over the Internet (webinar), and/or at the Customer's Site, and/or at another location agreed at point of order and set out on the Order Acknowledgement. Customers attending a training webinar on Site should be in a quiet room to minimise background noise.

5.2 Any third party providing training for Bromcom Software must have authority or other written arrangement from Bromcom to provide such services.

5.3 Consultancy

5.4 Consultancy concerns the examination of plans, strategies and/or problems concerning the Customer's specific application of the Software. On-Site and other consultancy days are chargeable and subject to the availability of the appropriate Bromcom staff. As specialist staff are allocated to provide consultancy, consultancy days may be postponed at short notice.

5.5 Any third party entity providing consultancy services for Bromcom Software must have its own authority or other written arrangement with Bromcom to provide such services.

5.6 Go-Live Days

5.7 As specialist staff are allocated to provide On-Site 'go-live' days, these days are subject to the availability of appropriate Bromcom staff and may be postponed at short notice.

6. HELP DESK & SOFTWARE MAINTENANCE

6.0 Help Desk service by third parties

6.1 Bromcom offers a Help Desk & Software maintenance service to Customers, and recognises that some Customers prefer other or more local Help Desk support services. Any third party entity providing Help Desk and support services for Software must have its own licence or other written arrangement with Bromcom to provide such services, otherwise such entities would be acting in breach of Bromcom's copyright in Software, and Customer would be in breach of clause 4.3 of this Agreement in granting access to unauthorised entities. Bromcom will upon request assist Customer in confirming authorisation from Bromcom if Customer wishes to approach or is approached by a third party entity. Bromcom cannot accept any liability or responsibility for the services provided by authorised entities. It is the Customer's responsibility to check authorisation from Bromcom before allowing a third party entity access to Software licensed to Customer by Bromcom.

6.2 Bromcom Help Desk

6.3 Use of the Bromcom Help Desk is subject to these conditions. Bromcom Help Desk agents will expect Customers to be using the Bromcom Software according to the Software licence terms (section 4 above). In consideration of the said Software annual maintenance service, which includes the Bromcom Help Desk service, the Customer shall, subject to the conditions in this Agreement, pay to the Company the Software annual maintenance charge in the amount and at the intervals set out in the Company's invoices to the Customer each such payment to be made in advance of the period covered.

6.4 The service provided by the Bromcom Help Desk includes the examination of any reported problem with the Software by use of the telephone, broadband, email or other means. Bromcom Help Desk will assist the Customer in understanding the Software, explain the advanced features of the Software and explain the information in various publications supplied by Bromcom for the said Software.

6.5 Help Desk support excludes the examination and solution of problems concerning the Customer's specific application of the Software, which can be provided in the form of consultancy.

6.6 Help Desk support excludes the examination of problems where the Customer contact concerned has not been trained or appears not to have been trained to use the Software. The service provided by the Bromcom Help Desk is not designed to be a substitute for proper and adequate training. Bromcom Help Desk will endeavour always to provide a solution to a problem experienced in the use of the Software. However, where a Customer contact is experiencing difficulty understanding inter alia basic principles in the use of an application/module/work method, Help Desk may be obliged to recommend a training course as the solution.

6.7 If Help Desk is not able to provide a solution to a reported problem within reasonable timescales because of a fault with the Software, the agent will report the problem to the Software or Other Software creator. In the case of a Bromcom Software problem this will be reported to the Head of Software at Bromcom. As an interim solution the Software or other Software creator may provide alternative methods of achieving the required result (i.e. a work-around) which should be used while a software fix is engineered. Customer should use the work-around until such time as the software fix is engineered and presented via a software upgrade or other method.

- 6.8 Where a fault is found in the Bromcom Software, Bromcom will use every reasonable endeavour to repair the Software or find a work-around where one is available. Help Desk is not responsible, under this Agreement, for fixing reported faults or malfunctions in Other Software and the provision of an updated or fixed version of Other Software, if available, is at the discretion of Help Desk.
- 6.9 In order to provide support under this Agreement to on-Site installed Software, Help Desk relies on the Customer allowing broadband and sometimes other means of communications access when requested by Bromcom staff. Customer agrees to facilitate such access, and Bromcom agrees to comply with any reasonable ICT security policy requirements of Customer. Failure by the Customer to provide this access promptly when requested by Help Desk will result in delay in the investigation of the Customer's support request, which would be outside of any service level guidelines issued by the Help Desk.
- 6.10 Customers using SaaS automatically grant Bromcom Help Desk permission to access their remotely hosted data for the purposes of carrying out the Help Desk function.
- 6.11 In order to provide the support service to on-Site installed Software, Bromcom may consider it necessary to ask the Customer to send in their Software application and / or data files or part thereof on a medium for which Bromcom has investigation facilities.
- 6.12 In order to expedite the Software investigation, Bromcom Help Desk may at their discretion transfer the Software and / or data files of Software installed on-Site via Broadband or other method to Bromcom.
- 6.13 Whether the Customer requesting the Bromcom Help Desk service has on-Site installed Software or is using SaaS, the Customer agrees to promptly furnish full descriptions of any reported malfunctions in the form requested by the Bromcom Help Desk agent. The Customer also agrees to assist Bromcom's efforts to duplicate the reported Software problem by responding promptly, fully and in detail to any further requests of the Help Desk.
- 6.14 During the use of the Bromcom Help Desk service, if telephone, broadband or other support is initiated by the Bromcom Help Desk then all telephone call and broadband charges incurred during the use of said support are the responsibility of Bromcom. The Customer is responsible for any charges incurred when the Customer's telephone line, broadband or other chargeable method of communication is used for the purposes of contacting the Help Desk.
- 6.15 Bromcom will provide support only for the currently supported versions of the Software. 13. SPECIFIC PRODUCTS

- 13.0 Wireless Safety & Security Products. Equipment or Software supplied and installed as part of a safety & security system is designed to supplement existing security procedures of the Customer. The Customer should review and ensure the existence of such procedures.
- 13.1 Equipment or Software supplied and installed as a safety & security system is designed to indicate that a safety or security alert has been initiated. Bromcom does not undertake that the Equipment or Software will indicate the location of any person using the Equipment or Software. Information imported in to the Equipment or Software from an external source should be checked to determine its availability accuracy and validity.
- 13.2 Any radio network which is installed or used in conjunction with the Equipment or Software is installed or used with the objective of providing maximum radio coverage in the physical space proposed by the Customer and agreed by Bromcom. However due to the nature of radio wave propagation blind spots may exist within a building or physical space and Bromcom cannot be held responsible for failure of Bromcom Equipment, Other Equipment or Software to perform correctly when operated in a blind spot.
- 13.3 Batteries. A piece of Equipment, for example, a hand held device, may operate either with disposable or rechargeable batteries but usually not both and this will be specified by the Company. Customers should pay close attention to instructions in the use of these devices particularly as the use of disposable batteries in devices which are designed to use rechargeable batteries could cause personal injury, could result in the leakage of harmful electrolyte and could permanently damage the Equipment. As with all battery powered equipment, incorrect insertion of any batteries without due regard for their polarity, insertion when mixing old, partly used and new batteries or any combination of these, and insertion when mixing different battery types, could also cause personal injury, could result in the leakage of harmful electrolyte and could permanently damage the Equipment. Bromcom is not responsible for the outcome in such circumstances where instructions have not been followed or procedures in the use of batteries which are or should be common knowledge have not been followed.
- 13.4 Reasonable use storage limits & charges for the Document Management System (DMS). The Document Management System, as part of the SaaS based MIS software, is allocated a reasonable use limit in terms of the total storage capacity per type of school/academy. There is a reasonable use limit for different types of school. The reasonable use limit is set by the Customer Care department at Bromcom and subject to review and change. If the reasonable use limit is exceeded there will be an extra charge which is also set by the Customer Care department at Bromcom; and this also is subject to review and change. The DMS storage limit has been set to ensure that for a typical installation, a reasonable and sufficient amount of storage space is available. If the Customer is approaching or exceeding the reasonable storage limit, Customer should use the tools within the Software with a view to the Customer either carrying out housekeeping to reduce the amount of DMS storage space used or paying for the additional storage over and above the reasonable use limit.
- 13.5 SMS texts – general. The following terms apply to Customers provided with SMS messages by Bromcom. Customer must comply with certain pre requisites in order to use the Bromcom Software (e-Contact) to send SMS messages. The Bromcom system upon which the SMS messaging software is installed must be approved by Bromcom must have a minimum technical specification, use the Microsoft .net operating system and must be able to connect to the internet. Only SMS texts with a destination in the UK are allowed otherwise the Customer may receive a surcharge in addition to the price paid for the SMS messages. SMS texts may not contain advertising, promote premium rate numbers or be used for unlawful purposes. 8 bit messages should not be sent. Mobile phone text-messaging technology (SMS) is inherently a 'best effort' delivery medium with no guarantee of successful delivery. SMS messages will be transferred to the addressed mobile recipients provided that the recipient's phone is switched on and located in the area covered by his subscribed mobile network provider and the provider and mobile phone support SMS delivery. SMS message content is transmitted unencrypted and access by unauthorized third parties is possible. The SMS service provider reserves the right to carry out technical maintenance of its system.

- 13.6 Unlimited SMS texts - Fair Usage Policy. Bromcom provides Customers with multiple options to purchase their SMS texts for use with e-Contact. In all cases the SMS texts must be paid for in advance either by purchasing a set quantity of texts as a bundle or by purchasing the Unlimited Text bundle option.
- 13.7 Text purchases are applied to the Customer's e-Contact account and the balance can be reviewed on the e-Contact home page. For those purchasing the Unlimited Text bundle option the balance will always show 'Unlimited'. The 'Unlimited' option is designed to offer high text users with Bromcom's lowest cost per text subject to our fair usage policy. The Unlimited Text bundle gives a Customer access to send text messages for up to one year from the date it is applied to the Customer's account subject to the Customer not exceeding their Upper Usage Limit. On reaching the Customer's Upper Usage Limit or one year after the Unlimited Text bundle start date, whichever comes first, the Customer's Unlimited Text account will finish and no further texts can be sent until a new text bundle is purchased.
- 13.8 The Upper Usage limit is set by multiplying the number of students on roll by 125. The figure of 125 represents the average number of texts sent per student and does not restrict the number sent of any one student or contact etc. For example, a Customer school with 1200 pupils will have their Upper Usage Limit set to 150,000 texts.
- 13.9 Bromcom periodically checks the usage on the Unlimited Text bundle accounts and if during one of these checks, it is found that the number of texts used by a Customer is 90% or more of their Upper Usage Limit, Bromcom will inform a Customer at the next available opportunity of the number of texts used and will discuss the options available if the Customer has or expects to reach the upper limit before reaching the Unlimited Text bundle end date. For those Customers that do not reach the Upper Usage limit, Bromcom will endeavour to make contact before their Unlimited Text bundle end date to discuss text bundle options and ensure continuation of the text service from e-Contact. The Unlimited Text bundle costs and Upper Usage Limit is subject to annual review and potential change.
- 13.10 Bromcom may suspend without notice any e-Contact text account to prevent further messages being sent if the Upper Usage Limit is reached or if Bromcom reasonably suspects that the texts are being exploited for commercial benefit. Bromcom reserves the right to amend or vary the terms of the Unlimited Text Fair Usage Policy, or to withdraw the Unlimited Text option at any time.

- 13.13 Bromcom charges transaction fees to the Partner School for use of the on line payment service within MCAS. These fees are as advertised by the Company and will usually consist of a charge which is a percentage of the transaction value plus a per transaction charge. The fees are deducted from the price of the products or services purchased via the on line payment facility. The Customer/Partner School is notified as soon as a payment is received from a parent/guardian/Registered User of MCAS.
- 13.14 On line payments using this process are paid to the Partner School weekly, currently on Thursday, although this is subject to change.
