Our 2019/2020 series will explore our connection with ourselves and others, with our traditions, and with nature. Join us for these three concerts, with vocal music from the renaissance to the present day, performed by the exquisite voices of musica intima.

amore/dolore

Themes of love and pain and how the two interact will be explored through Morten Lauridsen's Madrigali (Firesongs) and music by Monteverdi and David Lang. We also return to Jeffrey Ryan's heartrending commission from 2008, On Monsieur's Departure, featuring words by Elizabeth I.

sing lullaby

Grounded in the British choral tradition, this concert features seasonal music from Herbert Howells and Kenneth Leighton, as well as the newer generation of English composers, such as Jonathan Dove and James MacMillan. Join us for the lush warmth of the Christmas season!

the voice of the sky

From the sun and the rain, to the winds and wild weather, we will highlight the life sustaining and sometimes terrible power of the sky, with new music from Central and Northern Europe, as well as a new set of pieces by Vancouver composer, Owen Underhill, based on texts by Antoni Gaudí.
