

CRAFTERNOON TEA MARKETS

ALBANY • KINGSLAND • POP UP

Bringing the best of NZ made to your neighbourhood

In this issue: | Artists & Craftspeople | Meet the maker – Moonlighting NZ | Upcoming markets

A colourful community of artists & craftspeople

Walk into any one of our locations and you're immediately immersed in a colourful and quirky community of artists and designers. There's a buzzy vibe and a friendly atmosphere that you can relax into whilst wandering the stalls. Sip a hot coffee or nibble on a delectable treat and browse through the beautifully presented handmade goods and artworks.

Meet and have a chat with the makers, maybe commission a unique hand-made work – large or small, there are NZ made treasures to delight around every corner.

Whether your style is contemporary or vintage or somewhere in between, there is something for you at your favourite local market, Crafternoon Tea Markets.

See the back cover for all the upcoming dates and locations.

Meet the maker... Moonlighting NZ Marama Davis

Fascinated by all things small since childhood, Marama Davis is an artist whose range of unique handcrafted creations reflect her love of paper, miniatures and nature.

As well as lights and seasonal crafts she creates intricate and whimsical scenes inside hard back books. These are decorated with papers from a wide range of sources and filled with repurposed treasures, stunningly detailed, tiny clay objects and more. She scours secondhand shops for beautiful covers and quirky titles to inspire new dioramas as well as taking commissions for personalised dioramas.

Marama's book rooms make beautiful, one of a kind gifts that you won't find in any shop.
