$$JIF = \frac{\text{Citations in 2018 to items published in 2016 (140) + 2017 (158)}}{\text{Number of citable items in 2016 (54) + 2017 (55)}} = \frac{298}{109}$$

- Low denominator → IF 2018 = 2.734

- → we have to continue the restrictive strategy of acceptance

- + selection of the best submissions to get more citations

  - For IF 2019, the denominator will be 123 (published articles in ACCPM in 2017 and 2018)

  - Since January 1st, 169 ACCPM$_{2017-18}$ articles have been cited

  - If we reach 400 citations → IF = 3.252 → Rank C expected

  - If we reach 500 citations → IF = 4.065 → Rank B expected

Don't hesitate to cite ACCPM$_{2017-18}$ articles

In introduction, try to cite French recommendations from 2017 and 2018 and ACCPM Editorials on important articles of NEJM, Lancet and JAMA (2019)
