

THE ECONOMY

Uses of Money

When a business owner receives money from products he sells, he has three main categories of how he can use that money. He can save it for future expenses, reinvest by buying new equipment, or consume it by buying things he wants. In the chart below, think of things that would go in each category and write them down.

Consume

Save

Reinvest