

Eulogy (Hey Donnie Darko...)

*When I die I'll be surrounded
By my friends and family
I don't believe we have to die alone
Like the story's always told*

*...
Like my teachers always told*

Woah, woah, woah, woah

Growin' up we're taught to listen
To the man behind the lectern
First a preacher than a teacher
A professor, a philosopher

But one day I woke up worn down
By their words and all their sounds
"Love's illusion," "Hope's a drug"
And "In the end we die alone"

*Woah, woah, woah
You said, "We all just die alone"
Woah, woah, woah
You said, "We all just die alone"*

And I bought your lies for so long
'Cause they sound so smart and sophisticated

Well, I woke one day
To see the world was changin'
My best friend left this life
And I was by his side

And the truth was there
In his fading stare
I learned a lesson from my dog
That all the wisest men are wrong

Chorus

Hey Donnie Darko, hey Jesse Lacey
You don't have to die alone
Hey Hunter Thompson, and Orson Welles
You don't have to die alone
