$3.50

ONLY

Price plus tax.
For a LIMITED Time

This is not a drill. The Teen Burger is really just $3.50. What's changed? Nothing except the price. It's still made with the best ingredients—100% pure beef raised without the use of hormones or antibiotics, bacon that's naturally smoked with pecan wood, melted processed cheese, crisp lettuce and vine-ripened tomatoes. It's just really good food at a really good price, for a limited time.

WINTER TIRE REQUIREMENTS NOW IN EFFECT

The BC provincial government would like to remind motorists that winter tire regulations went into effect on Sunday, October 1st.

Anyone who is driving on designated highways in the province will be required to have winter tires that are labelled with either the Mountain Snowflake symbol or the Mud and Snow (M+S) symbol.

The law requires that all winter tires have a tread depth of 3.5 millimeters, and must be used on designated routes until March 31st. Drivers who fail to follow this rule can face a fine of $121.00.

NEW POLL SHOWS SUPPORT FOR SITE C

A new Angus Reid survey suggests support for continuing construction on the Site C Dam.

The survey was released just a few days before the BCUC community input session in Prince George.

According to the survey, 45% of British Columbians support moving forward with construction of Site C, with 27% favouring cancellation of the project. 28% are undecided. So far, the Site C Dam project has cost 1.8 billion dollars, and requires another 7 billion dollars to complete construction. A recent report suggesting cancelling the project and remediation of the site would cost 1.1 billion dollars, with unknown additional penalties for cancelling the contract. The BCUC community input session was Friday September 29 at the Ramada Hotel in Prince George. BCUC will release their final report on November 1st with estimates of costs for completion, suspension, or cancellation of the project.

HOW TO GET WHAT YOU WANT OUT OF LIFE!

Many of us are continually looking for ways to improve our situation, whether its emotionally, physically, financially, or otherwise. Even just finding tricks to help cope with hurdles tossed in your way can do wonders in your day to day interactions. If you're at a point where you need a change or direction, set up a plan! Include future goals, aspirations and time lines, but be realistic and focus on what's important. Here are some things that may work for you to help you get what it is you really want out of this crazy thing we call life!

Use your intuition and your heart to guide you - Yes, this sounds like a cliché quote but honestly, working towards something that will fill your heart with joy everyday, how could it be wrong? This doesn't mean to quit your career and become a travelling clown who specializes in balloon animals because it's a passion! Well educated and researched decisions usually work out better for those looking specifically at a career change.

Look at the big picture - Brush off the small failures or mistakes and don't let it ruffle your feathers. Challenges will always arise, you must adapt and find a way to learn from the past and take it with you in your future endeavours. Some things can be controlled, but because so many things are out of our control, we need to learn to reevaluate our plan and work around those hurdles.

Harness your emotions - This has always been a challenge for me personally! Emotions are the most powerful energy you have. Many successful people have the ability to harness their emotions and not be guided by anger or love but by passion. Knowing when to say something and when to bite your tongue is a very important trait to learn. Not everything has to warrant a reaction. Take your emotions and sit on them, evaluate them under a different light and see how you feel about it then. Words are hard to take back and bridges are very rarely rebuilt after they are burnt.

Keep a clear head and leave the past in the past - Many of us dwell on things throughout our day that need to just be left behind. Not only is it not worth the time it's taken from us thinking about it, its bruising your inner worth, confidence, and sanity and affecting you both mentally and physically. If you were the one who made a mistake, own it, fix it! If something made you mad, get over it! If something isn't going your way, stop, re-evaluate and see if there's another way. These are all things that go back to looking at the bigger picture. Will it matter at the end of the day?

Celebrate little wins - This is so important when you're trying to make a change for the better. Pat yourself on the back, even for little wins.

Reflect on your experiences, without judgement - There are things that maybe could have gone a different way or things that went really well. Reflect on those things throughout your process without dwelling on them. Figure out what it was that made things go well or otherwise and then file it in your mental folder for next time.

Be true to yourself - Many of us who live in this fast-paced world are maybe still searching for what is it that makes us unique. While searching for yourself, many go through fads of being vegan or vegetarian, having brightly coloured hair, using drastic diet pills, among many other "lifestyle changes." Staying true to yourself and knowing what you do and do not like is so important. Don't become vegan if your favourite food is steak! Find an even medium and don't sacrifice your joy to meet a goal that was unrealistically set to begin with.

Things don't change overnight - It takes several months to change your pattern or create a different lifestyle and some things like working towards a career take even longer. Don't give up on yourself or sell yourself short! Life is about changing and adapting, growing, learning and loving!

ICBC WARNS CLIENTS ABOUT TEXTING SCAM

The Insurance Corporation of British Columbia is cautioning its customers of a texting scam after multiple clients reported receiving texts from the company.

The messages claim that the receiver has been sent a refund for a ticket or traffic fine, and provides a link to claim the money.

The link that users are sent to asks clients to enter their personal banking information. The scam is designed to trick people into unknowingly sending personal information or downloading malware onto their cell phone.

The ICBC would like to inform people that they do not issue refunds via text message or interac e-transfers, and sensitive information is never delivered to customers via social media or texting.

Anyone who receives this text is advised to delete the text and not open any links, and instead call the local police and the Canadian Anti-Fraud Center.

I discussed peer pressure and cigarettes with my 12-year-old daughter. Having struggled for years to quit, I described how I had started smoking to "be cool."

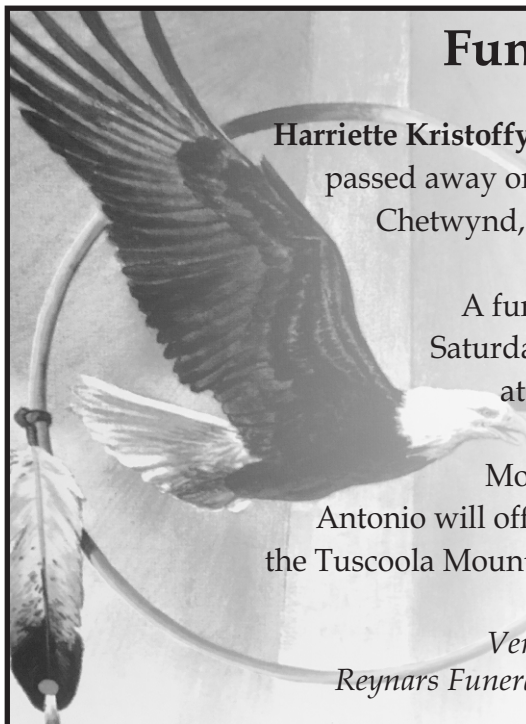

As I outlined the arguments kids might make to tempt her to try it, she stopped me mid-lecture, saying, "Hey, I'll just tell them my mom smokes. How cool can it be?"

My wife, a real estate agent, wrote an ad for a house she was listing. The house had a second-floor suite that could be accessed using a lift chair that slid along the staircase. Quickly describing this feature, she inadvertently made it sound even more attractive: "Mother-in-law suite comes with an electric chair."

While driving on the highway, my daughter noticed a child in the window of a car in the next lane, holding up a handwritten sign that read "Help."

A few minutes later, the car passed her and she again glanced at it.

The little boy held up the same sign and this time followed it with another, which read "My mother is singing!"

Gladys Adeline Alfred

March 11, 1928 - September 27, 2017

Gladys Adeline Alfred, a longtime resident of Chetwynd, BC was born March 11, 1928 in Vilna, Alta.

At 89 years, Gladys peacefully passed away September 27, 2017 in the Prince George Hospital after a short battle with cancer. Gladys is predeceased by her husband Johann Stephen Alfred (Steve).

Gladys was a very active and independent woman who could always be seen working in her yard, either mowing the lawn or shovelling her driveway, and was always so thankful for all the help she received from her neighbours. Gladys had many treasured friends and was appreciative of all of them. She could be seen out with them running errands and later sharing a relaxing lunch and conversation. Her dogs gave her much comfort and companionship. She loved them very much and spoiled them rotten.

Gladys will be greatly missed by all those who knew her.

At Gladys's request, no service will be held in her memory.
