

Communicating Empathy

- a pivotal part of giving patient care

How do we show understanding to our patients in pain, distress or anxiety? Many caregivers offer sympathy, yet sympathy blurs the lines and can impair clinical judgment. So how do we show patients we care? Learn how empathy effectively communicates concern, reduces burnout and preserve your clinical judgment.

Please join us with Dr. Tiffany McKee-Garrett of Texas Children's Hospital Pavilion for Women. She will discuss the importance of empathy and how it impacts the quality of patient care.
