*Three day non-residential course for
Suzuki Cello, Flute, Piano, Recorder
& Violin students*

TRINITY COLLEGE OF MUSIC
GREENWICH, LONDON

3 days of motivation, inspiration and musical celebration!

The BSI invites members to attend the 14th National Children's Workshop at the Trinity College of Music this April. Children will have the opportunity to spend three days working with leading British Suzuki teachers and guest teachers from America and Europe.

The workshop is non-residential and will provide a unique opportunity to participate in daily group lessons, master classes, ensembles, instrumental lessons, playtogethers, concerts and enrichment classes.

Trinity College provides outstanding facilities for this event and the international faculty brings a wealth of experience that will benefit children of all ages.

As the Suzuki method is designed to inspire and motivate children by participating in workshops such as this, we hope you will come and join us.

OUTLINE OF CLASSES

Lessons will be between 10.00am-4.00pm
Children are allocated groups and classes that are appropriate for their current age and level.

INSTRUMENTAL LESSONS: Concentrate on refining technical and musical points in the child's own playing using their current repertoire

GROUP LESSONS: Develop ability, musicianship and performance skills through the review of past repertoire and creative music games and activities

PLAYTOGETHERS: Build confidence and performance ability through the joy of playing or singing together as part of a large group of children

SOLO CONCERTS: All students are given a public platform to perform a polished concert piece in one of the many afternoon concerts

DALCROZE: Eurhythmics classes enhance children's musical perception and sensitivity through movement and spatial awareness activities. These sessions are invaluable for all pianists, string and woodwind players.

ENSEMBLE: For advanced string students, ensembles provide an opportunity to develop chamber music playing and reading skills.

TONALIZATION: Is the term chosen by Dr Suzuki to cover the study and development of how to produce musical tone on an instrument while developing sensitivity to the beauty of sound from within. An excellent start to each day.
