SEPTEMBER, ninth Month. 1819.

The farmer's harvest now is o'er ;
 No more the golden sheaf is seen ;
 But rich Pomona's ample store,
 Now gilds the orchard, yet so green.

M. D.	W. D.	Courts, Aspects, Holidays, Weather, &c.	FARMER'S CALENDAR.
14	Com.	Wil Bru & D perig	" say, father Dupey, did you ever see a Kaleidoscope?" " Aye, fags, I have ! our John brought one of these fiddle-faddles from College the last vacation, and sat our girls all bewitched. He said as how the Boston ladies drew off' all the pretty pictures and butterflies seen in that thing and worked them into their dresses. So at it the girls went and filled the house with crape and muslin. No business was done but marking, painting and stitching collarets, triflo-etts and bum-besetts.—" Ah, girls!" said I, " this will never learn you to be farmer's wives—Away with your telescope, your work-bags, zig-zags and tagrags. The dairy, spinning-wheel, wash-tub and porridge pot have scope enough for you. Learn to milk the cows; make good butter and cheese; darn a stocking well; stuff sausages; make a pot-pye or an indian bannock. This is the education, girls, that will make you healthful, agreeable and profitable wives. Go, learn of your mother. She has often told you the importance of these things; and one look at her cheese room is worth a thousand peeps into that tin tube."
