A Caring Community
Empowered by God
to be Disciples of Christ

(Pastor Karla was on vacation at the time of finalizing this newsletter for press—please enjoy this reprint from the Stoughton Courier Hub, by Kelsey Wollin Dunn)

How to land on your feet when the cat's got your tongue.

I can't remember ever having a cruel idea as a child, but I confess I witnessed naughtiness that I didn't always prevent. While I was born with my heart solidly fixed in the right place, my voice tended to go completely missing when confronted with certain dilemmas. I blame it on the cats. Cats were constantly getting my tongue.

Many of us can recall that one teacher who stood, arms folded, at the back of the classroom, watching a kid freeze at the blackboard, ears as red as roses, chalk in trembling hand, staring at a jumble of numbers while both the math problem and the instructor sneered at him. I never, ever tried to give any sign language or whisper any sort of help, instead occupying myself with happy doodles of ponies in my notebook.

The playground was big, which was helpful for avoiding the mean kids who liked to push or shove. I often imaged it like a pasture of cattle. Stay clear of the bull and the boss cow and try to blend in. If some gimpy heifer was getting picked on, I'd look the other way and try not to think about it, gazing off into the distance and calmly chewing my gum as if it were cud.

Those of us who lived in the country spent a lot of time on the big, yellow school bus. It was an even smaller confined space than the playground or the classroom, but at least it was usually the exact same kids year after year, so you knew who to expect the trouble from.

The safest place to sit was immediately behind the bus driver, where I was free to daydream out the window while he told me all about how much Jesus loves the little children of the world. This earned me the taunt of "baby," but I knew it was sticks and stones that break your bones, names will never harm you. I never said a word about it to anyone.

Because it is important to make friends and be social, my parents sometimes forced me to play with other kids, even the ones I avoided on the bus. Our farm was just far enough away that none of those kids ever pedaled over on their bicycles to visit me and my sister, but invariably somebody's mom would eventually pull in the driveway and abruptly unload a few of them.

There was one neighbor boy who would spill Kool-Aid on the picnic table so

Pentecost, the Church's Birthday

June 9, 2019

It was then that they “were filled with the Holy Spirit and began to speak in other languages, as the Spirit gave them ability” (Acts 2:4, NRSV). The crowd that gathered outside was amazed and perplexed. They wanted to know what it meant. Some observers thought it was a gathering of drunks.

But Peter interpreted it all correctly to anyone who would listen. He told of Christ, his life, his mission, his death and his Resurrection. Most importantly, Peter explained that God had made Jesus both Lord and Messiah. The proof of that was the Resurrection.

Three thousand people were so moved by Peter’s words that they were baptized that day and “devoted themselves to the apostles’ teaching and fellowship, to the breaking of bread and the prayers” (Acts 2:42). The first Christians became a family “of one heart and soul” (Acts 4:32). We, too, can be in union with one another when we allow the Holy Spirit to fill our hearts. ☸

The Holy Trinity

June 16, 2019

The Holy Trinity is always celebrated on the Sunday after Pentecost. It’s a day for focusing on the Triune God — the Father, the Son and the Holy Spirit. Trinity Sunday is to explain, to the best of man’s ability, the clues written in Scripture to guide us to a fuller understanding of our triune God.

- ◆ The Father is God from the beginning (John 1:1);
- ◆ Jesus revealed Himself as equal to the Father in John 10:30, “I and the Father are one.”

- ◆ Together, they sent the Holy Spirit (John 14:26). “Go therefore and make disciples of all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit” (Matthew 28:19).

On Trinity Sunday, the Christian Church ponders with joy and thanksgiving what the Father, Son and Holy Spirit have done to accomplish the salvation of sinful humanity. It is brought to remembrance how Christians should respond to the love God has shown us, praising Him and giving Him glory. We remember the Father as our Creator, the Son as our Savior and the Holy Spirit as our Comforter. ☸

Peter, Paul, and Apostles

June 29, 2019

ST. PETER AND ST. PAUL both have Feast Days in the Church Year commemorating events in their lives (Confession of St. Peter on January 18 and Conversion of St. Paul on January 25).

Yet even more significant is their joint Feast Day on June 29.

For centuries, the Feast of St. Peter and St. Paul was treated as a day like Christmas or Easter. At times, three Masses were celebrated: one in honor of St. Peter; one in honor of St. Paul; and one in commemoration of all the Apostles.

The apostleship of Peter and Paul embraced the Church's complete ministry to both the Jewish and Gentile worlds. These two "princes of the apostles" represented them all. ☸

¹⁴ Then he said: 'The God of our ancestors has chosen you to know his will and to see the Righteous One and to hear words from his mouth.¹⁵ You will be his witness to all people of what you have seen and heard.¹⁶ And now what are you waiting for? Get up, be baptized and wash your sins away, calling on his name.' Acts 22:14-16

The Athanasian Creed is traditionally ascribed to Saint Athanasius (296-373), from whom it takes its name. (This creed is also called the "Quicumque," which is the first word of the creed in Latin.) Like other creeds, such as the Apostles' Creed, the Athanasian Creed is a profession of the Christian faith; but it is also a full-fledged theology lesson, which is why it is the longest of the standard Christian creeds.

Saint Athanasius spent his life combating the Arian heresy, which was condemned at the Council of Nicaea in 325. Arius was a priest who denied the divinity of Christ by denying that there are three Persons in one God. Thus, the Athanasian Creed is very much concerned with the doctrine of the Trinity.

Traditionally, the Athanasian Creed has been recited in churches on Trinity Sunday, the Sunday after Pentecost Sunday, though it is rarely read today. Reading the Athanasian Creed privately or with your family is a good way to bring the celebration of Trinity Sunday home and to gain a deeper understanding of the mystery of the Blessed Trinity.

June is a month filled with graduation celebrations —a joyful time to attend ceremonies and parties and reconnect with people we may have not seen in a while!

Please also take a moment to remember the recent youth of our church who are “out there” in the world now as graduates.
May God bless them in all of their endeavors!

Calling all Volunteers!

Please consider helping with some after-worship activities in June! We did not have enough interest in a day-camp this summer, but instead will offer "Camp 45" with both indoor and outdoor activities planned, snacks, and on the fourth and final week a Cookout Picnic! We are in need of some materials and leaders.

A sign-up sheet is in the Fellowship room.

Sunday School is adjourned for the summer but there are still lots of things we can all do to keep our kids connected and having fun! Try this list of questions and see how grandma, dad, brother, and sister all answer differently! And then ask them WHY? You will learn a lot!

Would you rather...

1. ...have seen the Red Sea being parted, or Jesus walking on water?
2. ...know what type of fruit Adam & Eve ate, or know what Jesus wrote in the sand when people wanted to stone the lady who'd committed adultery?
3. ...have dinner with Moses, or with Paul?
4. ...be able to feed 5,000 people with five loaves and two fish, or heal someone's blindness?
5. ...spend one hour in heaven, or one week with Jesus on Earth?
6. ...eat like Daniel (vegetables only) or Elijah and the widow (bread only)?
7. ...live as long as Methuselah (969), or Jesus (33)?
8. ...have the strength of Samson, or the wisdom of Solomon?
9. ...be best friends with Mary, or with Elizabeth?
10. ...ride a donkey into Jerusalem, or a camel to see the baby Jesus?

Enjoy your summer everyone!!

Time for Prayer

They devoted themselves to the apostles' teaching and fellowship, to the breaking of bread and the prayers. - Acts 2:42

Join us on Wednesdays at 10:00 a.m.

We gather to pray for the people on our prayer list and for the people and ministries of Cooksville Lutheran Church. All are welcome to join us in the Fellowship Room for this casual yet intimate and powerful prayer time.

Please keep the following people in your prayers:

The family of Don Farberg, Jenn Williamson, Marilyn Kueng, Ruth Erickson, Joyce Leopold, John Garvan, Evelyn Beyer, Kari David.

CLC Special Friends: Anna Hanson, Dorothy Froemming, Rhea Wethal, Ruth Erickson, Joyce Leopold, Virginia Sime.

Military: Andrew Newcomb, Ben Berge.

Jesus Prays for All Believers

²⁰ “My prayer is not for them alone. I pray also for those who will believe in me through their message,²¹ that all of them may be one, Father, just as you are in me and I am in you. May they also be in us so that the world may believe that you have sent me.²² I have given them the glory that you gave me, that they may be one as we are one—²³ I in them and you in me—so that they may be brought to complete unity. Then the world will know that you sent me and have loved them even as you have loved me.

²⁴ “Father, I want those you have given me to be with me where I am, and to see my glory, the glory you have given me because you loved me before the creation of the world.

²⁵ “Righteous Father, though the world does not know you, I know you, and they know that you have sent me.²⁶ I have made you known to them, and will continue to make you known in order that the love you have for me may be in them and that I myself may be in them.”

~John 17: 20-26

An interview with Rich and Nancy Krake by Joe Wilder

The Krakes recall first coming to CLC 23 years ago. That was when their daughter was in confirmation and about a year before the Hamiltons came here. Pastor Norby made an immediate positive impression by coming to visit them at home. They also loved the singing and acoustics. Cooksville was the original parent church of St. John's in Evansville where they had attended prior, although that child has outgrown its parent.

They both came from church-going families. Rich was one of four boys whose organist mother made sure they sat in the front row of the balcony so she could keep an eye on them. Nancy was also always at church with her parents. When they were engaged Rich had three questions. 'Do you bowl?', 'Is it true that you don't know how to cook?', and 'Are we sure about this going to church thing?' The answers were 'No', 'Yes', and 'Yes' respectively (but the second one could be taught).

As they have raised their multipart and multicultural family of children, foster children, and grandchildren that decision to be in church and keep Christ as the center of their lives was key. Nancy says she can't see another path through life that would have shepherded them so through raising their kids and another generation all while aging themselves. Sunday became a family connection day when going to church and making pizza kept them together. At its peak they needed three pews to hold everyone!

Rich says "There is always a chance to grow from things which we become a part of." They became a part of the caring Cooksville community. It has its quirks, but the circle is unbroken and the people here together minister in a unique way, accepting, supporting, caring, and forgiving. Challenges in ministry are what help us grow and push us to choose to respond more like Christ. A sermon that didn't resonate was a set aside time to meditate and former members' passing were times for the choir to go and sing together. In CLC Rich and Nancy found a place to grow and express what they believe everyone feels, thankfulness and connection with God's higher power which transcends our life's ups and downs.

South Central Synod Annual Meeting Report

May 4-5, 2019

“Building Beloved Community: Strengthening Our Souls for Leadership” was the theme for this year’s South-Central Synod of Wisconsin Assembly, which took place on May 4th and 5th and was held at the Alliant Energy Exhibition Hall in Madison. To foster a sense of community, congregation representatives were seated within their conferences; Cooksville being in the Southeast Dane Conference, we enjoyed the company of Pastor Holly from Deerfield and two of her members seated at our table.

One of the nice parts of attending the assembly is seeing some “regulars” again, but also meeting new people. At the Saturday night banquet we sat with the pastor and intern from Lake Mills, and also a family representing their New Glarus church. We certainly do have a beloved community in the SCSW.

Our Keynote speaker on Saturday morning was Ruth Haley Barton. She spoke for ninety minutes and focused on how we can strengthen our souls for leadership, and for leading a fulfilled life.

There were many reports shared from the synod and from the ELCA. Some highlights included Bishop Thomas-Breitfeld explaining a bit about STAR, which stands for Small Town and Rural. After hearing concerns from SCSW leaders the ELCA is recognizing that this is really who we are, and together they will be working to strengthen, develop, and sustain our churches with focused projects and efforts. There will also be a focus on the youth in rural settings and providing opportunities for them to be more involved in mission activities together. The Bishop also believes very much in "community" and being "church together" and she hopes that congregations will extend an invitation to her to come visit and be part of their community.

New $ Budget

SCSW treasurer Bruce Hutler, shared the current financial standings and the proposed budget. The assembly reps will need to reconvene in the fall, with our conference groups, to discuss the budget and vote on it at that time. It was noted that we will be reducing our synod giving to churchwide from 52% to 50%.

Vicki Hanrahan explained that through the SCSW Speaker's Bureau we have access to 40 people who are available to come to our churches to share their expertise in various areas such as mental health, physical wellness, yoga, financial planning, and more.

Other business included voting on 7 Resolutions. Many workshops, vendors, and two worship services rounded out the assembly.

Prayers from Synod Assembly Weekend 2019

Jesus, our Savior, we are your body, your hands, your feet, your eyes. May we have your heart so that our eyes look with compassion on our siblings, our feet take us to the places that need you and our hands reach to embrace those who seek relationships that nourish and sustain us. Jesus, our light and our guide, lead us to heed your call to follow you. Hear our prayer.

Jesus. We pray for our nation, remembering we are called to be witness of God's grace in world. Bless us to hear the cries of those who struggle to hear the message of your love in the midst of their circumstances. Especially we raise up those who are homeless, those who have lost their vocations, those for whom prosperity is just a distant dream, and those for whom life is not what it should be in this place. Move us to walk by the laws you write on our hearts to bring peace and justice to our world. Jesus, our light and our guide, lead us to heed your call to follow you. Hear our prayer. Loving God, you gift us with your life-giving Spirit. We pray that your Spirit will have her way with us, moving those in our faith communities and those who lead us to be your witnesses in the world. Empower those who lead us: our Bishops, Elizabeth and Viviane, our pastors and deacons to be moved by the Spirit of your love. Jesus, our light and our guide, lead us to heed your call to follow you. Hear our prayer.

Healing God, we pray for your compassion and renewing presence to those who lament, those who ache, those who are in need: physically, mentally and spiritually. Strengthen us, we pray, to be your presence to the sick, the weak and the dying and to offer them your comfort and your hope. Let us be a salve in their lives. Jesus, our light and our guide, lead us to heed your call to follow you. Hear our prayer.

Mothering God, we thank you for all those who hold us together and build us up as beloved community. Help us to see our families, our neighbors and our friends as partners on the road of solutions to the ills of this world. Keep us aware that we are our siblings' keeper; help us to stretch ourselves to accompany those who lack food, shelter, work and the things that let us live our daily lives. Jesus, our light and our guide, lead us to heed your call to follow you. Hear our prayer.

Risen Christ, accompany us along the way, as we seek to the living stones that proclaim your love and grace for all people. Remind us that we belong to you, the one who frees us from sin, empowering us to live our lives in you for the sake of the world. Bless us to be a blessing to those you put in our paths as witnesses to the gospel. Jesus, our light and our guide, lead us to heed your call to follow you. Hear our prayer.

We entrust all our prayers, spoken and held in our hearts, to you ever creating God. Receive them by the power of the Holy Spirit, and the amazing love of Jesus, the Christ. Amen.

"As Bishop of this synod, I truly want us to be beloved community. For me this means all congregations will be places where the gospel is proclaimed boldly.

It means that congregations are safe and respectful places for all within it, including rostered leaders, and those who surround these mission outposts. It means that there are clear and high expectations of those called to lead, and those who are preparing to lead.

Boundaries are important but we must understand that boundaries are related to so much more than sexual ethics. It means our congregations are places that welcome persons of every background, race, sexual orientation and gender identity to engage fully in a life of discipleship.

We affirm that Jesus is gracious and radical enough to extend a call to us all to be beloved community together."

Donald "Don" Robert Farberg was born on April 23, 1922 in Milton Wisconsin the son of Christian and Martha (Berg) Farberg. Don married Charlene Koepp on December 12, 1945 at the Cooksville Lutheran Church and she preceded him in death on March 7, 1998. He farmed for sixteen years before going to work for General Motors in Janesville from 1955 until his retirement in 1987. He was a member of Cooksville Lutheran Church where he served on the church council and was a member of U.A.W. Local 95 Union. Don enjoyed music, singing and especially going for rides to keep up on what was going on in the city and making sure the Mayor was doing his job. He was always smiling and loved to carry on a conversation with everyone. He loved spending time with his children, grandchildren and great grandchildren.

Church Cleaning

Help save the church $1,600 this year by cleaning it! For years now, our cleaners have come twice a month. Now we are having them come during the first week of the month. We will supplement by cleaning during the 3rd week of the month. There is a sign-up sheet on the bulletin board in the Fellowship Room. Consider signing up with another family — many hands make light work!

Some things that may need attention: Clean & restock the bathrooms; clean kitchenette in Fellowship Room, tidy up the room, vacuum as needed; spot vacuuming of sanctuary; wipe steps and entry areas as needed.

The CONNECT TEAM is planning another community-wide food drive again this summer!! Stay tuned for more details on how you can be a part of it and help our neighbors in need this summer!!

OTHER OPPORTUNITIES

- ⇒ The Quilting Group continues to meet on Monday mornings at 9:00 am. You need not be a seamstress or have any experience. Helpers can cut fabric squares, learn to tie quilts, and assist with sorting or packaging quilting kits for those who would like to take them home to sew. You may also donate old sheets, blue jeans, and talk with Betty Hamilton about any other materials you are interested in donating and she can guide you. Thank you!
- ⇒ Baby Care Kits are being made all summer long, in preparation for sending them in October for world-wide relief for those in need. See Betty for details.
- ⇒ The maintenance crew meets on Tuesdays at 9:00 am to tend to some of the honey-do tasks that go into keeping up with things around the building and grounds. Any are welcome to come and lend a hand!
- ⇒ Worship leaders are vital to our weekly services and we value each and every contribution! If you have not yet given it a try, please see Nancy Krake and be a part of it!

he could catch flies and pull their wings off. Another stole books of matches that his parents brought home from supper clubs and chased spiders by lighting their webs on fire. Wordlessly, I'd turn on the garden hose.

One day, two girls popped out of a mom's car because they wanted to play with barn kittens and didn't have any of their own. As we dangled barn twine across our laps in the hayloft and watched the clumsy kittens chase and tumble, the older girl, who was prone to being candy-sweet at times before abruptly turning into brown mustard, suddenly made a declaration I had never heard before.

"Cats are soooooo cute... but they don't always land on their feet you know."

I felt certain that cats most definitely did always land on their feet and said so, which prompted that girl to laugh in my face and ask me how stupid I was. My face burned and my heart pounded... and there went a cat with my tongue, yet again.

Mustard-girl was going to make me drop kittens.

The ladder to our hayloft was made of sturdy two-by-fours at a pitch akin to really steep steps. The plan was that we would all climb down so we could start at the bottom and drop them, upside down, from higher and higher steps until we proved her hypothesis.

Mute as I was, I had still been raised to have considerate manners therefore as a gracious hostess I gestured to the other two girls to carefully climb down first. As they dusted the hay from their backsides, waiting for me to bring down the kittens, I lifted the hatch, employed the hinges, and firmly shut that door.

And then I sat on it.

Gathering all six kittens into the hammock of the front of my T-shirt, I stroked them and cooed quietly to them until the banging and yelling eventually stopped.

Next, I heard the calls of "here-kitty-kitty" from below and assumed that some adult cats got duped into participating in the experiment, but I also knew they would be able to land on their feet. Later that evening when I called to them, they still came running because they knew I always gave them delicious goats' milk, never mustard.

Mom insisted that I'd never have any friends at all, but that was fine with me because I didn't want those kinds of friends. Not that I could ever actually tell her so. ☺
