WALK WITH US

This video will change your perception of those experiencing homelessness in Winnipeg.

It's a brutal experience – mentally and physically – and the treatment they receive in the community isn't always favourable. But homelessness isn't permanent. For many of our clients, there is life after the streets. In fact, some even work here.

CONVOCATION CHAPEL 2016

Convocation Chapel marks the beginning of our academic year. It provides an opportunity to reflect on who we are as a community and to welcome incoming students and faculty.

New students and professors were both welcomed with much cheering and clapping from the current student body, and this enthusiastic reception was followed by prayers, worship, and the annual convocation address.

Seeking the Peace of the City

In this year's convocation address, Seeking the Peace of City, President Gordon T. Smith used Jeremiah 29:7 to consider what it means to be a Christian university within a predominantly secular society: rather than either downplaying our Christian identity, or withdrawing from society, we are called to be present to our wider community, aware that we are God's people and that because of that, we are committed to bringing wellbeing to our city.

Dr. Smith challenged students to consider what it means to seek the peace of Calgary for the duration of their study here, and, when they graduate to carry this lesson – that at the core of Christian identity is a commitment to serve and bless a broader community – into their future careers, in Calgary and beyond.
