A Heritage of Serving Youth and Their Families

PERFORMANCE & QUALITY IMPROVEMENT ANNUAL REPORT July 2018 - June 2019

A WORD FROM THE EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

Thank you for your interest in Davis Stuart! Whether you are a longtime friend, or someone who is newly interested in Davis Stuart, I hope this annual report will provide interesting and vital information for you. While this past year has held several challenges for Davis Stuart, as well as several changes, our mission to serve West Virginia children and their families has held steadfast through it all.

Davis Stuart began as a Presbyterian orphanage in October of 1919 and over our 100 year history we have evolved to provide residential treatment services to children ages 12-21. We are fully licensed by the West Virginia Department of Health and Human Resources and hold a national accreditation from the Council on Accreditation. We have our main campus located in Lewisburg and three additional group homes in Bluefield, Maxwelton and Princeton. We serve up to 68 children at a time, all in the custody of the West Virginia Department of Health and Human Resources, who come to us with various needs including behavioral, therapeutic and educational. We have a licensed Clinical Department including a psychologist, therapists and case managers, and an on-grounds school at our main campus, operated by the West Virginia Office of Diversion and Transition Programs.

During this past year, Davis Stuart experienced a series of unfortunate events which resulted in a temporary decrease in the number of residents served. After working with the West Virginia Department of Health and Human Resources and making some administrative changes, I am pleased to report that Davis Stuart is back on track to providing a multitude of needed services to West Virginia's most vulnerable population - our children.

Throughout our annual report you will see not only the impact of decreased census but also the positive changes including the opening of our new Dining Hall. I hope that the information within this report will inspire you to learn more about Davis Stuart, our mission, and those we serve. From our equine program to our Spiritual Life program to Culinary Arts, recreation and treatment services, a multitude of opportunities is always available to give a gift of your time, talent and financial support. Again, thank you for your interest in Davis Stuart.

Many blessings,

Stephanie H. Williams, MA, LSW, PHR
Executive Director

A WORD FROM THE BOARD PRESIDENT

Dear Friends & Colleagues,

This is an exciting year for Davis Stuart as we lead into our 100th anniversary. As with any anniversary, we use this time to reflect on our past and to look forward to great things ahead. In the past year we saw the completion of our dining hall, a decade long goal. We also welcomed Stephanie Williams, our first female Executive Director. Years like this remind me how important our work is and how vital our role is to West Virginia's vulnerable youth and their families.

Throughout the coming year, we have several Centennial Celebration events scheduled. We kick off the festivities on Friday, October 25, 2019, with our Cornerstone Celebration, where we will open a time capsule sealed approximately 91 years ago by former residents and staff.

While you browse our Annual Report, you will see how much there is worth celebrating.

To all of our community partners, donors, grantees and friends, thank you for your dedication and perseverance to our mission.

PROGRAM HIGHLIGHTS

Each of Davis Stuart's programs are designed to provide opportunities for personal growth and fulfillment. Davis Stuart's goal with these programs is to not only help our youth heal from past traumas, but to equip these residents with the life and coping skills necessary to be productive citizens. We believe these methods have a positive impact on each resident as well as the communities to which they return.

Spiritual Life

Fulfilling the resident's spiritual needs is an immeasurable gift; a gift that has the potential to impact every personal relationship and decision made throughout their lives.

The Spiritual Life program, led by Spiritual Life Director Darrin Cherry, offers many opportunities for a resident to receive spiritual guidance, as well as the feelings of hope and wholeness. The following voluntary activities have a tremendous impact and are listed as follows:

- Weekly chapel services, with an emphasis on resident participation
- Monthly family chapel services in conjunction with family visitation
- Powerful and relevant content for chapel services
- Quality Bible study resources, guest speakers and musicians for chapel services
- Availability for spiritual counseling
- Opportunities for community worship services
- Structured weekly Spiritual Life groups

Culinary Arts

Our culinary Arts program is facilitated through the West Virginia Department of Education (WVDE) and is offered at our main campus in Lewisburg. Our residents have the option of learning culinary techniques from one of the most talented professionals in the Greenbrier Valley.

Residents who choose to participate in this program are taught how to plan menus and prepare gourmet cuisine. Additionally, the youth participate in statewide cooking competitions and serve food to employees and guests at DS Cafe — our on-site dining area — through the WVDE

Equine

Our Equine Program is therapeutic and engaging! Many of the residents who come to Davis Stuart have not had exposure to a working farm or have been around horses. The Equine Program allows residents to access the beauty and tranquility these large animals can bring.

This optional program teaches our youth safe practices around horses, and how to ride and properly care for horses.

Participants in this program also have several opportunities to attend and participate in area horse shows, including the annual State Fair of West Virginia horse show.

Employment Preparation

Through the Employment Preparation Program (EPP), residents are taught responsibility and the importance of a good work ethic, maintaining honesty, following directives and money management. Residents are paid an hourly wage by Davis Stuart for work performed. Jobs include painting, cleaning, grounds maintenance, carpentry, oversight of the greenhouse project, distribution of goods from centralized purchasing to the cottage, etc.

In recent years, the Davis Stuart youth have been active in the local community by volunteering for events hosted by Carnegie Hall, Greenbrier River Rollers and the United Way of Greenbrier Valley. When feasible, Davis Stuart seeks out opportunities within the youth's area of interest to include specialized vocational training for trade certification.

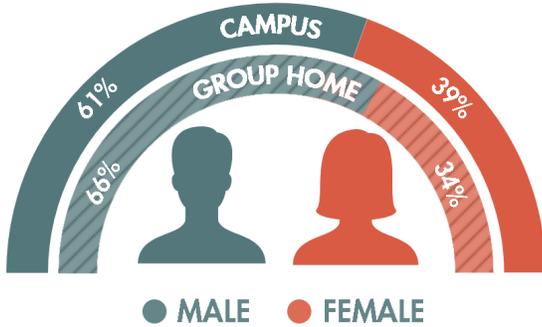

Upon receipt of their paycheck, a percentage is given to the resident for personal shopping. The remaining balance of their money is issued to the resident upon discharge via check. For many, this is the first time the resident has had an opportunity to develop vocational skills and to experience the pride of earning their own money.

DEMOGRAPHICS

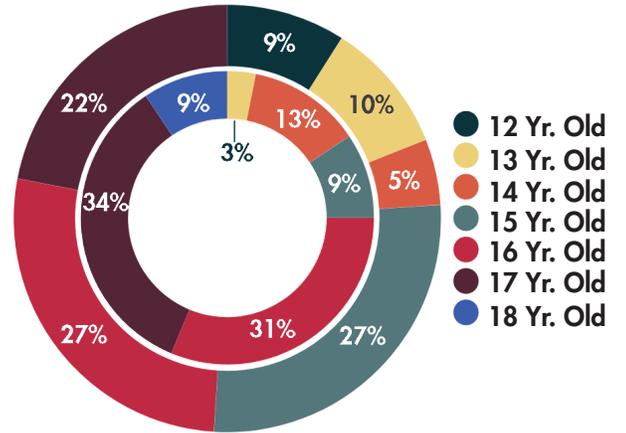

We currently accept youth ages 12-18 on campus, and can have residents up to the age of 21 in our group homes.

FY2019 FINANCIAL INFO

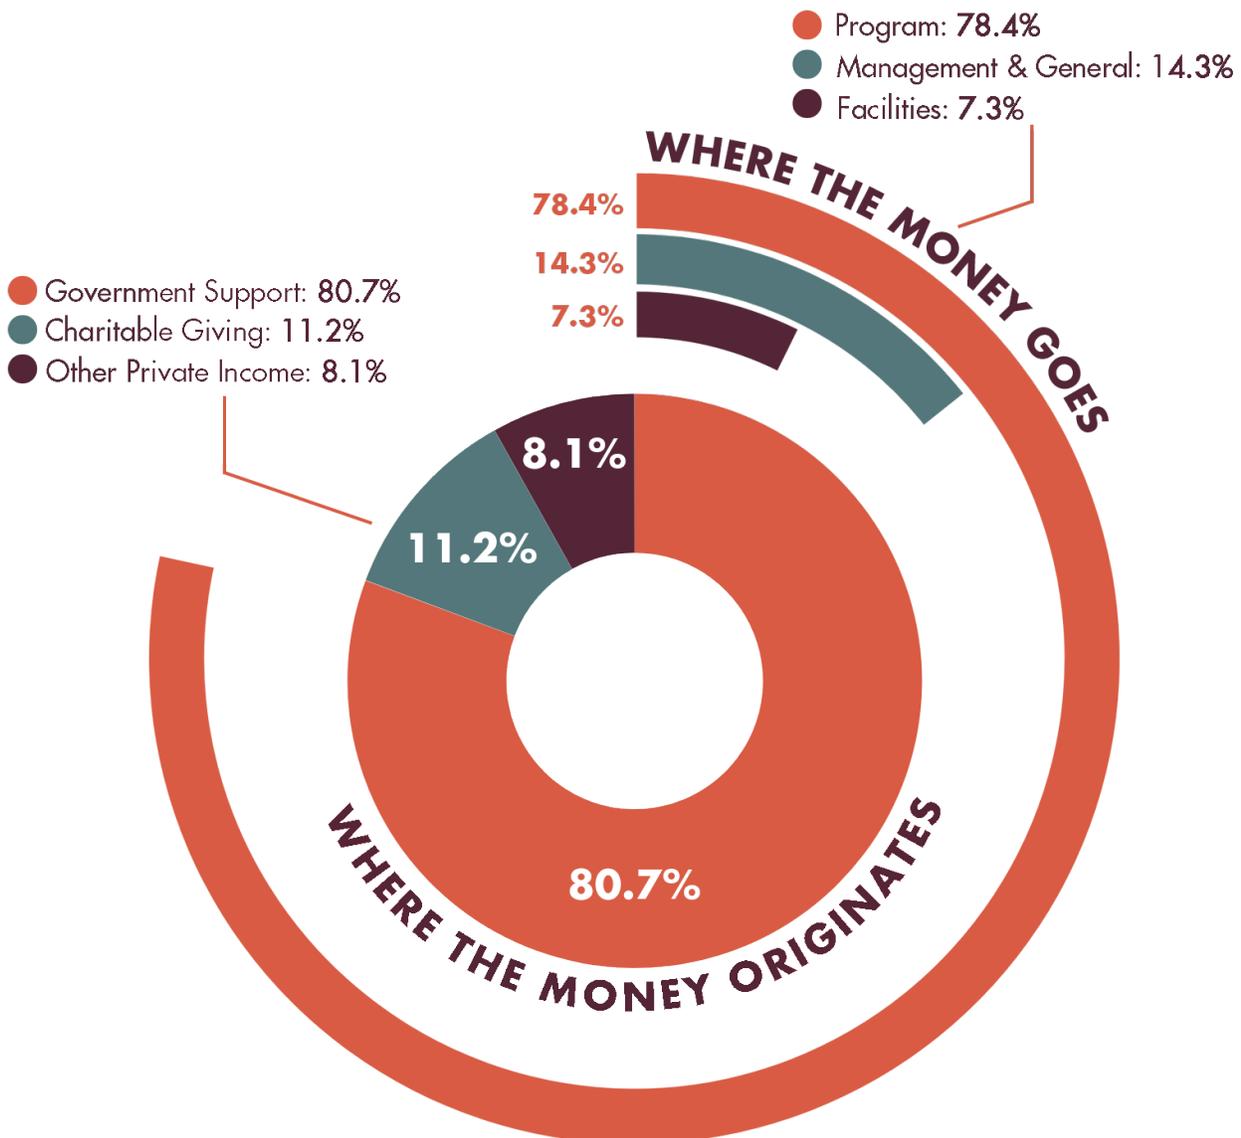

Throughout the last 100 years, Davis Stuart has evolved from an orphanage to a private nonprofit serving West Virginia's vulnerable youth through residential treatment. While the majority of our funding comes from reimbursements by government agencies, we could not fulfill our mission and provide quality care without the generosity of donors, foundations and granting organizations.

Unfortunately, certain vital aspects of our program, such as the Equine and Spiritual Life Programs, are ineligible for government funding. In other cases such as Employment Preparation, Recreation, Agriculture and Culinary Arts, the government dollars allotted are simply not enough to run high quality programs. Private support is vital to the continuation of our holistic treatment approach.

Additionally, the average age of Davis Stuart's buildings, with the exception of the new Dining Hall, is 74 years old. Given the ages of the buildings, maintenance and upkeep is a continual process. Throughout the last year, and in partnership with local foundations and grantors, we have been able to remodel the Lineweaver cottage bathrooms, reseal and repair the 65,000 gallon tank water tower, install a new heating system in the on-grounds school and remodel three offices into a resident fitness center, complete with a variety of equipment.

Davis Stuart's mission of serving youth and their families would not be possible without partners such as yourself. For this, we thank you and look forward to continuing this mission together.

Resident Critical Incidents

As you can see 1st quarter of 2019, we saw a sharp increase in the number of critical events. During this time, the youth — in groups of 3 or more — were leaving the cottages and running around the property at the Campus Program. This resulted in youth being considered Away From Supervision. They were not run away youth.

PBIS SNAPSHOT

PBIS stands for “Positive Behavioral Interventions and Supports.” It is a three tiered framework designed to meet the social, emotional, behavioral, and educational needs of youth. PBIS is a data-driven framework that is implemented across all waking hours and environments while collecting data across all tiers to both guide facility-wide decisions and to individually monitor the needs of each youth.

PBIS consists of four main components: defining appropriate behavior, teaching appropriate behavior, modeling positive behavior, and reinforcing those behaviors.

“Teaching behavioral expectations and rewarding residents for following them, is a much more positive approach than waiting for misbehavior to occur before responding.”

The purpose of PBIS is to establish a climate in which appropriate behavior is the norm.

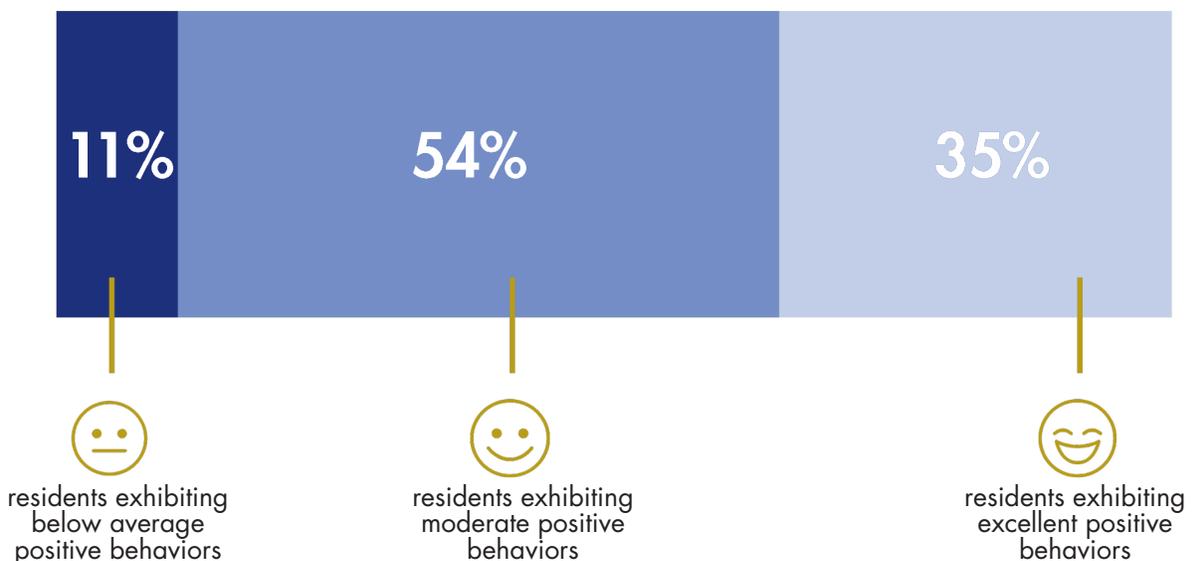

PBIS is an interactive approach that includes opportunities to correct and improve four key elements:

- Outcomes: academic and behavior targets that are endorsed and are emphasized by residents, families, and educators.
- Practices: interventions and strategies that are evidence based.
- Data: information that is used to identify status, need for change, and effects of interventions.
- Systems: Supports that are needed to enable the accurate and durable implementation of practices of PBIS.

Davis Stuart launched the development of a PBIS system on our Main Campus in the fall of 2018. Since then, we have met twice a month to move the implementation along. Davis Stuart decided on R.I.S.E. as our PBIS acronym to engage staff and residents in the values of positive behaviors. R.I.S.E. stands for “Respectful, Invested, Self-Disciplined, and Engaged.” There are behavioral guidelines posted around campus to support the meaning of R.I.S.E.

Resident Behavior Since Implementing PBIS

Davis Stuart's clinical department commits to providing a holistic model of treatment planning and services for children and adolescents whose emotional, behavioral and educational needs cannot be met in a less restrictive setting.

After being admitted to one of Davis Stuart's treatment programs, each resident receives an initial assessment provided by a licensed professional. This assessment provides the diagnosis for the individually designed plan of care for each resident based on needs and strengths.

An interdisciplinary team is specifically assigned to each resident to work with them and their family to address the unique needs of the resident throughout their stay at Davis Stuart. At minimum, the interdisciplinary treatment team consists of the following professionals:

- A licensed psychologist
- A master's level therapist with experience with at-risk youth
- A licensed social worker/permanency case manager

Other stakeholders which are invited, as appropriate, include the resident's WV DHHR social worker, attorney, probation officer, parent or family member, school representative, and other Davis Stuart personnel involved in the residents care and services.

Each resident's treatment plan is addressed through an array of services including individual and group therapy, family therapy (when appropriate), milieu therapy and targeted case management. Therapy modalities are trauma focused and evidenced based in order for the resident to achieve maximum benefit. Psychoeducational groups are offered at our residential campus location which include Substance Awareness and Healthy Relations Group, in order to educate and build resilience in at-risk youth.

Ongoing assessments and screeners are provided by qualified professionals including IQ, achievement, behavioral, personality, mood, and substance abuse to tailor the trajectory of treatment based on individual need. Symptom reduction is strategically monitored and recorded at each treatment juncture as an objective measure of each resident's progress in treatment.

In understanding the utmost importance of permanency planning, Davis Stuart emphasizes and works towards developing and achieving appropriate permanency goals for each resident as a priority of discharge planning, and center for successful completion of Davis Stuart's treatment program. After program completion, Davis Stuart's clinical department provides after care planning and follow up, as needed, in order to ensure appropriate and necessary community based services are secured for each resident discharged from our care.

WHAT OUR RESIDENTS SAY

"Davis Stuart provided me with the only happy childhood memories I have! The integrity of the staff — from the office workers to the house parents — taught me how to behave once I became an adult. I was 12 when I arrived, and 15 when I left. I thank God for my time there and will always be grateful for everyone who was a part of my life then."

- Bobbi, Former Resident

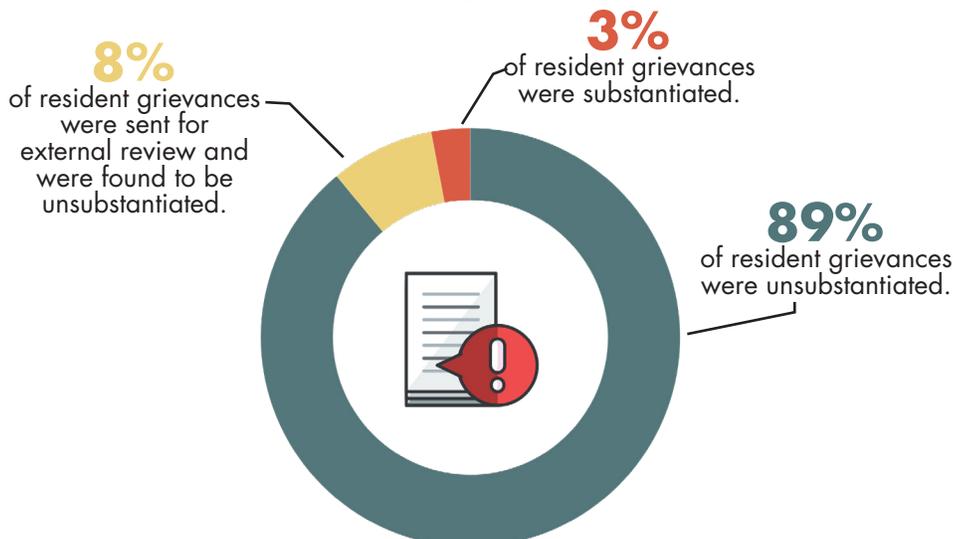

Anonymous Resident Satisfaction Survey FY2019

"At the age of 14, I found myself without a home or, at the time, any kind of future. I consistently missed school, often failing tests and even courses. After a short period of time in a local shelter, I was transferred to Davis Stuart's Princeton Group Home. With a great deal of support and stability provided by the individuals at Davis Stuart, I was able to achieve things I never thought possible. Raising my grades to a 4.0 GPA at graduation with perfect attendance and induction into the National Honor Society is just an example of some of these achievements. This support didn't end with high school. Davis Stuart staff helped me transition to Concord College and supported me in completing my B.S. in Computer Information Systems. Currently, I am the Associate Director of Administrative Computing at Bluefield State College. Without the support I received during what were truly the formative years of my life, I would never have accomplished so much."

- Delano, Former Resident

THE DAVIS STUART STANDARD

Our agency strives to provide the highest quality of care for the youth and families we serve. One method Davis Stuart uses to measure the level of care we provide is by maintaining an accreditation through the Council on Accreditation (COA).

The COA process involves an in-depth examination of the organization's fulfillment with best practice standards. During its Private Organization Accreditation process, COA reviews and accredits the entire organization, including administrative operations and service delivery like governance, financial management, human service practices, client rights, physical environment, clinical/treatment practices, daily programming structure, safety and risk management and ethical treatment. Davis Stuart has been accredited through COA since March 2007.

A specific standard to be met through accreditation is Performance and Quality Improvement (PQI). The PQI process is an agency-wide, comprehensive, self-evaluation of all its operations. This evaluation is done by collecting and using feedback and statistical data to measure the achievement toward goals and benchmarks.

COA is an international, independent, nonprofit accrediting body of social and behavioral healthcare services. COA's mission is to partner with human service organizations worldwide to improve service delivery outcomes by developing, applying, and promoting accreditation standards.

We pride ourselves in adaptability. As an agency embarking on our 100th year of service, we are continuously looking for ways to grow and better serve the ever-changing needs of West Virginia's youth. The data in this Annual Report is a reflection of our dedication and commitment toward ensuring we are doing all that we can to improve the quality of care we provide.
