

THE CTE BOOST

An analysis from the Oregon Department of Education shows the graduation rates of students who earned one or more credits in career-technical education courses is significantly higher than the general graduation rate. The ODE cautions, though, that the data shouldn't be interpreted to mean CTE causes higher graduation rates.

* Students who earned one or more credits in a technical skill course as part of a state-approved CTE program.