Deranged Dichotomies Derail America's Divine Destiny

The November mid-term elections are a watershed crossroad that may arouse scholars of world history and theology for millennia. For many Americans, their choice at this ballot box is a single-issue statement about how they want to live domestically and within our global civilization-at-large.

A critical mass of people has finally woken who can decipher the covert, totalitarian agenda of corporate mainstream media. This collective is growing exponentially as evident from plunging network news ratings and the sustained expansion of the viewership of independent news platforms. Mainstream media is recognizable as the propaganda arm of treacherous, treasonous deep state globalists.

The Trump Administration is redefining the externally imposed serf-like conditions from its inherited membership of corrupt multinational bodies. These include the United Nations, NATO, NAFTA and the toxic Trans-Pacific Partnership. America is reasserting herself as a free state. Once again, she is a beacon of light who may embolden her slave sisters to claw back their sovereignty, dignity and economic liberty.

Binaries

Political debates in the Land of the Free frequently descend into farce merely because a speaker dared to utter a taboo buzzword in any context.

These include nouns such as socialism, feminism, racism, Roe versus Wade, Trump and undocumented migrants. The politically correct movement has partially succeeded in annulling the first and most famous amendment of America's Constitution.

The stubborn inability to abandon the paralyzing 'left versus right' phony polemic is the major political hurdle that impinges America's ability to realize its stellar human potential. This binary persists in public discourses in various guises. Prime examples are Republicans versus Democrats and the conservative-liberal divide. Communists against capitalists and patriots opposing globalists are popular antitheses.

No known social formation throughout history has been organized on such simplistic, dualistic terms. For example, green- and libertarian-oriented citizens who vote for major party candidates exist in large numbers. Moreover, progressive conservatism is not automatically an oxymoronic ideology or practice.

Our history books shall be rewritten in coming decades.

This overdue revision shall inform the masses of the truths of the political-economic organization of our nation. Major political parties have contrived virtually identical globalist foreign policies during the post Reagan era. The present administration is boldly reversing this subversive course. Its electoral mandate aims to promote the prosperity of America's citizens above the selfish vested interests of multinational corporations.

Advancing

As a nation, we need to identify essential elements that bond We the People. This is the foundation for healing, unification and growth.

America’s Constitution and territories define her values and sovereignty respectively. The Star Spangled Banner anthem and colors are patriotic symbols on the world stage.

We must forever respect veterans who bravely defend our homeland and allies in just wars.

It is questionable whether Judeo-Christian doctrines are essential elements, notwithstanding the pervasive, net positive cultural influence that these faiths exert throughout our social fabric. America is a secular polity as enshrined by its constitution. Freedom of thought and choice are hallmarks of this unique republic.

The Jewish State of Israel, the Islamic Republic of Iran and the Holy See are contemporary constitutional examples of non-secular monotheistic nation-states. Is this the model that Americans desire to replicate – a ‘Christian States of America’? I do not. Empirical data shows that religious states fail on all levels: politically, economically and culturally. I am merely one person. May you willingly decide for yourself.

The promotion of critical thinking skills and non-partisan civic education courses in America’s junior scholastic institutes may enhance civil harmony, economic growth and equitable distribution. It is healthy for a nation’s citizens to ponder and challenge the size, policies and efficacy of the state.

In recent decades, America’s public education curriculum has been ‘dumbed down’. This policy, driven by federal funding models, is the brainchild of faceless so-called super-elites who slither in the shadows. Their unholy goal aims to technologically puppeteer the eternal suppression of this planet’s populace.

Innovation and enterprise are glorious byproducts of free-thinking communities. The Executive and her people must respect the rights of patent registrants. We must remain vigilant and resist the theft of intellectual property by enemy agents within and red flag foes from afar.

No learned soul would claim to possess the solutions to the numerous, multi-layered wicked problems that torment our society. And no wise man, woman or child would fear to open Pandora’s Star Spangled booty. It is inevitable that some monstrosities will spew from her luscious treasure trove. The resplendent returns will outweigh the inevitable short-term pain. Many, many times over.
