Restorative Justice Unleashed

Foundations for Healing Justice using Active Peace Circles

Five Wednesdays / May 6 - June 3 from 6:00 - 7:15 pm (Mountain time)

Empower yourself with core principles and practices that support personal, interpersonal, and collective healing, community justice, and societal transformation.

Active Peace Circles take the best of restorative justice and go deeper, to address root causes and systems change. Active Peace Circles:

- Are rooted in deep nonviolence—in love and collective action.
- Are community-initiated and community-led.
- Can be applied to the full range of challenging issues we face.
- Change hearts and minds and help transform society.

Active Peace Circles can address harm and accountability related to:

- Any type of violence or abuse of power (racism, sexism, discrimination, economic and social injustice).
- Climate destabilization and environmentally damaging projects.
- Unhealthy group dynamics.
- The Coronavirus pandemic.

Session One: The Restorative Justice Worldview

Root yourself in the rich soil of a healing, holistic, paradigm-busting worldview. Learn the 5 Rs and other principles and practices of restorative justice and Active Peace Circles. Feel the truth and beauty beyond the illusion of separation and get inspired to be a stronger force than ever for transformation.

Session Two: Essential Skills for Personal Responsibility

Leaders and participants in Active Peace Circles need high levels of openness and connectedness. Learn the High Ground Roadmap and other essentials for showing up fully grounded and resourced.

Session Three: Relationship and Conflict Transformation Skills

Active Peace Circles and healing justice revolve around interpersonal relationships and we all know this is where our best intentions are most seriously challenged. Receive and practice using cutting-edge tools for transforming conflict into deeper relationships.

Session Four: Deep Nonviolence and the Beloved Community

Integrate the skills and practices from the previous sessions and open to deep nonviolence as a way of life. Learn the two core values of nonviolence and four capacities for holding the High Ground. You and your group can model and bring into being the Beloved Community.

Session Five: Bring it Home to Your Heart and Community

Put it all together in the context of a simulated Active Peace Circle. Get a reality check on your own level of preparedness to be a force for transformational love. Explore needed resources and next steps in bringing Active Peace Circles to your community.

Facilitated by G. Scott Brown, MA, author of ACTIVE PEACE: A Mindful Path to a Nonviolent World. Endorsed by the Boulder branch of the NAACP, Boulder Shambhala Center, Inner Resilience Network of Transition US, and the Rocky Mountain Peace and Justice Center.

Comments from previous attendees:

Scott Brown's Active Peace workshops were filled with enlightening, interactive activities. In the final hours, the ramifications of this approach to conflict transformation rendered us awe-struck. We were awed by the magnitude of the paradigm shift, by the humanity of it, and by the almost unfathomable potential. —Deborah Fink, Boulder, CO

To fully benefit from an Active Peace workshop with Scott Brown one does well to bring a willingness to engage in an immersive experience and in one's own transformation. This is far better than coming with expectations. —Ken Poehner, Boulder, CO
