

One Health Workforce - Next Generation

COVID-19 digital awareness challenge

Deadline
June 14, 2020

One Health Workforce - Next Generation (OHW-NG), in collaboration with AFROHUN AND SEAOHUN, invites current One Health students (SOHICs, OHSC, etc.) to the COVID-19 digital awareness challenge.

Raise awareness in your community via preparing outreach materials (posters/cartoons/videos) that you can share with your community

Submission Deadline: June 14, 2020 (11.59pm ICT)

What we are looking for

Digital content (ex., poster, flyer, cartoon, 2-3min videos) to answer at least one of the following questions:

- What is COVID-19?
- How is the COVID-19 transmitted?
- How to prevent individuals from getting infected?
- What message would you share with your community about COVID-19?

Submission process:

You can submit your application to: <https://forms.gle/RxxqHfqqEncPt4MS6> or using the QR code

Rules:

- All students both undergraduate and graduate from the SEA countries are welcome to participate individually or in group.
- All students should follow government regulations (confinement, social distancing, masks, ..). Any submissions that break governmental guidelines would be excluded.
- Submissions must be original content. If submission is not in English, please also submit a translation or a summary in English. Content should be appropriate for all literacy levels.

Review Criteria: Submissions will be judged by a panel on the strength, relevance and artwork and communication skills. All students are welcome to participate. Multidisciplinary teams are highly encouraged.

A winner will be selected for each of the following material:

- 1- Best video
- 2- Best flyer/poster
- 3- Most innovative digital content

Prizes will be available (will not exceed $4000) and selected submission will be published on OHW-NG digital platforms and websites.
