

Workforce Training/ Finding Tomorrow's Workers

October 25, 2017

Bloomberg

OPINION | U.S. ECONOMY

America Has to Close the Workforce Skills Gap

Local public-private training programs look like the answer.

By Rob Kaplan

86 April 12, 2017 8:59 AM

Inc. com

Younger Employees Lack Basic Skills

A new survey of employers finds that recent high school and college graduates fall short in a number of areas.

By Angus Loten

IFMA

Report: Facility Management Facing Critical Talent Shortfall

The average age of the facility-management (FM) workforce is 50.9 years.

Apr 04, 2017

U.S. News

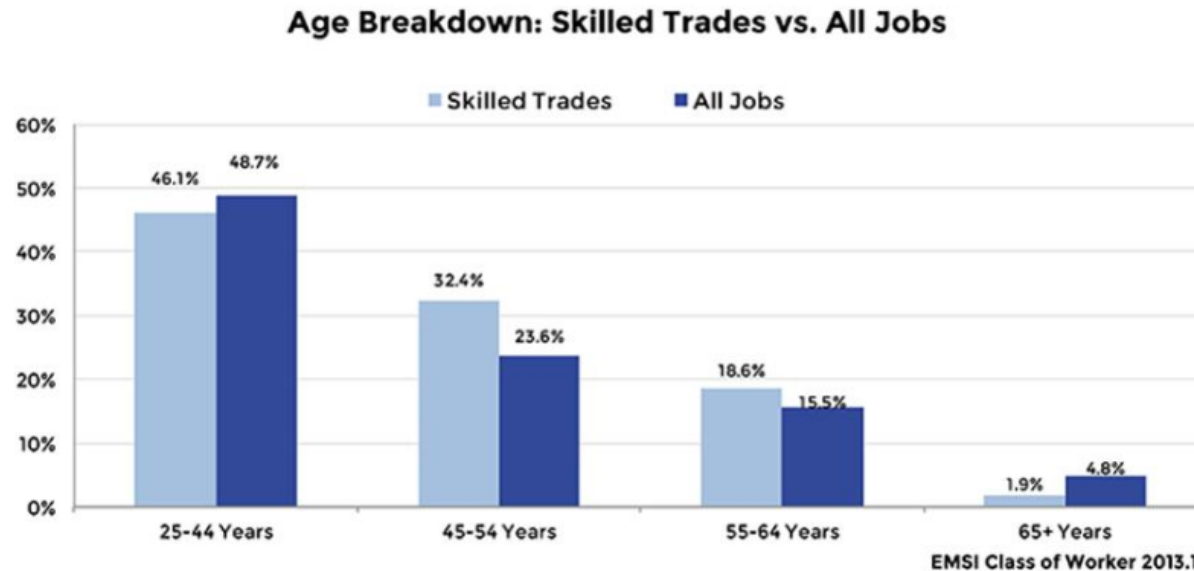

Lack of Skilled Workers Threatens Economic Growth

Employers are looking to hire people with more advanced skills, especially in STEM fields, but job seekers are often struggling to figure out which skills they need and where they can learn them.

By Chauncy Lennon, Contributor | Oct. 30, 2014, at 9:01 a.m.

America's Skilled Trades Dilemma: Shortages Loom As Most-In-Demand Group Of Workers Ages

America, we have a problem!

What is the problem?

How do we solve the problem?

Who will help?

Joe Auricchio (VSHE)

Anthony Williams (DOE)

Ed Bowman (AGC)

Trey Davis (SkillsUSA)

Paul Millefolie (Tradecrews.com)

Workforce Discussion

Contact Information

Joe Auricchio - joseph.auricchio@vcuhealth.org

Ed Bowman - EdBowman@webowman.com

Trey Davis - bdavis@northernnecktech.org

Anthony Williams - Anthony.Williams@doe.virginia.gov

Paul Millefolie - paul@redbarnsoftware.com