

Bubbles

A child of three years old,
Cigarette littered streets
Dysfunctional family,
Raised by deadbeats.
Ignorant to surroundings,
Raised post troubles,
The child doesn't care,
He continues blowing bubbles.

A child of eight years old,
Overly impressionable,
Pliant to his surroundings,
His parents, unquestionable.
He grows up with bias,
A sectarian undertone,
Influenced by his friends,
He picks up the stone.

A child of twelve years old,
Doesn't care for authorities,
He learns a new hostility,
Towards ethnic minorities.
Picks up new hobbies,
Social drinking, smoking grass,
He decorates the streets,
With broken glass.

Twenty four years old,
Learned nothing from school,
Relies on the dole,
To keep him off the stool.
Mental issues, depression,
Pushed past the breaking point,

Only way he knows how to handle it,
He continues blowing on a joint.
