*This map does not describe road quality. Quality varies greatly by weather and other factors. There is no guarantee that roads / tracks with heavy traffic are easier to bike than those where few cars drive. Travelling in the highlands can be dangerous.

**There may be more fords than shown on the map. The symbols and classification only indicate where most water crossings may be expected. Drought, rain and thawing snow makes the mapping of fords very inaccurate.

Car traffic numbers are June - Sept. 2015 statistics

This is an overview map which does not provide exhaustive information. Before setting off, one needs to gather information about the road conditions as well as accommodation and other services in the area to be travelled. It is particularly important to be well informed when planning to travel in the highlands.
