CAMERE DI COMMERCIO D'ITALIA

Thanks to the collaboration of Campobasso's Chamber of Commerce and Convitto Nazionale M.Pagano, I had the amazing possibility to go working in a Consortium in the city of Palermo for a period of three weeks.

ARCA is a consortium for the application of research and the creation of innovative enterprises, which has been active since 2003 and has exploited a partnership between the University of Palermo and a private entrepreneurial group committed in industrial research and technological transfer. In 2005 the Consortium started up ARCA Incubator to promote and assist the generation of innovative business initiatives.

I worked in the international communication sector. My tasks were to develop a web-site where seven Mediterranean partners can subscribe an application to participate in a start-up competition, translate many regulations, translate the start-up list both for the web site and for the brochure, translate PV instruction manual and make many user-test of the new international web site.

This is a great experience because it allows you to grow up both in the organizational point of view and personal one. In these three weeks I met new people, discovered a new city and a new way of life. I'd like to thank everyone that gave me this wonderful opportunity.
