My Beloved,

It is my fervent prayer that this letter finds all of you spiritually uplifted, having recently celebrated the beginning of the New Ecclesiastical Year.

On Tuesday, November 13, 2018 the Greek Orthodox Metropolis of New Jersey will be honoring the Feastday of our Patron Saint, St. John Chrysostom, Archbishop of Constantinople. It is therefore with much joy and enthusiasm that I announce the celebration festivities for this important Feastday in the life of our Holy Metropolis. The Divine Services, which will take place in the St. John Chrysostom Chapel in our Metropolis Headquarters (215 E. Grove Street, Westfield, NJ 07090) are as follows:

Monday, November 12, 2018

7:00 p.m. Hierarchical Great Vespers

Tuesday, November 13, 2018

9:00 a. m. Orthros and Divine Liturgy

All of you are wholeheartedly invited and encouraged to attend these Divine Services so that we may worship together as one spiritual family in honor our Patron Saint, St. John Chrysostom. Both the Great Vespers and the Divine Liturgy will be followed by a reception at our Metropolis Headquarters.

Wishing upon all of you the blessings of the Lord through the intercessions of St. John Chrysostom, I remain

With Paternal Love and Blessings,

† E V A N G E L O S

Metropolitan of New Jersey
