What's Climate Got to Do With It?

"Preparing for climate change is necessary and possible" says climate scientist Trevor Murdoch from the Pacific Climate Impacts Consortium.

This past Monday, June 10th, Mr. Murdoch presented his thoughts on climate change to a room of Chetwynd residents at the Chetwynd and District Rec Centre. He was introduced by Cait Murphy, Program Coordinator from the Fraser Basin Council.

Trevor Murdoch went through weather statistics and trends spanning over the past 50 years and projected what the mid 21st century could potentially look like. The graph to the right shows rising temperatures in different situations.

- The yellow line of weather trends would be if the world abided by the recommendations made at the Paris Summit in 2015.
  - The red line, which indicates drastically rising temperature would be the norm, if the world continues at the rate it's going, producing the current amount of greenhouse gasses.
  - And the blue line, Trevor says is very unlikely, but would be if the world made significant enough changes to reverse the effects of climate change.
- We can basically expect to follow more so on the 'red' line, but hopefully more along the 'Yellow' path.

Mr. Murdock says our region, in the Northeast of the province, can expect more precipitation, longer hotter summers, shorter winters with less days below freezing and longer growing seasons. Although these all don't sound like awful things, and they aren't particularly bad for our region, change is imminent and preparing for it is important. There will be more frequent and severe heat waves, as well as growing wildfire risks, and an increase in extreme weather events.

By the year 2050, this region will have a very different climate, promoting different plant growth and different animals to inhabit the area. Don't expect to grow the same plants in your garden in 2050, or even see the same trees in the parks- Change will be gradual, but profound.

Regardless of whether the world is doing their part to help with climate change, there are always ways to personally help slow the effects of climate change, or at least prepare for different times ahead.

Mr. Murdock mentioned that his expertise is not "what you can do to prepare!" but more just "This is what to expect", but I personally have compiled a list of a few things you can do to help do your part: reduce water and energy consumption, recycle as much as possible to help cut down on garbage sitting in landfills, cut down on vehicle use and idling vehicles, and grow lots of fresh food at home.

Are The Legion's Days Done?

Chetwynd's Royal Canadian Legion Branch 258 - received its Charter in 1958- has been part of the Chetwynd community for 61 years. Honouring Veterans, supporting numerous teams, people, clubs, events etc... Members putting in thousands of volunteer hours in all those years.

Look ahead to today, we are short on active members, just a hand full of volunteers still trying to carry that torch for our veterans and our community. Overworked volunteers trying to keep the last service club going, we have lost the Lions, Elks, Royal Purple etc....

Should we carry on? Is the interest out there in this community for us to do so? Have you ben thinking of volunteering but don't know where to start? Or maybe you've been thinking of supporting something? Here is your chance to get involved! If you're interested in keeping the Legion open in the community, PLEASE come to a special meeting at the Legion on June 25th at 7:00pm.

Don't wait until you hear that we've closed, it will be TOO LATE!

We need members, ACTIVE members, or will 2019 be the demise of the Royal Canadian Legion 258?

The Amazing Book Challenge- Final Tally

The grand total of books read- 1058!!

Michael Weeks 1950-2019

Michael Edward Weeks (Mike), age 68, unexpectedly passed away June 4th 2019. He was born on October 12th, 1950 in Summerland British Columbia to Edward "Ted" and Betty Weeks. He graduated from Summerland Secondary school in 1968 and went on to attend the University of British Columbia where he graduated with a Bachelor of Commerce. Michael moved to Prince George British Columbia to work for Winspear Higgins Stevenson and Co. which later merged with Deloitte Haskens and Sells.

He met his wife Monica Wilson while working in the same office complex in Prince George. Mike and Monica were married July 27th 1985. Mike and Monica moved to Moberly Lake British Columbia in 1991, to raise their two kids, Derek and Pasley and start a private accounting practice in Chetwynd British Columbia. Mike successfully ran the business for 25+ years and became an integral part of the Chetwynd community.

Mike absolutely loved golfing and could often be found at the Moberly Lake golf course doing a round of 18 with Monica and his beloved golf cart. Mike became a member of the Moberly Lake golf course in 1991 and maintained his membership through out his life. Mike was an active contributor to the golf club and served as Treasurer for many years. Mike also loved watching and betting on all types of sports, and thoroughly enjoyed the act of betting in general. He had a love-hate relationship with Google and often stated how incredible it was to have the ability to prove/disprove a bet through a short internet search, but equally missed the opportunity to have a heated debate on the facts of the bet.

He is survived by his wife Monica, his children Derek and Pasley and his sisters Shirley Goddard and Beverly Mandeville as well as many nieces and nephews.

The family will be holding a Celebration of Life ceremony, details on the timing and location will be provided at a later date.

Expressions of sympathy may be made by donation to the British Columbia Children's Hospital Foundation, 938 W28 Avenue, Vancouver, British Columbia, V5Z 4H4.

For more information or to leave condolences for the family, please go to www.bergeronfunerals.com. Arrangements entrusted to Bergeron Funeral Services & Crematorium Ltd.

OXEYE DAISY
(Leucanthemum vulgare)

DESCRIPTION:

This perennial grows up to 1m tall with one single 2–5cm diameter flower with white petals and a yellow centre; lower leaves are spoon shaped and stalked; upper leaves are stalkless and narrower.

PREVENTION:

- Manage pastures to maintain healthy plant communities.
- Clean footwear, clothing, equipment, and tires after recreating or working in infested areas.
- MOW before the plant goes to flower.
- PURCHASE weed free hay, soil, seed mixes, and gravel.

Daisies such as Oxeye Daisy and Scentsless Chamomile are plagues to the Peace River Regional District.

These daisies are not native wildflowers in BC, they are invasive plants.

SCENTLESS CHAMOMILE
(Matricaria perforata)

DESCRIPTION:

This annual or short-lived perennial grows up to 1m tall with multiple flowers, branched, glossy, fern-like leaves that alternate along the branched stem; seeds are viable once the flower is visible and are carried by wind, water, and animals.

PREVENTION:

- Clean equipment when working in infestations.
- MOW before plant goes to flower
- PURCHASE weed free hay, soil, seed mixes, and gravel.

4 ways to use leftover wine

Are you wondering what to do with that bottle of wine you didn't finish? Here are a few ideas.

- 1. Sauce. Add a splash of red wine to spaghetti sauce or try your hand at making coq au vin. Use leftover white wine to steam mussels or as an addition to alfredo sauce.
- 2. Soups and stews. White wine packs flavour into creamy soups like clam chowder or cream of mushroom. Red wine adds a nice touch to minestrone and other tomato-based stews.
- 3. Poached fruit. Cook peaches or pears with your choice of spices in either red or white wine. Simmer for about ten minutes, let cool and serve with a scoop of vanilla ice cream.
- 4. Wine cocktails. Use red or white wine to make sangria or another wine-based cocktail. You'll find countless recipes online.

If you won't use your leftover wine within a few days, freeze it in an ice cube tray and then transfer the cubes to a plastic bag. This way you'll always have some on hand to throw into a recipe when you need it.
