ABOUT

The Association of British Botanical Artists (ABBA) was officially formed in March 2019.

ABBA's aim is to encourage people, regardless of their ability or location to learn, develop and share their enjoyment of botanical art at every level.

We promote native flora and provide online resources to help people find, and appreciate, some of the UK's best botanical art and artists.

Our online exhibitions will also help members showcase their own art by exhibiting in ABBA's unique virtual gallery.

We are passionate about supporting artists at a local level.
