

4. Lorelei Lotvin

Glass

7 Sylvan Way

Lorelei makes glass beads one at a time on a torch. Her jewelry designs incorporate her beads, semi-precious gems, and sterling silver findings. Her work has been sold and collected nationwide.

5. Mary Holden

Painter

110 Pond Street

Painting watercolors has become a passion beyond anything Mary expected. She finds the process of painting a watercolor exciting and satisfying. She discovers inspiration everywhere and feels that painting often leads to unexpected surprises.

6. Carol Mecagni

Artist/Potter

157 Pond Street

Carol uses clay and glazes to make functional art pieces including unique platters, mugs, and bowls for holding berries, yarns, and large and small servings.

7. William Moser

Classic Sculpture Studio

Sculptor

4 Wescott Drive

William produces sculpture with classical themes in marble, alabaster, and wood using traditional hand tools. Several of his works express philosophical ideas while others deal with cultural events.

8. Catherine Howe

Pastel Painter

1 Snowy Owl Road

Catherine is passionate about creating pastel paintings of both water and sky, her primary inspirations. She prefers working in pastels because of their pure pigment and rich colors.

9. Mike Smith

Whitehall Wood Turnings

Wood Turner

15 Hill Street

Mike has been creating functional as well as artistic pieces on a wood lathe for nearly 40 years. Come visit his workshop and see what he is creating now!

10. Dinny Potenza

Appalachian Basket Weaver

8 Castle Hill Road

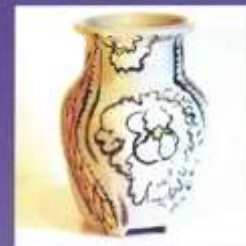

Dinny weaves modern renderings of baskets traditionally made in the Appalachian mountains. She uses natural materials gathered along the trails of Lake Whitehall and her gardens....birch bark, pinecone, grapevine, seed pods or feather.

About Us...

We are a group of artists living and working in the Lake Whitehall area of Hopkinton, MA. We came together to offer the public a chance to view the studios in which we create and see the area that inspires us!

About the Studio Tour

This is a self-guided tour of 10 artists' studios. Each artist will welcome you into their unique environment, give you insight into their process and share their inspiration and work.

1. Kate Graham Heyd

Painter/Photographer
6 Longwood Drive

The natural world is Kate's motivation to create. Her oil/watercolor paintings and photographs have been exhibited in various galleries and juried shows around the country.

2. Gretchen Stephan Whitehall Farm Studios

Pen, Ink & Encaustics
301 Wood Street

Modern Celtic Nouveau Folk Art -
Gretchen's pieces are rich in detail and focus on combining symbolic folk elements with pen, ink, and encaustics to create a new dialogue between the old and the new.

3. Roger Kabler

Painter
229 Wood Street

Roger paints the things that people cherish: their families, their pets, and their favorite places. Having no formal training in art, he has spent hours studying nature in the nearby woods trying to capture what he feels it is saying to him.
