CHETWYND COUNCIL MEETING

The monthly meeting of the District of Chetwynd took place at 4:30 p.m. on the 14th of August, 2017 at the District of Chetwynd Municipal Office Council Chambers with all Councillors and the Mayor present.

Niki Hedges of the United Way of Northern British Columbia invited Council to participate and attract new corporations to contribute to United Way. She said that the United Way in Chetwynd supported child learning activities at Tansi Friendship Centre and the Chetwynd Public Library. Carmen Westgate of the Chainsaw Carving Society reported a very successful chainsaw competition this year. Councillor Weisgerber congratulated the committee on a well done job. The Mayor congratulated Westgate and her committee for having a surplus. A complete accounting is in the agenda of the District of Chetwynd.

Correspondence include a thank you from the Ministry of Community, Sport and Cultural Development for the donation of a chainsaw caring to the Ministry.

A funding request of $1200 for Executive Director Naomi Larsen to attend the Business to Business (B2B Expo) in Dawson Creek and the BC Chamber Executives 2017 Conference in Invermere BC was passed with at a total cost of $1200 allocated. Council said that the business community would benefit.

A Temporary Use Permit Application from Dave Milner was received for the purpose of temporarily locating a 300-person work camp at 4414-44th Avenue in the Industrial Grounds. It was passed but a discussion ensued about the three year tenure.

Approval to place chainsaw carvings in Mackenzie, at the Dawson Creek Airport and at the Sauteau First Nations, Peace Christian School and the West Moberly First Nations was passed, along with approval to repair and rebuild the tennis courts with a cost of $ 40,000 by Councillor Pfanner.

A Temporary Use Permit Application from the Black Diamond Group to allow a 266-person work camp at 4300 – 46th Drive Northeast was passed. Discussion of kitchen facilities was brought up in this matter.

A request to Council for consideration of a Development Permit from Carmen Westgate dba Brookwood Properties to permit recreational vehicles and campers to locate temporarily at 4800 53rd Street was passed. Westgate said that about 15 recreational spaces will be available.

The meeting ended with Naomi Larsen thanking council for permitting her to go to the upcoming conferences and she said that the business committee will benefit.

I am so grateful that words alone can't begin to express the feelings I have for the generosity of this wonderful gift Crazy Beanz Bistro received August 11. I don't think you realize how much this donation will help our Wheels to Meals program. All I can say is thank you, thank you, thank you and that isn't enough! I'm so very lucky to live in a community that has such a loving and giving family in it, so please, next time you see a member of this amazing family give them a hug or a thank you as I'm sure I'm not the only member of our community that has benefited from the generous Roller family. Once again thank you from the bottom of my heart.

MEET THE MAYOR

August 18, 2017

Last time I wrote I had just returned from a drive about town having been duly impressed with the town we have made and are making. Once again on my first day back I am impressed with our home town but this time after a drive about central North America – Kentucky, Ohio, Indiana, and Michigan. For some reason, probably known only to geographers, one can hit all four states and still have some daylight left. But only if one does not get too hopelessly lost in the maze of interconnecting, intersecting, and parallel means of getting somewhere.

So it's good to be home in my comfort zone where I feel safe and where I know the ways and means of getting where I want to go.

It's also good to come home to solid evidence that the business of the community goes forward just as well in my absence as in my presence. It provides a certain sense of humility, that robust assurance that when I am gone I won't be missed for very long. Pity the elected official whose conceit trends the mind to other conclusions – not that you elected any of those in the last round.

A couple of weeks ago Councillor Bassendowski brought you up to date on the various projects currently under way in Chetwynd. Those are the major projects but more are in the offing. Administration and Staff are regularly seeking out funding sources for changes that will make Chetwynd even more liveable. That is what keeps us going, and coming also. So far we haven't reached the point at which we are no longer sure if we are coming or going.

Several events are scheduled for this fall and into the winter. On September 6 a Regional Community Liaison Committee (RCLC for those who thrive on acronyms) will meet in Fort St. John to inform us on happenings at the Site C project. Perhaps there will be some real information. That same afternoon I will participate in the unveiling of a chainsaw Sculpture in Pouce Coupe followed by a run to Tumbler Ridge to engage in the Coal Forum jointly hosted by Chetwynd and Tumbler Ridge. This event will occupy two days and is supposed to provide us with at least two days' worth of coal-mining data.

On September 20 the Business 2 Business (B2B) forum will meet in Dawson Creek. I have had to excuse myself from this one but Chetwynd will be well represented by Counsellor Galbraith. So fear not, the business knowledge will be coming back to shape our thinking.

The big event for this fall is the 2017 version of the big event that has happened every fall for the last 100+ years. The Union of British Columbia Municipalities (UBCM) convention meets this year in Vancouver from September 25 through 29. Not all of Council is attending this year but there is enough work for all of us. We're expecting to be exhausted when we return but this is how we get to meet our counterparts from around the province and share experiences and knowledge of municipal government.

I guess I didn't get very far into the winter with this notice of events. There's time for that later. By the way, according to Oliver Wendell Holmes if "man's mind [is] once stretched by a new idea [it will] never again [regain] its original dimensions." Do be careful.

Merlin Nichols, Mayor

KELSEY'S CHRONICLE

GETTING BACK INTO ROUTINE

With school just around the corner, many kids are feeling the last few summer days dwindling away, the late nights ending and the cool brisk feel of fall on the horizon. Now's the time to re-adjust the sleep schedules and ease back into the demanding schedules of fall and back to school.

Adjusting sleep schedules is easier said than done for those who have been able to stay up as late as they want and sleep until 1 in the afternoon each day. Parents are feeling the pressure now of trying to completely flip flop their kids' sleep patterns.

To ease the transition, consider setting alarms for a few hours earlier each day leading up to the beginning of school. Be ready to fight every step of the way! Although threats of dumping a cup of cold water on them may seem appealing, the mess is not!

Laziness seems to accumulate over the 2 months of summer, and trying to get kids out of their "summer lazies" can be hard. Try setting up a task each day that they have to complete, whether it's packing all of their new school stuff in their back pack, cleaning and re organizing their bedrooms, or even setting up a homework area. Setting tasks like these help with organization, a sense of responsibility and preparedness for the changes to come.

When you're heading out for back to school shopping, bring the kids and let them help pick all their school supplies; it's another good way to help them slowly recognize what is soon approaching. Although duotangs and dividers aren't exactly exciting to some kids, other kids love helping find all the items on their list, even as tweens and teens.

Try to unplug and set aside electronics in the evenings. Get outside and enjoy the last few nice nights before dark begins arriving at 4:30pm. Taking in the last bit of summer is a good way to wind down in the evening, helps create a new routine, and can help when setting an earlier bedtime.

Talk to your kids about their thoughts on the new school year, excitement and concerns. Anxiety is something many kids feel in the weeks leading up to the new school year. It's our job as parents to address their concerns and help them overcome their nerves in a healthy way.

Back to healthy eating - Many parents have resorted to easy, processed food for their all-day eaters. If this sounds like you, it's time to adjust their eating. In many classrooms, it's suggested that students don't even bring sugary treats with them, as it prevents focus and concentration in their learning. Save the treats for after school or on the weekend and pack healthy snacks for your kids' lunches.

Many parents are feeling torn between how great it is to hangout with their kids all day and the excitement of waving goodbye as they drive off on the bus on their first day back. Helping them get prepared is a good way to curb your own anxiety, and you shouldn't feel bad about being excited for that first day back. If your household is anything like mine, I was ready to just set up the octagon and let them battle it out weeks ago (no, it wasn't actually that bad LOL) but back to school will be a nice change up for everyone!

Patrick James McEvoy

September 1, 1960 - August 13, 2017

Patrick James McEvoy born September 1st 1960 in Kenora Ontario and left us for the mountains August 13th 2017.

He leaves to mourn Daughter Patricia McEvoy, grandchildren Kwiadda, Tallasks, and Lootska.

Sisters: Sandra Walker, Sylvia Heibert, Kelly Pederson (Chicky), and adopted sister Bea Gauthier and step mothers: Margaret Campbell and Marvelene Watson.

Brothers-in-law: Al Walker, Ernie Hiebert, Brian Pederson and numerous nieces, nephews and cousins.

Predeceased: Father Jim McEvoy, and Mother Wanda McEvoy.

Due to his illness, Pat slipped away Sunday morning. Patrick James McEvoy was raised in Hudson's hope, enjoying the wilderness, trapping, hunting and fishing. Pat was the type of man who would give the shirt of his back and sit and freeze to make sure you were warm. He loved and cared for people. A hard working man with many lifelong friends who knew him as having a heart of gold.

He took many trips to Nass Valley picking mushrooms and enjoying nature. He was famous for his bannock and loved his music and dancing.

A Celebration of Patrick's life will be held at the Saulteau First Nation Band Hall in Moberly Lake August 19th 2017 from 1 pm – 6 pm. The family invites you to a memorial and a potluck following the service. Pat was a good friend and will be dearly missed.
