Sackers maintains Band 1 status for pensions and pensions litigation – Chambers UK 2019

Sacker & Partners LLP (Sackers), the UK's leading specialist firm for pensions and retirement savings, has retained its elite Band 1 status in the latest Chambers UK legal directory for both pensions and pensions litigation for another consecutive year.

Chambers UK 2019 describes Sackers as a “distinguished pensions boutique with a broad array of experience in defined benefit and defined contribution schemes. Offers expertise from a tax and finance perspective and has strong litigation capabilities” and “a strong team of pension litigators who offer broad experience to trustees, advisers and sponsoring companies.”

Eight Sackers partners have been ranked in this year's edition for pensions: Ian Pittaway, Mark Greenlees, Edward Hayes, Pauline Sibbit, David Saunders, Janet Brown, Paul Phillips and Philippa Connaughton.

Two partners have also been ranked in the category for pensions litigation: Peter Murphy and James Bingham. Associate director Arshad Khan has also been ranked.

Ian Pittaway, senior partner at Sackers, commented: “Maintaining our Band 1 status for yet another year is a great achievement and reflects our continued commitment to providing the highest quality of advice and service to all our clients. It really underlines the strength in depth of our practice that so many of our lawyers have been ranked as leading individuals for both pensions and pensions litigation.”
