Bite-sized forums are for the busy worker who chooses to attend a specific topic without the hassle of going back to work to a busy workload. These structured 90 minute sessions are led by an experienced Indigenous facilitator who can breathe new life into your understanding of a particular topic that might interest you. These sessions are designed to stimulate and replenish your energy and have you focussed on an issue with other like-minded staff: without having to spend too much time away from your desk: and yet still learn. Ask us how to set up a bite sized forum for you NOW!