Thank You from Daybreak

by Robert Dekker, President of the Board of Directors

One of the first, important phrases parents teach their children is "thank you". It's simple to say, but its meaning has much depth. "Thank you" means that there is an appreciation of an action, something said or something done.

So I say "thank you" to our staff, volunteers, Board of Directors and supporters of Daybreak for the time, energy, and financial contributions that each has given to Daybreak in 2011. Every contribution, big or small, makes a difference, improving the quality of life for our residents. This newsletter highlights some of the support we have received in 2011.

As Daybreak heads into its 30th anniversary year, "thank you" will be a recurring theme as we acknowledge all that each of you does, and has done, since 1982.

This issue of DAYBREAKing News is for you. Thank you!
