

Ms. Edé Tyrell is currently a Microbiology Lecturer, in the Faculty of Health Sciences at the University of Guyana--- for nearly 20 years. She was also the Head of Department of Medical Technology from 2007-2011. Her Research interests include, Antibiotic microbial resistance (AMR) especially antibiotic resistance development in bacteria and prevention and control strategies; uses of bush and herbal medications for treatment of communicable and non-communicable diseases; prevention and control of sexually transmitted infections; lymphatic filariasis and other neglected parasitic infections.

Ms. Tyrell is also the Country Ambassador of the American Society of Microbiology – ASM. She earned her first Diploma in Medical Technology at the University of Guyana; a BSc Microbiology – University of Surrey, UK; a Post Graduate Diploma in Education – University of Guyana ; and a MSc Microbiology – St. George's University, Grenada.

Her activities include, her love for weight-lifting and anything gym, she is involved with the activities at St. Paul's Anglican Church in Plaisance; community development in Plaisance; mentoring of young people- and currently part of the Planning Committee for the upcoming Queens Collage Student Conference in February for 150 QC students and 50 students from Annandale Secondary, Bishops' High School, Christ Church Secondary, North Georgetown Secondary, Richard Ishmael Secondary, Tutorial High, and West Dem Secondary.

Ms. Edé Tyrell is currently a Microbiology Lecturer, in the Faculty of Health Sciences at the University of Guyana--- for nearly 20 years. She was also the Head of Department of Medical Technology from 2007-2011. Her Research interests include, Antibiotic microbial resistance (AMR) especially antibiotic resistance development in bacteria and prevention and control strategies; uses of bush and herbal medications for treatment of communicable and non-communicable diseases; prevention and control of sexually transmitted infections; lymphatic filariasis and other neglected parasitic infections.

Ms. Tyrell is also the Country Ambassador of the American Society of Microbiology – ASM. She earned her first Diploma in Medical Technology at the University of Guyana; a BSc Microbiology – University of Surrey, UK; a Post Graduate Diploma in Education – University of Guyana ; and a MSc Microbiology – St. George's University, Grenada.

Her activities include, her love for weight-lifting and anything gym, she is involved with the activities at St. Paul's Anglican Church in Plaisance; community development in Plaisance; mentoring of young people- and currently part of the Planning Committee for the upcoming Queens Collage Student Conference in February for 150 QC students and 50 students from Annandale Secondary, Bishops' High School, Christ Church Secondary, North Georgetown Secondary, Richard Ishmael Secondary, Tutorial High, and West Dem Secondary.

Professor Dr. Ivelaw Lloyd Griffith is the Tenth Vice Chancellor and Principal of The University of Guyana. Earlier, he served as Executive in Residence at The University at Albany, State University of New York, and the Ninth President of Fort Valley State University in Georgia where he led the right-sizing of the educational and economic enterprise, focusing on growing enrollment, improving community and corporate linkages, controlling expenditure, launching an Honors program and an Undergraduate Research Program, and initiating a feasibility study to establish a School of Entrepreneurship and Business Innovation.

A political scientist, Dr. Griffith served earlier as a tenured professor of political science and provost and senior vice president at York College of The City University of New York from 2007 to 2013 where notable achievements included growing the full-time faculty by 30 percent over four years, re-organizing the academic division into Schools of Business and Information Systems, Arts & Sciences, and Health Sciences and Professional Programs, and enhancing the research and scholarly climate by creating the Provost Lecture Series, the Distinguished Scholars Lecture Series, and the Undergraduate Research Program, and recognizing and rewarding research and scholarship. He also established Discovery to celebrate and incentivize faculty excellence in research and service.

Recipient of the 2015 William J. Perry Award for Excellence in Security and Defense Education named in honor of former United States Defense Secretary Dr. William J. Perry, he has published seven books, including Strategy and Security in the Caribbean (Praeger, 1991), The Quest for Security in the Caribbean (M. E. Sharpe, 1993), the highly-acclaimed Drugs and Security in the Caribbean: Sovereignty under Siege (Penn State University, 1997, the research for which was funded by the MacArthur Foundation), The Political Economy of Drugs in the Caribbean (Palgrave, 2000), and Caribbean Security in the Age of Terror: Challenge and Change (Ian Randle Publishers, 2004). His more than 50 academic and policy articles have appeared in Security and Defense Studies Review (US), Social and Economic Studies (Caribbean), Low Intensity Conflict and Law Enforcement (US), Naval War College Review (US), Third World Quarterly (UK), Journal of Money Laundering Control (UK), Caribbean Quarterly (Caribbean), Caribbean Studies (Caribbean), Journal of Commonwealth and Comparative Politics (UK), University of Miami Law Review (US), Caribbean Perspectives (Caribbean), Dickinson Journal of International Law (US), Caribbean Affairs (Caribbean), Conflict Quarterly (Canada), Mershon International Studies Review (US), UN Institute for Disarmament Research Newsletter (UN), and The Round Table (UK).

Professor Dr. Ivelaw Lloyd Griffith is the Tenth Vice Chancellor and Principal of The University of Guyana. Earlier, he served as Executive in Residence at The University at Albany, State University of New York, and the Ninth President of Fort Valley State University in Georgia where he led the right-sizing of the educational and economic enterprise, focusing on growing enrollment, improving community and corporate linkages, controlling expenditure, launching an Honors program and an Undergraduate Research Program, and initiating a feasibility study to establish a School of Entrepreneurship and Business Innovation.

A political scientist, Dr. Griffith served earlier as a tenured professor of political science and provost and senior vice president at York College of The City University of New York from 2007 to 2013 where notable achievements included growing the full-time faculty by 30 percent over four years, re-organizing the academic division into Schools of Business and Information Systems, Arts & Sciences, and Health Sciences and Professional Programs, and enhancing the research and scholarly climate by creating the Provost Lecture Series, the Distinguished Scholars Lecture Series, and the Undergraduate Research Program, and recognizing and rewarding research and scholarship. He also established Discovery to celebrate and incentivize faculty excellence in research and service.

Recipient of the 2015 William J. Perry Award for Excellence in Security and Defense Education named in honor of former United States Defense Secretary Dr. William J. Perry, he has published seven books, including Strategy and Security in the Caribbean (Praeger, 1991), The Quest for Security in the Caribbean (M. E. Sharpe, 1993), the highly-acclaimed Drugs and Security in the Caribbean: Sovereignty under Siege (Penn State University, 1997, the research for which was funded by the MacArthur Foundation), The Political Economy of Drugs in the Caribbean (Palgrave, 2000), and Caribbean Security in the Age of Terror: Challenge and Change (Ian Randle Publishers, 2004). His more than 50 academic and policy articles have appeared in Security and Defense Studies Review (US), Social and Economic Studies (Caribbean), Low Intensity Conflict and Law Enforcement (US), Naval War College Review (US), Third World Quarterly (UK), Journal of Money Laundering Control (UK), Caribbean Quarterly (Caribbean), Caribbean Studies (Caribbean), Journal of Commonwealth and Comparative Politics (UK), University of Miami Law Review (US), Caribbean Perspectives (Caribbean), Dickinson Journal of International Law (US), Caribbean Affairs (Caribbean), Conflict Quarterly (Canada), Mershon International Studies Review (US), UN Institute for Disarmament Research Newsletter (UN), and The Round Table (UK).