I can see clearly now...

...THOUGHT
FOR THE MONTH

I've fairly recently discovered something which I hadn't realised previously that I couldn't do without! I've worn glasses now for around 30 years, maybe more. But it's not long since I started using cleaning wipes. Before that I'd kept them 'clean' by either wiping them with a tissue or one of the cloths usually supplied with a new pair. But then someone gave me some wipes and it opened my eyes to a whole new world.

Before that I'd tried to keep my lenses clean but have to say that there were times when I saw how dirty they were and wondered how I'd managed. Breathing on them and a rub with a cloth did a job, but never really got them totally clean. But the wipes... how did I manage without them? If your glasses begin to get dirty and you get used to them that way, you don't see clearly and cannot take in all the detail.

How that can be true of our spiritual vision too. Psalm 119 is well-known for being the longest Psalm (176 verses), virtually all of it speaking about God's Word. Verse 18 says this: 'Open my eyes, so that I may see the wonderful truths in your law' (Good News Bible). We need to ensure that we are keeping our spiritual 'glasses' clean so that we can see clearly the wonderful things that are in the Word of God, which for us is the whole of the Bible. It means I think ensuring that when we come to read the Bible, we make sure that we are firstly remembering what it is – the very Word of God given to us. It is not just words on a page but God speaking. Secondly, to read with clear sight means that we are ready to make any changes in our lives which we know are needed after reading and meditating on the Word. Thirdly, we need to see that this prayer asks God that He will open our eyes – but when He does we need to ensure that there's nothing which will blur what He wants to say to us.

Let's make sure our vision is clear when we come to His Word, that we might see, with the Psalm-writer 'wonderful truths in your law'.

the word for today

'grow in grace'

2 Peter 3:18 KJV

are you becoming more gracious?

Every day you live you'll be presented with opportunities to 'grow in grace'. And you must always be open and receptive to them. A grandmother celebrating her fiftieth wedding anniversary shared the secret of her long and happy relationship. 'On my wedding day I decided to make a list of ten of my husband's faults, which for the sake of my marriage I would overlook. I never did get around to listing any. Each time he did something I didn't like, I'd say to myself, "Lucky for him that's one of the ten!" Now there's a very wise lady.

Physical intimacy may bring us together, but growing in grace will keep us together. So when someone upsets you, instead of responding with angry words or angry silence, remind yourself that God is giving you another opportunity to 'grow in grace'. And if you don't do too well with some of the opportunities He sends, don't worry. He will keep sending more until you get it right! Resentment is one of the most expensive luxuries you can indulge in. A deep-seated grudge eats away at your peace of mind like a deadly cancer destroying a vital organ. In fact, there are few things as sad as a person who has harboured a grudge for years.

Without forgiveness, life becomes an endless cycle of resentment and retaliation. One of the secrets to a long and fruitful life is to forgive everybody, everything, every night before you go to bed. It's the key to having personal peace. So, start getting serious about the Bible admonition: 'Grow in grace.'

a message from Margaret O'Dell

I want to thank everyone for all the love and concern you have given and are giving me at this time. I've started getting out of bed on a hoist for a few steps.

I'm now in Barnwell C Ward at Kettering General Hospital. They are all very kind here, I can't tell you how I am being blessed sharing with the nurses and the little things they are saying – they keep coming back. I don't want any glory for anything, but to give it all to the Lord, praying that they will be blessed of Him.

Love and God bless you all, hope to see you soon.

Margaret

a special reading for a special day

– Acts 2:42-47
(The Message).

On the 20th of May we will be celebrating Pentecost. Here's the account of what the early church looked like on that day and just after...

That day about three thousand took him at his word, were baptized and were signed up. They committed themselves to the teaching of the apostles, the life together, the common meal, and the prayers.

Everyone around was in awe—all those wonders and signs done through the apostles! And all the believers lived in a wonderful harmony, holding everything in common. They sold whatever they owned and pooled their resources so that each person's need was met.

They followed a daily discipline of worship in the Temple followed by meals at home, every meal a celebration, exuberant and joyful, as they praised God. People in general liked what they saw. Every day their number grew as God added those who were saved.

no escape clauses

I've noticed a sudden increase in the number of banns of marriage being read in our church. I suspect that a few couples reckon it would be a nice idea to get married in the same month as Prince Harry and his bride Meghan – at least you'll be regularly reminded of the date!

But I hope, and believe, that some couples are not just looking for a bit of reflected glamour on the occasion, but instead are wanting to share in its solemnity. After all, they will make (if they marry in church) exactly the same awesome vows as the royal couple. 'I Harry take you, Meghan, to be my wife; to have and to hold from this day forward, for better for worse, for richer for poorer, in sickness and in health, to love and to cherish till parted by death.' Wow! I remember one young man at a wedding preparation saying, when I read out those words, 'No escape clauses, then?'

No, there aren't. On a wedding day we celebrate the joining together of two people for life. Their commitment is not based on rules, laws or tradition, but on love: 'to love and to cherish'. Sadly, on occasions that commitment may prove unattainable, in the complexity of human relationships. But the great majority of marriages which begin with those vows are indeed life-long and life-giving.

Harry and Meghan will be surrounded by a nationwide burst of goodwill as they set out on their journey together. It will be a good time to hold every married couple, young or old, in our prayers.
