THE ARTISTS:

Michael A Levine is the composer for the CBS/Jerry Bruckheimer crime drama Cold Case. Feature credits include Adrift in Manhattan, and Columbus Day. He wrote the theme for Scrat, the squirrel from Ice Age. He has also worked as a support composer and violinist for Hans Zimmer on Batman: Dark Knight and The Simpsons Movie for which he arranged the infamous choral arrangement of Spider Pig.

Michael composed the world's first Concerto for Pedal Steel Guitar and Orchestra (2005) and Divination by Mirrors for Musical Saw and Strings (1998). His best known contribution to western culture, though, is the music for the Kit Kat Gimme a Break jingle.

Composer, producer, remixer and multi-instrumentalist Mac Quayle makes music. Lots of music. As a composer he has contributed to 4 films and 73 episodes of the hit CBS television show "Cold Case", collaborating with renowned composers Cliff Martinez (Traffic, Solaris, Pee-wee's Playhouse) and Michael A. Levine (Cold Case, Close To Home, Naked Bros. Band).

As a producer, remixer and keyboardist Mac has worked on over 300 releases, 30 #1 Billboard Dance Hits (yes 30!), garnered a Grammy Nomination for producing Donna Summer and been awarded numerous Gold and Platinum records. Along the way he has created music for a long list of artists that include Madonna, Whitney Houston, Depeche Mode, Britney Spears, Elvis Presley, Annie Lennox, New Order, Beyonce, Mariah Carey and Sting.

When asked recently to talk about some highlights of his career, Mac responded:

"I have been very fortunate to work with so many talented people over the years. However, there is one special moment that stands out for me: playing ping pong with Peter Gabriel at Realworld."

Mac lives, works and plays ping-pong in the mountains near Los Angeles.

THE MUSIC:

Ambient music with a twist

meditative, slowly evolving improvisations, extending from simple melody and drone to more complex harmonic and purely textural ideas

Brian Eno meets John Coltrane
