THE HEAVENS DECLARE HIS GLORY!

What is a super blue moon?

Super blue moon is a simple astronomical phenomena. An orbit of the Moon around the Earth takes place once in 27.3 days but the period between two successive full moons is about 29.5 days. This difference happens because successive full moons take place at different points on a slightly elliptical orbit. In its dance around the earth, once in a while, a full moon occurs when the moon is at or near its closest approach, called the perigee point. When this happens, it is called a super-moon.

The full moon can be about 30 percent brighter and seen as 14 percent larger than usual when super-moon happens.

Even as a lunar month, which denotes the period from one full moon to another, lasts about 29.5 days, months in the Gregorian calendar system that is used uniformly the world over, lasts between 28 and 31 days. Thus, it is possible to have two full moons in a given calendar month. The second full moon is referred to as a blue moon. The event occurs once in few years.

Now, a few words about the lunar eclipse, the third aspect of the forthcoming event: The orbit of the moon around the earth is tilted at about five degrees to earth's solar orbital plane. Hence, although on every full moon day, the earth is in between sun and moon, it is not always in a straight line. The position of the moon is either above or below the shadow of the earth; thus sunlight does not get blocked by earth to cause an eclipse. However, once in a while, the Sun, earth and moon align in a straight line resulting in a lunar eclipse, which could be either total or partial.

But, even in total lunar eclipse, the moon will not appear black, although earth will block most of the sunlight. "Earth has a significant atmosphere enveloping it. During a lunar eclipse, while the solid parts of earth block the light, the atmosphere is partially transparent and allows some part of the white sunlight to pass through.

In the US, the last time such a fortuitous circumstance occurred was way back on 31 March 1866, and so for them, the blue moon eclipse is occurring after a gap of 152 years and for us just 36 years. One should not be misled by all kinds of "fake news" spreading in social media about the size of the moon.

"As the super moon eclipse will be visible at the time of sunset, and moonrise, the moon would appear to be large. This has nothing to do with the fact that moon is closer to earth or anything else I saw this moon without realizing what it was on January 31st. I had to go outside and the light of the moon was almost as bright as the sun and I gasp at its beauty. I felt I could almost reach up and touch it. When in the house the Lord spoke to me that the heavens declare His glory. I thought God has all America looking up to the sky again. I thought I would share it with you so we don't miss the little things God is telling us, reminding us that He created the Universe.

There are many different self-proclaimed prophets with different revelations but what the Lord showed me is that He is declaring His glory over this nation. The Lord gave me another revelation this week. I know His revealing spirit.

There is going to be a mass exodus out of the democrat party coming soon!

Our prayers have made it to the throne room of God. The evil doers are falling like flies. The democrats in the Congress are liars and a threat to our national security. They do nothing in the best interest of the American citizens and taxpayers. They have sold out patriotism and our US Constitution to personal promotion of their ideology, Liberalism/Saul Alinsky radicalism. They are at the basis of forcing Americans to sin and using their power to make laws that mock God.

Also, Spying on Americans is Going to Land at Obama's Door.

His number has come up before the Father.

Look at the Facts: During the 2012 election the Lord revealed to me that team Obama had used federal agencies to acquire personal addresses of those on federal assistance to send examples of ballots and they were told, I was told, if they did not vote for Obama, their free stuff would stop. A lady at the voting precinct showed me what she got in the mail. It appeared to be an official letter from the federal government. I knew why Obama was sooo confident about winning that election.

He reigned in the "have nots", illegals, and free loaders ling up transportation to be sure they got to the polls. He organized the get out the vote and his campaign manager, David Axelrod, all but said so in some tv interviews when asked how he pulled off that win. He said by using ground US mail. Did he use the NSA's data to make it happen? Was the 2012 election of Obama rigged? The Facts are as follows. Read it aloud. Don't worry if you are not able to retain it all. We are in a spiritual battle and God is not confused. Just call out the deceivers to the Father and ask God to bind all witchcraft and occult operating in the highest levels of our government.

Data Mining in Obama's 2012 Victory

By Dorotea Szkolar | January 24, 2013

Barack Obama won the 2012 presidential election, defeating Mitt Romney in nearly all battleground states, securing a total of 332 electoral votes and winning 51% of the popular vote. Following the election, several prominent media outlets reported the Obama campaign's effective mining of the large databases of voter information was a major factor in the president's victory.

In fact, during the election, Time Magazine interviewed several of the Obama campaign's "data crunches" and estimated their efforts "helped Obama raise $1 billion, remade the process of targeting TV ads and created detailed models of swing-state voters that could be used to increase the effectiveness of everything from phone calls and door knocks to direct mailings and social media." Obama strategist David Axelrod told news reporters "nothing happened on election night that surprised me — nothing. Every single domino that turned over was in keeping with the model that our folks had projected." While it is predicted large data crunching will become normal in winning major elections, there are still many questions to be answered, especially concerning transparency of the process, voter privacy and the handling of such data between elections.

27 Edward Snowden Quotes About U.S. Government Spying That Should Send A Chill Up Your Spine

By Michael Snyder, on June 10th, 2013

Would you be willing to give up what Edward Snowden has given up? He has given up his high paying job, his home, his girlfriend, his family, his future and his freedom just to expose the monolithic spy machinery that the U.S. government has been secretly building to the world.

He says that he does not want to live in a world where there isn't any privacy. He says that he does not want to live in a world where everything that he says and does is recorded. Thanks to Snowden, we now know that the U.S. government has been spying on us to a degree that most people would have never even dared to imagine. Up until now, the general public has known very little about the U.S. government spy grid that knows almost everything about us. But making this information public is going to cost Edward Snowden everything. Essentially, his previous life is now totally over.

And if the U.S. government gets their hands on him, he will be very fortunate if he only has to spend the next several decades rotting in some horrible prison somewhere. There is a reason why government whistleblowers are so rare. And most Americans are so apathetic that they wouldn't even give up watching their favorite television show for a single evening to do something good for society.

Most Americans never even try to make a difference because they do not believe that it will benefit them personally. Meanwhile, our society continues to fall apart all around us. Hopefully the great sacrifice that Edward Snowden has made will not be in vain. Hopefully people will carefully consider what he has tried to share with the world. The following are 27 quotes from Edward Snowden about U.S. government spying that should send a chill up your spine.

1. "The majority of people in developed countries spend at least some time interacting with the Internet, and Governments are abusing that necessity in secret to extend their powers beyond what is necessary and appropriate."
2. "...I believe that at this point in history, the greatest danger to our freedom and way of life comes from the reasonable fear of omniscient State powers kept in check by nothing more than policy documents."
3. "The government has granted itself power it is not entitled to. There is no public oversight. The result is people like myself have the latitude to go further than they are allowed to."
4. "...I can't in good conscience allow the US government to destroy privacy, internet freedom and basic liberties for people around the world with this massive surveillance machine they're secretly building."
5. "The NSA has built an infrastructure that allows it to intercept almost everything."
6. "With this capability, the vast majority of human communications are automatically ingested without targeting. If I wanted to see your e-mails or your wife's phone, all I have to do is use intercepts. I can get your e-mails, passwords, phone records, credit cards."

7. "Any analyst at any time can target anyone. Any selector, anywhere... I, sitting at my desk, certainly had the authorities to wiretap anyone, from you or your accountant, to a federal judge, to even the President..."
8. "To do that, the NSA specifically targets the communications of everyone. It ingests them by default. It collects them in its system and it filters them and it analyzes them and it measures them and it stores them for periods of time simply because that's the easiest, most efficient and most valuable way to achieve these ends. So while they may be intending to target someone associated with a foreign government, or someone that they suspect of terrorism, they are collecting YOUR communications to do so."
9. "I believe that when [senator Ron] Wyden and [senator Mark] Udall asked about the scale of this, they [the NSA] said it did not have the tools to provide an answer. We do have the tools and I have maps showing where people have been scrutinized most. We collect more digital communications from America than we do from the Russians."
10. "...they are intent on making every conversation and every form of behavior in the world known to them."
11. "Even if you're not doing anything wrong, you're being watched and recorded. ...it's getting to the point where you don't have to have done anything wrong, you simply have to eventually fall under suspicion from somebody, even by a wrong call, and then they can use this system to go back in time and scrutinize every decision you've ever made, every friend you've ever discussed something with, and attack you on that basis, to sort of derive suspicion from an innocent life."
12. "Allowing the U.S. government to intimidate its people with threats of retaliation for revealing wrongdoing is contrary to the public interest."
13. "Everyone everywhere now understands how bad things have gotten — and they're talking about it. They have the power to decide for themselves whether they are willing to sacrifice their privacy to the surveillance state."
14. "I do not want to live in a world where everything I do and say is recorded. That is not something I am willing to support or live under."
15. "I don't want to live in a world where there's no privacy, and therefore no room for intellectual exploration and creativity."

16. "I have no intention of hiding who I am because I know I have done nothing wrong."
17. "The great fear that I have regarding the outcome for America of these disclosures is that nothing will change. [People] won't be willing to take the risks necessary to stand up and fight to change things... And in the months ahead, the years ahead, it's only going to get worse. [The NSA will] say that... because of the crisis, the dangers that we face in the world, some new and unpredicted threat, we need more authority, we need more power, and there will be nothing the people can do at that point to oppose it. And it will be turnkey tyranny."
18. "There's no saving me."
19. "government agents get him."

And how will they treat him once they find him? Well, one reporter overheard a group of U.S. intelligence officials talking about how Edward Snowden should be "disappeared". The following is from a Daily Mail article that was posted on Monday.

The fact that we are collecting trillions of pieces of information on people all over the planet is a massive embarrassment and the fact that our politicians are defending this practice now that it has been exposed is a massive embarrassment.

If the U.S. government continues to act like a Big Brother police state, then the rest of the world will eventually conclude that is exactly what we are. At that point we become the "bad guy" and we lose all credibility with the rest of the planet.

The House Just Released the Nunes Memo. Here's What It Is.

House Republicans released the full, un-redacted "Nunes memo" on Friday following months of speculation – and as expected the GOP memo alleges the FBI was biased in its investigation of ties between Donald Trump's 2016 presidential campaign and Russia.

The memo zeroes in on the "Steele dossier," an unverified document that was allegedly paid for by the Democratic and Hillary Clinton's presidential campaign. The memo, overseen by House Permanent Select Committee on Intelligence Chairman Rep. Devin Nunes (R-CA), alleges that the dossier was an "essential part" of the evidence used to authorize surveillance on Trump advisers and that its origins and ties to Clinton and the Democrats were never disclosed to the court.

The so-called "Nunes memo" which is three and a half pages, centers around the FBI obtaining a Foreign Intelligence Surveillance Act (FISA) warrant in October of 2016 against former Trump campaign policy adviser Carter Page. Nunes claims that an "essential part" of obtaining the FISA court warrant was the use of the Steele dossier – which was compiled by former British spy Christopher Steele alleging compromising details that Russia may have on President Trump. The dossier, a copy of which was published in full by BuzzFeed last January, alleges that Trump's former campaign manager Paul Manafort used Page as an intermediary with the Russian government and that Page attended a secret meeting at the Kremlin in July of 2016.

The memo cites testimony from Deputy FBI Director Andrew McCabe—who is now stepping down—in which he told the committee no warrant for Page would have been sought without the use of the dossier.

"The Committee has discovered serious violations of the public trust, and the American people have a right to know when officials in crucial institutions are abusing their authority for political purposes," Nunes said in a statement accompanying the release.

Foreign Intelligence Surveillance Act Abuses at the Department of Justice and the Federal Bureau of Investigation Purpose

This memorandum provides Members an update on significant facts relating to the Committee's ongoing investigation into the Department of Justice (DOJ) and Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) and their use of the Foreign Intelligence Surveillance Act (FISA) during the 2016 presidential election cycle. Our findings, which are detailed below, 1) raise concerns with the legitimacy and legality of certain DOJ and FBI interactions with the Foreign Intelligence Surveillance Court (FISC), and 2) represent a troubling breakdown of legal processes established to protect the American people from abuses related to the ISA process.

Investigation Update

On October 21, 2016, DOJ and FBI sought and received a FISA probable cause order (not under Title VII) authorizing electronic surveillance on Carter Page from the FISC. Page is a US citizen who served as a volunteer advisor to the Trump presidential campaign. Consistent with requirements under FISA, the application had to be first certified by the Director or Deputy Director of the FBI. It then required the approval of the Attorney General, Deputy Attorney General (DAG), or the Senate confirmed Assistant Attorney General for the National Security Division.

The FBI and DOJ obtained one initial FISA warrant targeting Carter Page and three FISA renewals from the FISC. As required by statute (50 U.S.C. a FISA order on an American citizen must be renewed by the ISC every 90 days and each renewal requires a separate finding of probable cause. Then-Director James Comey signed three FISA applications in question on behalf of the FBI, and Deputy Director Andrew McCabe signed one. Sally Yates, then-Acting DAG Dana Boente, and DAG Rod Rosenstein each signed one or more FISA applications on behalf of the DOJ.

Due to the sensitive nature of foreign intelligence activity, FISA submissions (including renewals) before the ISC are classified. As such, the public's confidence in the integrity of the FISA process depends on the court's ability to hold the government to the highest standard – particularly as it relates to surveillance of American citizens. However, the rigor in protecting the rights of Americans, which is reinforced by 90-day renewals of surveillance orders, is necessarily dependent on the government's production to the court of all material and relevant facts.

This should include information potentially favorable to the target of the FISA application that is known by the government. In the case of Carter Page, the government had at least four independent opportunities before the FISC to accurately provide an accounting of the relevant facts. However, our findings indicate that, as described below, material and relevant information was omitted.

1) The “dossier”- compiled by Christopher Steele (Steele dossier) on behalf of the Democratic National Committee (DNC) and the Hillary Clinton campaign formed an essential part of the Carter Page FISA application. Steele was a longtime FBI source who was paid over $160,000 by the DNC and Clinton campaign, via the law firm Perkins Coie and research firm Fusion GPS, to obtain derogatory information on Donald Trump's ties to Russia.

a) Neither the initial application in October 2016, nor any of the renewals, disclose or reference the role of the DNC, Clinton campaign, or any party/campaign in funding Steele's efforts, even though the political origins of the Steele dossier were then known to senior and FBI officials.

b) The initial FISA application notes Steele was working for a named US person, but does not name Fusion GPS and principal Glenn Simpson, who was paid by a US. law firm (Perkins Coie) representing the DNC (even though it was known by DOI at the time that political actors were involved with the Steele dossier). The application does not mention Steele was ultimately working on behalf of – and paid by – the DNC and Clinton campaign, or that the FBI had separately authorized payment to Steele for the same information.

2) The Carter Page FISA application also cited extensively a September 23, 2016, Yahoo News article by- Michael Isikoff, which focuses on Page's July 2016 trip to Moscow. This article does not corroborate the Steele dossier because it is derived from information leaked by Steele himself to Yahoo News.

The Page FISA application incorrectly assesses that Steele did not directly provide information to Yahoo News. Steele has admitted in British court filings that he met with Yahoo News – and several other outlets – in September 2016 at the direction of Fusion GPS. Perkins Coie was aware of Steele's initial media contacts because they hosted at least one meeting in Washington DC in 2016 with Steele and Fusion GPS where this matter was discussed.

a) Steele was suspended and then terminated as an FBI source for what the FBI defines as the most serious of violations – an unauthorized disclosure to the media of his relationship with the FBI in an October 30, 2016, Mother Jones article by David Corn. Steele should have been terminated for his previous undisclosed contacts with Yahoo and other outlets in September – before the Page application was submitted to the FISC in October – but Steele improperly concealed from and lied to the FBI about those contacts.

b) Steele's numerous encounters with the media violated the cardinal rule of source handling – maintaining confidentiality – and demonstrated that Steele had become a less than reliable source for the FBI.

3) Before and after Steele was terminated as a source, he maintained contact with DOJ via then-Associate Deputy Attorney General Bruce Ohr, a senior DOJ official who worked closely with Deputy Attorneys General Yates and later Rosenstein. Shortly after the election, the FBI began interviewing Ohr, documenting his communications with Steele.

For example, in September 2016, Steele admitted to Ohr his feelings against then- candidate Trump when Steele said he “was desperate that Donald Trump not get elected and was passionate about him not, being president.” This clear evidence of . Steele? bias was recorded by Ohr at the time and subsequently in official FBI files –but not reflected in any of the Page FISA applications.

a) During this same time period , Ohr's wife was employed by Fusion GPS to assist in the cultivation of opposition research on Trump. Ohr later provided the FBI with all of his wife's opposition research, paid for by the DNC and Clinton campaign via Fusion GPS. The Ohrs' relationship with Steele and Fusion GPS was inexplicably concealed from the FISC.

4) According to the head of the counterintelligence division, Assistant Director Bill Priestap, corroboration of the Steele dossier was in its “infancy” at the time of the initial Page FISA application. After Steele was terminated, a source validation report conducted by an independent unit within FBI assessed Steele’s reporting as only minimally corroborated.

Yet, in early January 2017, Director Comey briefed President-elect Trump on a summary of the Steele dossier, even though it was – according to his June 2017 testimony – “salacious and unverified.” While the FISA application relied on Steele’s past record of credible reporting on other unrelated matters, it ignored or concealed his anti-Trump financial and ideological motivations.

Furthermore, Deputy Director McCabe testified before the Committee in December 2017 that no surveillance warrant would have been sought from the FISC without the Steele dossier information.

5) The Page FISA application also mentions information regarding fellow Trump campaign advisor George Papadopoulos, but there is no evidence of any cooperation or conspiracy between Page and Papadopoulos.

The Papadopoulos information triggered the opening of an FBI counterintelligence investigation in late July 2016 by FBI agent Pete Strzok. Strzok was reassigned by the Special Counsel’s Office to FBI Human Resources for improper text messages with his mistress, FBI Attorney Lisa Page (no known relation to Carter Page), where they both demonstrated a clear bias against Trump and in favor of Clinton, Whom Strzok had also investigated.

The Strzok/Lisa Page texts also reflect extensive discussions about the investigation, orchestrating leaks to the media, and include a meeting with Deputy Director McCabe to discuss an “insurance” policy against President Trump’s election.
