Detroit Under S.T.R.E.S.S.

David Van Wie - USA

In 1971, the Detroit Police Department begins operating one of the most controversial decoy police units ever created to battle street crime, S.T.R.E.S.S. (Stop the Robberies, Enjoy Safe Streets). After one year, Detroit becomes the city with the highest police civilian fatal shootings as well as the city with the highest police officer deaths. For the first time in almost 50 years, hear this incredible story from the STRESS officers who were there doing the decoy work as well as the community leaders and activists who were trying to disband the unit. Producers: David Van Wie, Gardner Cole, Ritta Yee-Fagain
Narrated by C. Thomas Howell / Score by Gardner Cole

Mabel, Mabel, Tiger Trainer

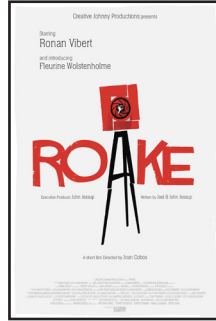

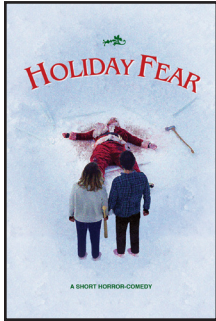

Leslie Zemeckis - USA

The true story of the world's first female tiger trainer, legendary Mabel Stark. When told no woman could train tigers - she proved them wrong with 21 tigers in the steel arena. Ahead of her time she was an independent woman who worked the big cats for over 40 years. There was not an inch of her body not scarred by her beloved "stripes." Born into poverty and abuse, the circus gave her a new identity and stardom. Betrayed by people her cats were her most beloved creatures.
