What Clients are Saying

"I met my goals! It was not just the level of intensity that made the work so effective, but also the accompanying exercises to engage and strengthen areas of my brain. The end result is a more optimized brain. I think more clearly."

S.S., 3rd Level III
Investment analyst

"As a result of our work together I achieved more than I thought I could. I am excited to see what the results are of the work we are doing together today."

L.C., 3rd Level III
Portfolio manager, RIA founder

"I found it to be insightful and I know I'm in the right mindset to pass this exam. It's helping me sleep!"

J.G., 2nd Level III
Portfolio manager, new dad

"I got inspired to keep going with my superpower (the secret sauce as you called it). What a delight to listen to someone's advice in such a honest and savvy way."

T.L., CFA 2012
Technical Director Oil & Gas

What do Bridgewater Associates, Point72, Tiger Capital and Sagespring Associates have in common? All use personality assessments to heighten the understanding of talent in the investment business.

Our Candidates Success Measures© (CSM) survey paired with a one-on-one session with experienced coach gives candidates an edge in preparing for the CFA© exams. Using quantitative measures of 35 facets of personality, candidates can construct a study plan tailored to their personality and their current state of mind. This leads to both efficient use of study time, and successful performance on exam day.

The CSM© uses the five factor model analytics, the only data-based personality assessment. All other assessments are proximities built by professionals based on a theory of personality.
