DAWSON CREEK, FORT ST. JOHN, B.C. HOSTING 2015 WORLD UNDER-17 HOCKEY CHALLENGE

Tournament headed to Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., in 2016

The world's best young hockey talents will gather in northeastern British Columbia this fall. Hockey Canada, in partnership with the Canadian Hockey League and BC Hockey announced Wednesday that Dawson Creek and Fort St. John will co-host the 2015 World Under-17 Hockey Challenge from October 30 to November 7, 2015.

This marks just the second time the province has hosted the prestigious tournament; Port Alberni hosted the event in 2009. Dawson Creek and Fort St. John both have previous experience in hosting Hockey Canada events. Fort St. John hosted the 2010 Allan Cup, and Dawson Creek welcomed the National Under-18 Women's Championship in 2012.

"This opportunity that has been presented to our two great communities is world-class. The significance and magnitude of this event is unparalleled to anything we have seen or hosted in our collective histories," said Dale Bumstead, Mayor of Dawson Creek. "We are known as hockey cities and our hockey history is rich. As partners, we are proud to showcase our communities, our region and our northern hospitality to the future hockey stars of tomorrow."

The sentiments are echoed in Fort St. John. "Fort St. John is pleased to be a co-host for this world-class event. This is an excellent opportunity for us to showcase our communities, provide economic benefits to our local businesses and hockey entertainment to our residents," added Fort St. John Mayor Lori Ackerman.

With spots on three Canadian squads up for grabs, the World Under-17 Hockey Challenge represents one of the first opportunities for the nation's top

MEET THE MAYOR

July 3, 2015

I occasionally write a column when I am away from home. This is one of those occasions. This week, because of Canada Day, I have to submit on Friday and my work schedule at the 2015 Chief Elected Official Forum won't permit for writing later today or tomorrow.

So? You say.

"So" can be a good question deserving of a rational answer. Here's my answer: I just have to get up before breakfast and do it. Nothin' to it; just do it. OK. Give me a moment and I'll have it done.

The most difficult part of any column is finding the idea. Once the idea is in mind, I can usually work it into a column. Occasionally it comes together. Frequently it's a struggle. The idea came to me at 5 something this morning so I got up to put the marks on the screen before they faded irretrievably in my mind. I had intended to take two days to drive to the forum but Sunday afternoon I decided I shouldn't leave the chairing of the Monday Public Hearing on rezoning the former hotel property to the Deputy Mayor. That left only one day for the drive. That's OK. With two drivers to spell each other off it's doable. Of course I brought Mirja. This is the weekend of our 52nd wedding anniversary. Would I leave her home alone? Not for very long. My commitment to public service is not that great – or blind. District policy allows spouses to travel with elected officials provided the cost of travel is no greater than the cost for single travel by air. As it happens, with the present cost of air fare, it takes money out of my pocket to travel by car. But it's worth it to travel with a great companion.

But why am I here? You're so full of thoughtful questions.

It's to learn how to be a better Mayor in the remaining 42 months of this term.

One of the major benefits of attending this forum is hearing of the problems faced by Mayors in other communities. I am reminded once again that life and work in Chetwynd, though challenging at times, carries with it enormous rewards.

And the challenges and problems I hear of at the forum tell me that in too many home towns around our fair province and indeed, across our great country, Mayors, Councillors, and communities have problems I wouldn't exchange for our home-grown challenges in Chetwynd. We can be truly thankful for the blessings we have been given.

I believe that Chetwynd's Council, with its understanding and application of roles and boundaries in governance, allows Administration and Council to work together in mutual respect to accomplish community goals with minimal disruption.

I'll leave you with a bit of wisdom from the ancient wisdom literature that I just read again: "He who answers a matter before he hears it, it is folly and shame to him" (Proverbs 18:13).

Merlin Nichols, Mayor

DAWSON CREEK, FSJ, B.C. HOSTING WORLD UNDER-17 HOCKEY CHALLENGE

young players to wear the Maple Leaf in international competition.

"The development of our players begins with this under-17 tournament and we're excited for fans to see the best young players in the world showcase their talents this November" said Tom Renney, president and chief executive officer of Hockey Canada. "It's been a few years since we've held the event in B.C. and we know both communities are excited to support the players and experience some of the best hockey put on by these 16-year olds."

The three Canadian teams – Black, Red and White – will be joined by the Czech Republic, Finland, Russia, Sweden and the United States, forming two groups of four teams. All eight teams will qualify for the quarter-finals, with the winners advancing to the semifinals, and losers facing off in placement games.

The 2015 World Under-17 Hockey Challenge brings together the top players in the world born in 1999 or later. The regional under-17 program is the first step in Hockey Canada's Program of Excellence. Many players who compete at the World Under-17 Hockey Challenge go on to represent Canada with the National Men's Under-18 Team, National Junior Team, and National Men's Team.

The 22-game tournament will be centered out of the Encana Events Centre (Dawson Creek) and the North Peace Arena (Fort St. John). A complete schedule and details on ticket sales and availability for the 2015 World Under-17 Hockey Challenge will be announced at a later date.

Sault Ste. Marie chosen to host in 2016

In partnership with the CHL and Ontario Hockey Federation, Hockey Canada also announced Sault Ste. Marie as the host of the 2016 World Under-17 Hockey Challenge. The city previously partnered with Hockey Canada to host the 2013 TELUS Cup National Midget Championship, a profit of $87,500 that was reinvested into supporting community hockey programs in Sault Ste. Marie.

"Our organization has partnered with Hockey Canada to host widely successful events in the past, and I have no doubt, given our city's top-notch sports and accommodation facilities, along with our solid volunteer core, the 2016 tournament will continue this positive tradition," said Ian McMillan, Executive Director of Tourism Sault Ste. Marie, a division of the Sault Ste. Marie Economic Development Corporation.

"After a successful event in Sarnia-Lambton in 2014, we're thrilled to return to Ontario in 2016, and we know Sault Ste. Marie will put on a first-class event," said Renney.

Since the first World Under-17 Hockey Challenge (then known as the Quebec Esso Cup) in 1986, more than 1,400 NHL draft picks have played in the tournament, including 11 of the last 14 first-overall selections (Ilya Kovalchuk, 2001; Rick Nash, 2002; Marc-André Fleury, 2003; Alexander Ovechkin, 2004; Erik Johnson, 2006; Patrick Kane, 2007; John Tavares, 2009; Taylor Hall, 2010; Ryan Nugent-Hopkins, 2011; Nathan MacKinnon, 2013; Aaron Ekblad, 2014).
