Trip Highlights

1. The Ancient Kiln Folk Customs Park.

The best place to see the traditional ceramic making process. Artisans make demonstration to show the details of traditional techniques. You can also see all different types of kilns in different dynasties. This is a good place to know what is porcelain and how to make it.

2. The Big Tile Street.

Want beautiful porcelain paintings on the wall ? You can find perfect ones here. Artisans in Jingdezhen can make not only fine porcelain vessels but also beautiful porcelain paintings. Some of the tiles are in very big size, it is quite difficult to make the whole piece successfully fired.

3. Raonan Ancient Dragon Kiln.

In the beautiful mountains near Yaoli , there are three 1000 years dragon kilns still lay on the hill in the park.

An old water-power hammer is still working by the river.

The site of ancient porcelain workshop tells us how busy this place used to be. Walking into the history , touching the glory made by the ancestor , is a special experience.

4. Yaoli Village.

Yaoli Town, about 1 hour driving from Jingdezhen, located in deep mountain, surrounded by bamboo forest and clear water, is a very peaceful village. The buildings here are at least 100 years old, most are in good reservation. People are nice and friendly, homemade food are fresh and delicious.

The old buildings , the peaceful life and beautiful view will give you a wonderful experience.

5. The Taoxichuan Art Zone.

An old ceramic factory was redesigned as a modern art zone with studios , museums , shops , restaurants and cafes. Night Market is the highlight.

6. The Sculpture Factory.

It was famous for making figures of Chairman Mao and all kinds of Buddha, now is known for the Saturday Creative Market.

7. The Saturday Creative Market.

Founded by the Pottery Workshop , a good platform for young artists to display their creative works.

8. The Traders Hotel is in the Tao Xichuan Art Zone , with good condition and perfect location for shopping.

9. Food in Jingdezhen will give you an unforgettable experience. Local cuisine and western food are both delicious.
