Increases British Columbians Can Expect To See

Increases across several sectors were already prepared to take place on April 1st. But as British Columbians saw the morning headlines on Sunday, everyone initially thought the government was playing their own April Fools prank. That was unfortunately not the case, and the truth is we will begin seeing increases in quite a few areas.

Many motorists are dreading the increase expected at the pumps as the carbon tax went from $30 to $35 per tonne of carbon dioxide emissions. This equals to a 1.2 cent per litre increase on gasoline. With prices already nearing $1.57 in some Greater Vancouver areas before this increase, we can feel a little more at ease with the increases when our pumps are around $1.20 per litre here in the Peace Region.

BC Hydro customers can expect a larger than usual bill moving forward as they have just introduced a 3% increase. The BC Utilities Commission denied the NDP provincial government's attempt to freeze BC Hydro's rates resulting in the scheduled increase to move forward.

Home inspectors will face a 36 per cent increase on their licensing fees, which is expected to trickle down and make for higher than usual home inspection fees.

BC's high end car market will definitely feel the pressure after the province increased taxes to %20 for vehicles worth over $150,000. This is expected to generate up to $10 million.

Beer, wine and spirit consumers are hit with a 1.5-per-cent increase beginning on April 1st. This is part of the federal government's 2017 budget plan to introduce a new escalator tax on alcoholic beverages, which already raised taxes up 2% last year. "Beer Canada" is saying enough is enough, hoping to put an end to yearly tax inflations and threw some shade at the government by sharing on their Twitter the staggering number- claiming that 47% of the cost of beer is government tax.

For those tobacco users, you can expect to pay even more due to an increase on the tobacco tax and an inflation increase. This is the second provincial increase this year already, the first being on January 1st when the tax increased by 16 cents per pack. This new increase, that took place on April 1st, will see an additional 56 cents tax per pack of 20 cigarettes.

Two friends are walking their dogs — a Dalmatian and a Chihuahua — when they smell something delicious coming from a nearby restaurant. The guy with the Dalmatian says, "Let's get something to eat."

But the guy with the Chihuahua says, "We can't go in there, we have dogs with us."

So the first guy says, "Just follow my lead."

He puts on a pair of sunglasses and walks into the restaurant.

"Sorry," says the owner, "no pets allowed."

"But this is my seeing-eye dog," the guy with the Dalmatian says.

"A Dalmatian?"

"Yes, they're using them now."

The owner says, "Very well, then, come on in."

The guy with the Chihuahua repeats the process and gets the same response from the owner:

"Sorry, pal, no pets allowed."

"But this is my seeing-eye dog," says the second guy.

"A Chihuahua?" asks the incredulous owner.

"A Chihuahua?!", says the man in the dark glasses.

"They gave me a Chihuahua?!"
