

HOW TOXIC AM I?

The following are some environments and conditions that may indicate high toxicity levels. Check all that apply:

DO YOU HAVE:

- Low energy
- Dry skin
- Excessive hair loss
- Cancer
- Stress
- Heartburn
- Difficulty concentrating -- Brain fog
- Musty smells or water-damaged spots in your home
- Any chronic infections like Candida overgrowth
- Asthma or a chronic runny or stuffy nose
- Root canals or amalgam fillings
- A brand new car, home or bed

ARE YOU:

- Sensitive to chemical odors
- Slow to recover when you are sick
- Overweight or underweight
- Often irritable, impatient, tense or agitated

DO YOU SUFFER FROM:

- Depression, confusion, or forgetfulness
- Headaches, migraines
- Sore muscles and/or joints
- Premenstrual symptoms, breast or uterine cysts
- Insomnia, waking in the night, or disturbed sleep
- Acne, eczema or other chronic skin issues

PG 2 -- HOW TOXIC AM I?

DO YOU:

- Smoke
- Drink lots of soda
- Drink tap water
- Worry all the time
- Wear dry-cleaned clothing
- Drive through heavy traffic
- Drink alcohol, coffee, or tea regularly
- Live near a major road, highway, airport, or in a city
- Use bleach, conventional detergents
- Use conventional fabric softener/sheets
- Use household cleaners/ disinfectants
- Have difficulty digesting food
(Gas, Constipation, Indigestion)
- Live near a manufacturing area
- Work with stained glass, welding, or jewelry making
- Work with any chemicals in your workplace
- Use air freshener in your home or car
- Wear store-bought perfume
- Wear shoes around the house
- Eat any processed foods or pre-packaged foods
- Use conventional beauty products

The more times you said yes, the more toxic your body is likely to be.

Your body is working overtime trying to eliminate these harmful toxins. As the body continues to accumulate toxins, the toxins begin to circulate deeper into the body, causing further congestion and complications. The energy the body normally uses for healing and growth gets redirected, trying to neutralize the toxins.

It is for this reason we created our exclusive Cellular Health Cold Laser Detox. This protocol assists in eliminating the deadly toxins, viruses, and heavy metals we come in contact with on a daily basis to lessen our body's burden.

Whether you are in good health and just want to feel extraordinary, or are currently suffering from chronic problems, or an undiagnosed illness, regular Cold Laser Detox sessions can improve your overall health and well-being at a deep cellular level.

