KWAME NKRUMAH UNIVERSITY OF SCIENCE AND TECHNOLOGY

Aug. 20, 2018

Dear Global and National Sales Development Team:

How would you like to showcase your unique products and services – at no direct cost to your company – in front of national healthcare leaders, government officials, doctors, hospital administrators, and medical services decision-makers?

Led by U.S. National Institutes of Health Global Health Fellow and Fulbright Specialist Dr. Roxane Richter and Ghanaian Drs. Joseph Bonney and Chris Oppong, the AEMS Collaborative is a unique multinational team of emergency physicians, disaster experts, and global scholars dedicated to researching, identifying, and implementing timely Ghana-specific solutions to Ghanaian mass casualty disaster emergencies.

This September-October, the AEMS Collaborative will train approx. 200 healthcare-industry decision-makers in four KNUST-approved and U.S. Fulbright-supported courses, “Advanced Skills Training in Mass Casualty Planning, Disaster Leadership & Emergency Response”. The four 5-day courses (Kumasi 24-28th Sept./ Cape Coast 1-5th Oct./ Tamale 8-12th Oct./ Accra 15-19th Oct.) will train individuals in mass casualty planning & disaster response via expert lectures, exercises, table top simulations, and live disaster simulations.

In order to best exhibit your company to our top-ranking attendees, we are requesting your contribution of the following item(s):

- Promotional marketing materials (50 per regional site or 200 minimum total) (or financial support for the purchase of): binders, drawstring bags, t-shirts, cups, calendars, pens, service/product coupons, gift certificates, notepads, etc.
- Promotional food services (or financial support for the purchase of): beverages, snacks, 1-5 days of luncheon sponsorship, etc.
- Paper materials: EMS/disaster-training materials, brochures, flyers, signs, etc. At the completion of each course, there will be a one-day on-site venue for manned/non-manned vendor display.

For full advertising consideration, all promotional materials must be received no less than 48 hours prior to the course sessions; materials may be sent directly to the care of Dr. Bonney, Accident & Emergency Dept., at Komfo Anokye Teaching Hospital P.O. Box 1934, (Ashanti, Bantama) Kumasi, Ghana, West Africa. All supporting companies will be referenced in course marketing materials, as well as in media publications, etc. Thank you and we do hope these requests will be generously granted. Should you have any questions for us, feel free to contact us personally.

Warm Regards,

Dr. Roxane Richter
