

WITCHCRAFT TABU

WITCHCRAFT TABU. The word witchcraft comes from the "Bruxa" that means female demon, this word began in the modern age approximately in 1396. For centuries, world shamans have used rituals as a window for the soul. The sacrament, they claim, can cure any illness. The wizards are people who can cast spells over other people, they take a figure that represents one human being and they do bad things to it, also they usually invoke spirits to talk with them, in some cases the wizards can kill or make other people feel sick with magic.

Witchcraft is practiced in some places of the world, as South Africa, New Zealand, United States, Spain and also, Colombia, Lower case the most popular places that practice witchcraft are Leticia, Meta, and, La Guajira. Some cases are maybe true, others are false and, others are maybe a fraud. I was in Leticia last year and I saw wizards and, witchcraft shops, besides I've listened to stories about haunted people. My uncles were in a ritual where supposedly they went to see their Lower case, but they never got to see her.

My uncle's father told to me a real story about witchcraft. Once he was sick and he took a lot of pills without any effect due to this he went to visit a doctor, but the doctor didn't say anything special, Then he visited a wizard, and he prepared some medicine and he said a prayer for him, my uncle's father felt better. In these cases some wizards are useful, because they don't do damage anyone.

My friend's mother told me other story, she is a nurse and she treated a lot of people with some diseases, she saw a man that died slowly, he had a wound in his stomach and each day, the wound was bigger, but he didn't die fast, the comment of people was that he was bewitched and his ex wife had paid a wizard to give him a slow death, he suffered for five years until his death. In this case people can use wizards to do damage other people.

Wizards are TABU, in some cases they are honest men but in other cases they are bad men, in places where people don't have hospitals, the wizards are doctors, if you listen to stories and you try to find logic, you won't understand the why. In real life you will find true stories and false stories, Hence witchcraft is an option to solve issues, when a person doesn't believe in GOD and when people try to find a solution desperately.
