I am a Labour party member (add if you are a union member) and in my opinion the NEC Code of Conduct covers all aspects of tackling antisemitism in the Labour Party. It is rigorous and will stand up in law. I request that at the NEC meeting on 4 September the Code of Conduct is endorsed. The code includes all 38 words of the IHRA definitions of antisemitism and upholds freedom of speech about the state of Israel.

I would like to add that using the Home Office caveats will not stand up legally. As a Labour party member I demand my freedom of expression on Israel.
