

Gemstones Jewelry: Enduring Fashion for Eternally Stylish Women

When you meet a really stylish woman, there's a good chance that your attention is drawn to the beautiful blue turquoise pendant on her neck, or the green peridot glinting on her finger, or the garnets in her earrings that look like pomegranate seeds.

She certainly has a wealth of 'real' jewelry locked up in a safe, but her creative use of gemstones gives her a unique look and sets off her clothes to best advantage. Traditional jewelry in India is dominated by gold and precious stones, such as diamonds, emeralds and rubies. But women who like to express their personalities through their accessories seek creative, unusual and meaningful jewelry. That's why they pick up jewelry with gemstones, often collecting favourite pieces and using them for years and years.

Gemstone jewelry comes in a wide variety of colors and setting styles. Many gems have legends associated with them, or are birthstones for particular months. In India, gemstones are often worn on the advice of astrologers, based on the effect they are supposed to have on the wearer. But there are now an increasing number of women who choose gemstones as fashion accessories.

Natural gemstones, which are often referred to as 'semi-precious' are beautiful and come in many, many different colors; from the wine-colored amethyst to the blue-green aquamarine to the restful green tourmaline.

If you are fascinated by legends and history, you will love to know more about gemstones. Like – alexandrite was discovered in Russia and named after a future Czar, Alexander, who was 16 on that day. There is a Greek legend about how a beautiful girl called amethyst turned into the stone, and aquamarine is believed to be the treasure of mermaids, with the power to keep sailors safe at sea. There are fascinating stories around many gemstones.

Gemstones are set in gold or silver, depending on their color, or worn as strings around the neck. They are easy to clean and maintain. As they cost far less than precious stones, you can acquire pieces frequently and keep changing your look. At the same time, being natural stones, they are with you for life, and not to be disposed off in a few wears, like costume jewelry.

With gemstones jewelry, you can get really creative, and show yourself to be the unique gem that you are.
