CONNECTING TOMORROW'S EDUCATORS TODAY

FALL IN LOVE WITH EDUCATING

Embrace your ability to make a difference

There has definitely been a change in season here in Belgium. The days are getting shorter and the temperatures are getting cooler.

Honestly, I prefer spring and summer, but there is something about fall that makes me happy. Fall brings the chance to cuddle up on the couch with a good book and some hot cocoa. Whereas I feel like in summer and spring we are constantly on the move.

I think that fall is a time to center ourselves again and figure out what it is we want to do to make a difference in our own lives and other people's lives. That is why for this newsletter I wanted to do things a bit differently.

This week I want to focus on ways you can fall in love with educating. I am sure most of you already LOVE educating, but I think that there is always room for improvement.

Hope you are ready to get real and learn some new ways in which we can all better ourselves.

All my best,

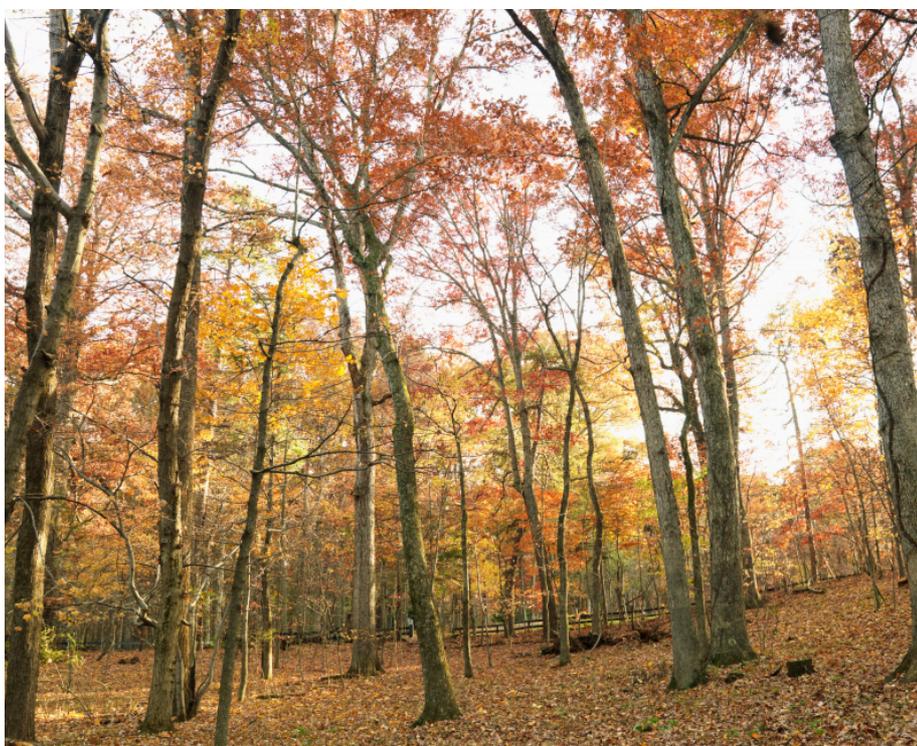

Brianna

EDUCATORS TO ADD TO YOUR PLN

1. Jennifer Carey – @TeacherJenCarey

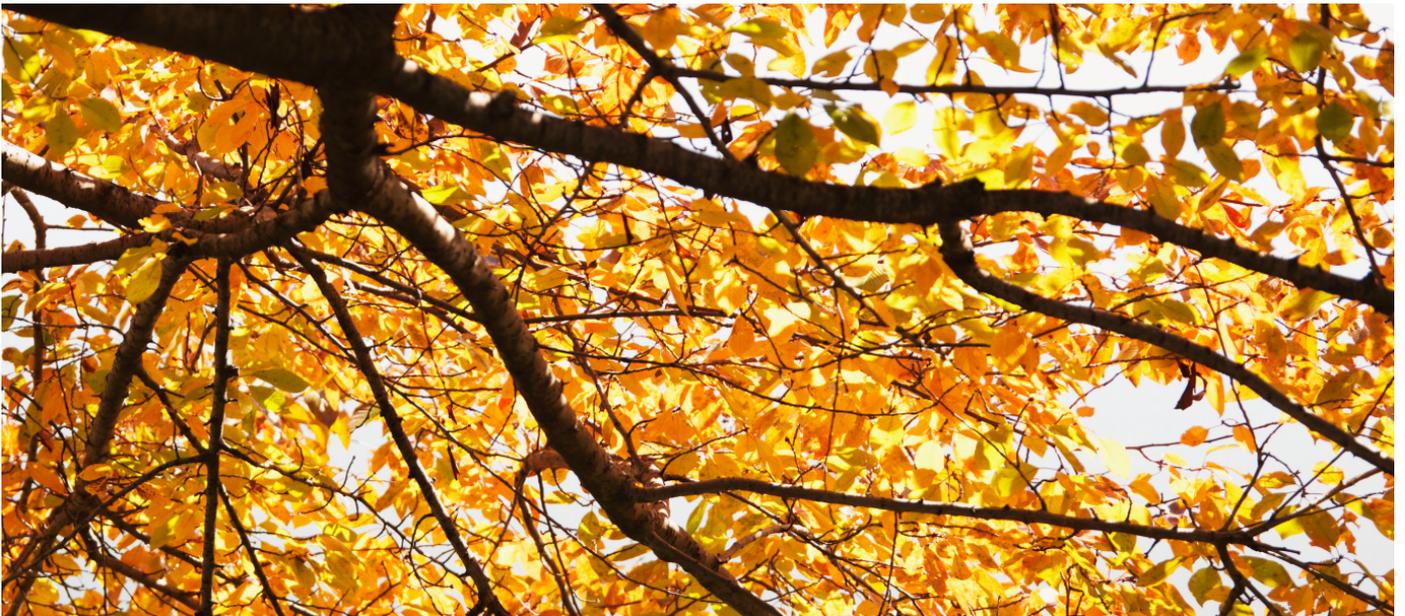

If you are interested in getting the latest news for all things education than Jen Carey's Twitter feed is perfect for you! Jen's feed has a great mix of content.

2. Shannon Miller - @shannonmmiller

My mom, Shannon Miller, is perfect to follow if you want to stay up to date and get awesome, original ideas. Especially for librarians!

3. Eric Sheninger - @E_Sheninger

When looking for awesome content to share I always visit Eric Sheninger's blog. You will find inspiration, news, and leadership advice from his feed.

#PLN

Personal Learning Network

This is a great hashtag to use when you are making requests or sharing resources with your network.

It also allows other educators to see your tweet and become a potential source of information.

About Twitter

Twitter is an online news and social networking service where users post and interact with messages, "tweets", restricted to 140 characters. Twitter has proven itself to be a very important tool for educators around the globe.

Twitter Tips For Educators

Create!

It can be intimidating to create your own content, but to be successful on Twitter you need to create and consume.

Connect!

Don't be silent. Reach out, exchange ideas, and start conversations with others that you find interesting.

Share!

People want to hear about the awesome things you are doing. You need to give in order to receive.

Be Consistent!

Would you make a new friend and then ignore them for two weeks? Hopefully not! The same goes for Twitter. You should consistently check in with your PLN.
