General Description: In Crystal Skies you play a blowfish that bounces around in a maze of jewel like barriers some of which are breakable. The whole maze constantly spins around you and you use your jump button to bounce off surfaces you land on, and flounder to the left and right with your other two buttons. You earn points by breaking barriers and collecting the coins throughout the game. So in order to earn the most points you need to time your jumps and floundering to navigate you to appropriate locations as the maze spins around. It's simple, but surprisingly addictive. Not to mention nice to look at. But play it for too long you'll definitely feel dizzy!
