Chetwynd's Christmas Parade

Chetwynd held its annual Parade of Lights last Friday night with much of the community out for the festivities. The parade made its rounds through downtown Chetwynd and then everyone met up at Spirit park for more fun.

There were floats and vehicles decked out in true holiday fashion, covered in lights, blaring Christmas songs and giving out treats to the kids as they passed by.

Santa joined the parade by hitching a ride on the horse drawn carriage, not his usual means of transport but he seemed overjoyed to meet and greet Chetwynd's kids.

After the parade in Spirit Park, there was a community fire, Christmas carols, skating, sleigh rides, hot-dogs, popcorn and more.

MLA Mike Bernier was even there handing out coffee, hot chocolate, and donuts to everyone.

Brain Eating Amoeba from Neti- Pot Nasal Decongestant

A warning to those who use nasal decongestants such as the neti pot which requires you to use your own water. If used improperly, or with unfiltered, clean water can cause infection.

The Physician dealing with the case believes it was the patient's use of a neti pot, a tea-pot shaped product used to relieve sinuses by shooting water up the nasal cavity, that put the amoeba into her brain. He says she used tap water, as opposed to the suggested boiled water or saline.

This rare infection the patient suffered from is called Balamuthia mandrillaris. It's a free-living amoeba found in soil and fresh water but generally causes no harm to humans. The first report of the rare amoeba was discovered in 1986 in an autopsy from the brain of a mandrill monkey at San Diego Zoo and was declared a new species in 1993. since 1993, only 200 cases of human infection have been recorded globally. The fatality rate for Balamuthia infection is near 100 per cent.

Because of the rarity of the infection, it was difficult to quickly diagnose. This particular case displayed symptoms of a brain tumour. It wasn't until she underwent surgery that the full spectrum of the issue was discovered and by that point, too late to treat efficiently.

Nasal rinse warning:

Those who use a nasal rinse- remember to wash containers properly. the physician suspects it was probably a container that had been sitting around ... and an amoeba set up shop, and then the tap water helped the rapid growth.

Neti pots ARE a good way for those with sinus issues or the flu to get relief, IF used properly.

Gifts For A New Mom

If you have a new mom to shop for, you may want to buy her something for the little one. Don't do it! She probably already has everything she needs, and she'll likely be opening lots of baby-related gifts from other people. Instead, opt to get something just for her.

- Restaurant gift card: moms can become so busy tending to the needs of their kids, they neglect to put together healthy meals for themselves. This Christmas, help the new mom in your life get a good meal or two from a restaurant she enjoys. Bonus points if the restaurant delivers!
- Spa day: new moms don't get much time to themselves, so encourage her to carve out a moment for herself with a gift certi-ificate to a local spa for a massage, facial or manicure and pedicure.

- E-reader: if she's a bookworm, she probably misses the days of curling up with a good book. This type of device is light enough that she can read through marathon feeding sessions with baby and has enough storage to hold a whole library of books.
- Babysitting: you don't need to spend a lot of money to treat the new mom in your life. Offer to babysit the baby for a few hours so she can go on a date with her partner or even just take a nap.

While gifts for baby are great, gifts for mom are even better. She'll appreciate it more than you know.

This Christmas,
make it a point to bring a mile to every face you see.
Wishing you and your family a
Merry Christmas!
Make it a special one!

Year-Round Joy

Christmas is full of shiny things
That sparkle, gleam and glow;
These holiday pleasures dazzle us,
And yet, deep down, we know...

That Christmas has its special gifts,
But our year-round joy depends
On the cherished people in our lives,
Our family and our friends.
