More of the best of the Valley

Zoologist brings wildlife friends to Seymour Public Library

And he wasn't monkeying around!

Story and photos by Patricia Villers

SEYMOUR - Nature Nick brought a unique look at many wild animals to children and adults last week at Seymour Public Library.

Exotic critters were presented by Long Island- based Nature Nick (Nicholas Jacinto).

For instance, who in the Valley has seen the best known symbol of Australia up close? Likely none until today. This young marsupial, (lower left), is being held by an audience member with that look of curiosity and awe seeing a species native only to the land Down Under, 10,000 miles away.

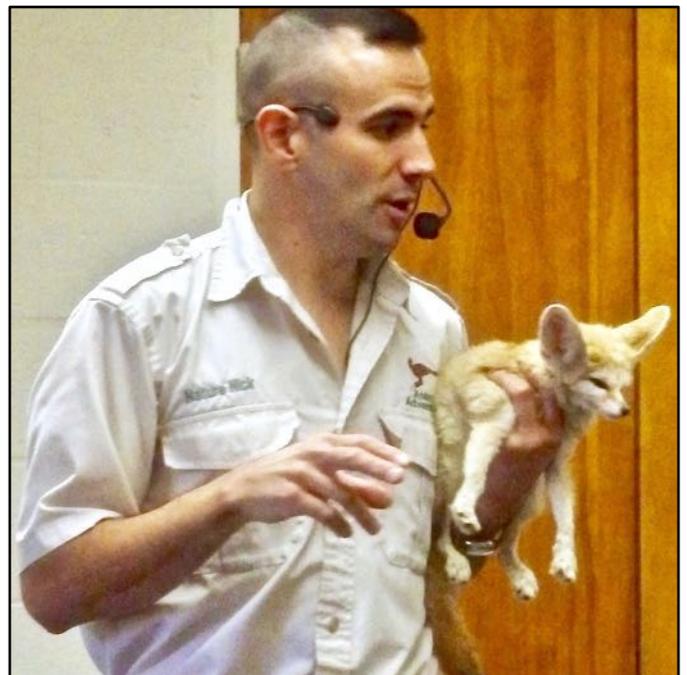

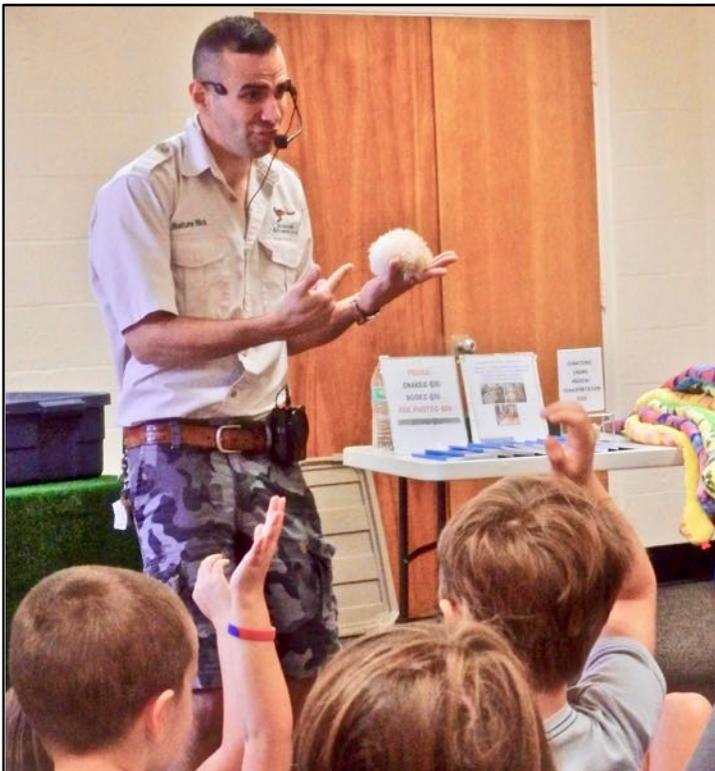

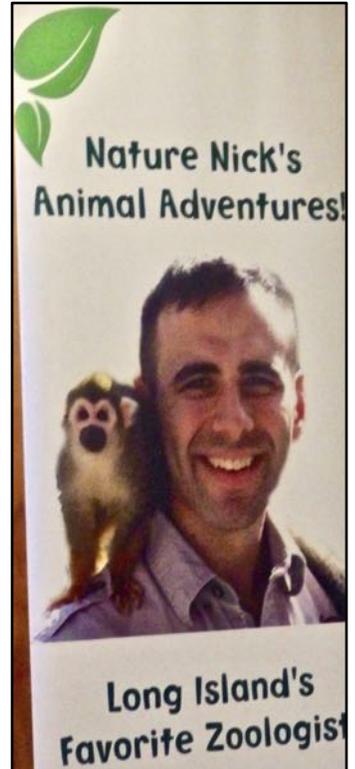

The audience delighted in viewing a wide variety of unique species Jacinto showcased.

Along with the baby 'roo, he showed a falcon, a monkey, a baby fox, and a hedgehog curled up in a ball of fluff.

There's a lot to learn about these critters and the program by Nature Nick was proof that learning something new can also be fun.

The next event at the Seymour Public Library is Wednesday from 6:30-7:30 pm. Marian O'Keefe, Seymour Town Historian, will be presenting The August 1955 Flood. Six decades after, O'Keefe will talk about the devastation to Seymour due to the flood. This program is for all ages and is free.
